HELPING WILSON.

East Oregonian: The Oregonian refers to the condition on the border as an "opera bouffe" war. Whatever it may be, the blame for the situation rests largely upon the shoulders of our interventionists and tory newspapers...

In many respects the Portland Oregonian is a fine newspaper. But with reference to Wilson and Mexico it manifests neither conscience, mentality or a fundamental conception of patriotism.

A PROMPT PROFESSOR.

One of the professors in the State University is too busy to get out and get acquainted with the rest of the world. He lives in his classes, and in this he certainly has made a record that commands attention.

When the summer school at the University of Oregon comes to an end Friday of this week, Professor Timothy Cloran, according to the closest estimate he can make, will have completed his 13,608th class since he began teaching.

Dr. Cloran, whose name appears in "Who's Who in America" as one of the most distinguished Oregonians, is professor of French, Spanish and Italian. All college hours are too short for him when he is teaching these subjects.

Dr. Cloran is a man of two enthusiasms. Besides being a militant advocate of the study of the Romance languages, he is perhaps the best exponent of intensive gardening in his part of the state.

Dr. Cloran's classes have averaged 50 students, making a total of 680,400, or more than half a million student class hours to his credit in twenty-one years.

QUESTIONS FOR MINISTERS.

A correspondent in the Baker Herald, wants the ministers to answer the following questions:

"In view of the fact that a great majority of our ministers of the gospel are advocates of preparedness, I should like to ask them a few questions: "If Christ is the 'Prince of Peace,' how can you advocate war? "If Christ taught that we should love our enemies, why do you teach us to prepare to shoot them? "Can a man be a Christian and shoot his fellow-man? "Can you picture Christ on the battlefield? "While you preach preparedness, how many of you ministers have enlisted during our Mexican crisis? "The last question may be unfair. There is seldom any lack of ministers in the army, as chaplains if not as soldiers. Anyhow it merely involves the personal consistency of the ministers. But the other questions challenge the integrity and consistency of Christianity itself, as practised and interpreted today. And what have the ministers to say about it? Their answers will clear many questions of many people."

MISFITS

Death rides in all the auto races.

The Weston Leader says that the effort of the Pendleton people to secure a normal school at that city is one of moral obliquity.

The Democrat has always contended that Weston is entitled to the Eastern Oregon normal. There should be only two in the state, one at Monmouth, the other at Weston.

Please, Mr. Hill, we'd like a railroad to the big timber at Cascadia, and a saw mill at Albany to take care of the many millions of dollars worth of timber.

The Scarecrow, one of Frank Baum's Oz books, is only a fairy story; but along with the fiction is a vein of good sense that captures one. For instance his character Pessim is suggestive of a good many people we meet in life, without going out of Albany.

As a good fellow who is always looking for an opportunity to help others, Scarecrow himself, with his wonderful brain, deserves emulation.

Decidedly Yellow.

Salem Journal: The dirtiest work politically, done by any person or paper in the northwest is that of the paragrapher of the Oregonian. He makes no distinct charges but revels in nasty insinuations aimed generally at President Wilson or the Democratic party.

These jewelers are jewels.

Likewise their wives.

Atlantic coast people are invited out to our Pacific Coast resorts, where the villainous shark does not operate.

Reference is made to water sharks, not land sharks.

The anarchist who caused the San Francisco disaster should be traced to the end of the line and given the punishment the heartless varmint deserves.

The devil would be ashamed to be seen in the company of such a fellow.
