WHAT A DOLLAR DOES.

The following from the Implement and Vehicle Record, given the Democrat by an Albany man, is a good illustration of what a dollar will do: "I am a Dollar! A little ageworn, perhaps, but still in circulation. I am proud of myself for being in circulation. I am no tomato-can dollar—not I. This town is only my adopted home, but I like it and hope to remain permanently. When I came out of the mint I was adopted into a town like this in another state. But, after a time, I was sent off to a big city, many miles away. I turned up in a mail-order house. For several years I stayed in that city. Millionaires bought cigars with me. I didn't like that, for I believe in the plain people. Finally a traveling man brought me to this town and left me here. I was so glad to get back to a smaller town that I was determined to make a desperate effort to stay. One day a citizen of this town was about to send me back to that big city. I caught him looking over a mail-order catalog. Suddenly I found my voice and said to him: "Look here, if you'll let me stay in this town I'll circulate around and do you a lot of good. You buy a big beefsteak with me, and the butcher will buy groceries, and the grocer will buy hardware, and the hardware man will pay his doctor bill with me, and the doctor will spend me with a farmer for oats to feed his horse with, and the farmer will buy some fresh meat from the butcher, who will come around to the dentist to get his tooth mended. In the long run, as you see, I'll be more useful to you here at home than if you send me away forever." The man said it was a mighty stiff argument. He hadn't looked at it in that light before, so he went and bought the beefsteak, and I began to circulate around home again. Now, just suppose all the other dollars that are sent to Chicago or some other big city were kept circulating right here at home, you could see the town grow. Honest, ain't I right?"

INDEPENDENT'S CHOICE.

"I have in my voting career cast my ballot for Cleveland, McKinley, Bryan and Roosevelt, and therefore can claim some degree of independence," said C. W. Alcott, "why an independent should prefer Wilson to Hughes that I am afraid your space would all be taken up in the enumeration. I will therefore give but three all sufficient reasons for the faith within me. "First, the president is absolutely honest and conscientious in all his undertakings, and his high ideals and moral purposes both at home and abroad have spread their influence for good throughout the nation. "Second, many great achievements for the benefit of mankind when thrown into the scales against his mistakes of judgment so far outweigh the errors that he has done can not be estimated. "Third, Mr. Hughes has nothing to offer that we as a nation are not already in possession of."

MISFITS

The Deutschland has certainly been a guess provoker.

Strikes us the English need more hot notes than the Germans just now.

We've got the knockers a going.

Short articles hitting the knocker are always welcome.

A Broadalbin street man gives us one, which we published recently, and hence do not repeat. It was the one that said he was a corkscrew soul and that the devil shuts the gate to keep him out.

The man who is not contented Albany after all the splendid remarks made about the place at Chautauqua speakers and the jewelers at the recent convention, must be made of discontent microbes.

Evidently a lot of city ordinances that are out of practice.

A paper down in Southern Or. says it would not have done anything that Wilson has done. A regular Hearst sheet then.

The masses are back of the president in the things he has done, and will continue to be.

When a Coos Bay man did not marry because he was disappointed in love sees how married men suffer he has a right to pat himself on the head and say, "what a lucky old dog you are?"—Marshfield Times.

Not if you marry a real woman whose brains are in her head.

There are others; but Charlie Chaplin, with all his idiotic ways, is the real movie drawer.

As a matter of fact it takes a smart man to be a good fool.
