SWELL AUTOMOBILE AND A CHEAP BABY BUGGY

Second Hand Man Tells About
An Experience With Baby
Buggy Buyer.

They floated up in front of a second hand furniture store, in this town, in a two-thousand-dollar car, dressed to kill, with all the indications of wealth and prosperity. The proprietor met them at the door with his pleasant smile and smoothest "Good-evening ladies, what is it today?"

"We would like to see some baby carriages," answered the most prosperous looking lady of the party.

Expecting them to be interested in something in keeping with their prosperous appearance, he led them back and called their attention to his best new sleeping coach. After enumerating the good points and giving the price, the lady said, "That is certainly a nice article, but we were not thinking of putting that much into a baby carriage."

Cheaper new articles were shown until they had come down to a $5.50 cart which was still too good for the offspring of the owners of the stately equipage outside. The dealer was non-plussed. He had only one more thing to offer in the shape of a shabby affair which he had picked up and renovated to some extent, but without successfully concealing its appearance of having done service for two or more generations. He hesitated to mention the antiquated buggy for fear of insulting his prospective customer, yet it seemed his only show for a sale.

As trade that day had not been very rushing, he was in just the right mood to make the attempt; so he said: "Here is a cart in fairly good shape that we are offering for $1.50. It is the cheapest we have." "That is good enough, but I was expecting to get a cart that would do for our son for less money. I will look elsewhere," answered the loving mother as she turned to join the doting father in their luxurious conveyance.

The dealer remarked as he watched them noiselessly said away, "Where the h— is business going to, anyhow?"

Fine Buick Pictures—
At the Globe last night two fine films were shown, displaying the work of the Buick in hill-climbing and mud-wading through Bear Valley, Calif., some of the prettiest scenery on the coast being shown with the very interesting Buick demonstration of travel capacity.

Soldiers' Equipment—
Last night the equipment of the soldiers who went to San Diego awhile ago, passed through the city, following the soldiers, all manner of stuff for the border campaign.

Postoffice Rule—
A new rule of the postoffice department is that fruit must be shipped in water-tight boxes. Others are unsatisfactory.

At the Philomath Round-Up—
The Democrat estimated the number of automobiles at Philomath the middle day of the round-up at 2500. As a matter of fact, it is said there was an actual count made of them, and the number was 1710. That means that about 7000 were there that day in autos.

Many Fishing Licenses—
County Clerk R. M. Russell has completed his report on game licenses for June as follows: Seven hunters' licenses, 218 anglers' licenses and eight combination licenses. A total of $241 was collected, of which $228.95 was turned over to the game commis-

FUNDS BEING COLLECTED FOR FAMILIES OF SOLDIERS

All Organizations and Individuals Are Asked to Help Out Families Left Behind.

The Albany Commercial Club is in receipt of a letter from Portland asking help for the families of soldiers who are at the front on the Mexican border. When the call came many married men were taken from their homes and their families were left destitute in some cases. These people need help, and an organization has been formed to assist in the relief of these people. But the job is too big for them there and the rest of the state is being appealed to.

Many people have expressed a desire to contribute stated amounts weekly, monthly or otherwise. This can be done and it is urged that all who can, do this. Secretary W. A. Eastburn, of the commercial club, will be glad to explain the system. Lodges secret and patriotic societies are also urged to take up the work of collecting funds for poor families of soldiers, for some are said to be in dire need.
