A GOOD SELECTION.

Baltimore American: In the selection of United States district judge at Cleveland, John H. Clarke, as successor to late Justice Charles E. Hughes, now the republican candidate for the presidency of the United States, President Wilson has displayed a faculty of discrimination and selection that is worthy of commendation. No question of the political character of the nominee need be considered, as the supreme bench is above politics, and it may be assumed that the man who has been designated has been carefully selected upon the ground of eminent fitness. A lawyer of prominence and success and the possessor of a mind of superior quality, he will come to the bench with the endowments that are needed for the determination of the class of questions that pass under the view of the supreme judiciary.

If political honors are to be considered, the nomination of Judge Clarke may possibly be credited to the influence of the secretary of war, who is sponsor for him.

GOOD SOLDIERS.

The Democrat recently gave what a writer considered a good soldier. Here is something entirely different from the pen of W. J. Bryan:

The good soldier is the soldier who is ready to perform any duty assigned to him. To be a good soldier one need not be bloodthirsty, he need not be anxious to kill someone or be killed. It is no more necessary that the soldier should be anxious to fight than that the fireman should be eager for a fire. It is sufficient that soldier and fireman be ready to make any sacrifice required.

It is no reflection on the courage and loyalty of the fireman that the people who employ him try to prevent fires by encouraging the erection of fireproof buildings—no fireman feels offended if people prefer a hotel of steel and concrete to a firetrap structure. Neither is it a reflection on the patriotism of the soldier to try to avoid war. Peace treaties are intended to prevent war as fireproof buildings are intended to prevent fire. One cannot appreciate the service rendered by both fireman and soldier without desiring either a fire or a fight.

PEACE PROSPECTS SLIM.

Recent statements made by Dr. Aked, of San Francisco, who has returned from Europe, leaves little doubt that the war will last a long time. He says that from full opportunity to study conditions in Germany and to have the views of German officials, there are no peace signs in the realm of the kaiser. He says that the North Sea fight stiffened at once the sentiment in Germany for the prosecution of the war until such time as the allies are ready to make peace upon the basis of the war map and without regard for questions bearing upon responsibility for the outbreak of the war. He did not see any signs of paucity of funds or of men for the carrying on of the warfare.

SOME DON'TS

A Baltimore doctor gives the following summer advice: "Don't expose yourself to the hot rays of the sun. "Don't take ice cold drinks. "Don't take stimulants during the extremely warm weather. "Don't overtax yourself, either mentally or physically. "Don't overload the stomach. Eat sparingly and eat slowly, and be sure that you thoroughly masticate your food. "Don't bathe on a full stomach. "Don't sleep in a draft. "Don't look at thermometers. "Don't worry. "Don't remain up late at night. Get plenty of sleep and rest, for these things are essential. The body needs both to help in the work of recuperation from the wear and tear of the business day.

MISFITS

If any one could see the truck loads of O. A. C. mail passing thru Albany, the distributing center of the valley, they would not wonder at the big postal receipts of the Corvallis p. o.

Great is the chicken as a food, for it can be eaten both before birth and after death.

Too much noise in the house, perhaps, for Tillie Drum of Eugene has sued Paul Drum for divorce.

The J. Pierpont Morgans are all for Hughes for president, the Wall street candidate.

A rich woman's club was recently organized in N. Y. to promote Hughes' election.

But the common every day people are for Wilson, a man of the people.

They're so honest in old Benton folks come from far and near. With us to dwell, and the riches tell Of Benton County dear. And healthy! it's so healthy That scarcely any die. They'd rather live in Benton, Than the home beyond the sky. I could talk on, yes, for hours, About our county blue, But I want to hear you fellows tell Why you live down where you do. —Courier.

Well, we live down where we do because it just suits us. Here we have the good and the bad, sunshine and clouds, in fact are very human; but we are the Hub, and that is good; we fly on our own wings, not the state's, and our people are just about the best in the world; but we have sense enough to know that there's no heaven this side of death, as good as things are in Linn.

The Kaiser sends a message to his men to trust in God. Well, if the people of Europe had really trusted in God there wouldn't be any war. The devil and his human emissaries have been at the bottom of the whole cussedness.

A camel asked the Arab in the tent for the privilege of sticking his head into the tent out of the cold. The next morning the camel occupied the whole tent and the man was out in the cold. An Albany man tells this in the Telegram, with the remark that this is the way it will be in Oregon if the new brewers' bill should pass.

A woman has discovered a process for transforming silver into gold. Don't believe it, just another modern fake. When fully analyzed it will go a glimmering.
