BUSINESS BAROMETER.

(By Savoyard.)

Articles fashioned from iron and steel are of universal consumption. They enter into the economy of every household and of every individual citizen, even the babe in arms. Hence, it is no fiction that the iron and steel industry is the infallible barometer of trade. When dearth is in the field, when the mart is empty, when the bay is shipless, when retrenchment is imperative, the fires in the steel mill are not lighted and the sound of the trip-hammer is not heard. The wage of labor is reduced and the ranks of the unemployed are swelled. Indeed ours is the iron age.

The American people are the most enormous producers and the most prodigal consumers of iron and its re- sultants in the world. For fifty years we have been told that the iron industry of the United States cannot possibly exist without a protective tariff levied to secure it in the home market against the predatory paupers of foreign parts.

But for more than half a century our congress invited our iron and steel manufacturers to come forward and write in our tariff laws the degree of protection the wished. Long ago the Republican party set the fashion that congress should shirk its constitutional duty and abdicate its legislative privilege to write our tariff laws. The wool manufacturers wrote Schedule "K," the cotton spinners wrote the cotton schedule, the drug men wrote the chemical schedule, the sugar men the sugar schedule and son on and so forth to the end of the chapter. Neither Nelson W. Aldrich nor Seno E. Payne knew what was in that monstrosity that is called the Payne-Aldrich tariff.

The people tired of that and determined to force their government to divorce itself from "Big Business." To that end Woodrow Wilson was elected president and a congress Democratic in both houses was chosen in 1912. They immediately set to work and fashioned a tariff bill not for the few of our people who eat taxes, but for the many who pay taxes. The manufacturer was given free raw materials and told to compete with paupers from all quarters.

And then the cry was calamity! The poor, undone iron industry was to shut up shop. We were to spin no more wool or cotton; we were to cease tanning hides into leather or fashioning anything from leather. Sheep and cattle were to starve in rich pastures, coal mines were to close, railroads were to haul nothing as there was to be nothing to haul, banks and trust companies were to go into liquidation. These were only a few of the disasters and afflictions that were to overtake our country because of a wicked Democratic tariff.

Beware of false prophets. How about iron and steel? In the month of February our production of pig iron was at the rate of 39,200,000 tons a year and that is the highest ever known in any country in the world. Nor is that all. At the end of February the United States Steel corporation had unfilled orders reaching to the stupendous totals of 8,568,000 tons, a figure heretofore unequalled, in its history. Mark you, the price of steel was steadily advancing because of the fact that our mills were physically inadequate to the demands and during the month of February the increase in orders amounted to 646,199 tons.

March beat February with orders for 9,331,001 tons, and April beat March with orders for 9,829,551 tons and the tide is still rising, the flood of which seemingly is far in the future. During the month of April the United States Steel Corporation delivered from its mills finished products amounting to $1,000 tons daily, and the orders exceeded the shipment by about 20,000 tons.

Now these are not war orders, and all the war orders placed in our country do not amount to 5 per cent of the total of industrial business.

MISFITS

Please, Mr. Weather, be good during Chautauqua.

Carranza evidently did not celebrate the Fourth of July. We were in hopes he would touch off bomb at close quarters.

A popular resort—the border.

At least a good many have gone there to spend the summer.

Young men who make a practice of spending all they make should read the following: Of persons more than 65 years old 97 per cent are dependent on relatives, friends or charity.

Only 25 per cent of the 23,000,000 families in the United States own their own homes. The others are renters.

The country needs a school of thrift.

Many declare that they are going to have a good time while they can; but the good time is generally full of holes and the end is disappointment and poverty.

The good time is all right, but the method is often all wrong.

It look as if after a while round-ups will be as common as Chautauquas, with one in every place of concern.

Carranza was a pretty prompt correspondent.

Much quicker than Emperor Franz Joseph, who forgot to write.

Looking into the back office of the Corvallis Gazette-Times while in that city the Fourth, Misfits discovered why the editor soars so high occasionally. He has a gallery half way around the room for spectators to his fights.

The president is commander and chief of the U. S. army and navy and should be backed by every loyal American citizen in his work as such.

Some Sale.

A package from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, together with her autograph, direct from the White House, Washington, D. C., will be sold along with others at a "Parcels Post Sale" in the basement of the Baptist church, Friday evening, July 7, at 8 p. m.—Roseburg Sentinel.

The Pendleton Style.

One of the Pendleton boys says, "from the way people treat us they must think that we dress and act like this at home." As a matter of fact many of the Pendleton boys are business men, just like you and I, but happen to be proficient at some wild west line and are down here principally to have a good time. From the way they spend money the economical calamity howlers can rest assured that they won't take anything out of the town. —Ashland Tidings.
