Don't Drift Away From Your Friends

There are so many times when a cheery telephone message from you would mean much to your friends in nearby towns.

The fact that you can't see them so often is all the more reason why you should talk to them oftener, and an inexpensive telephone talk occasionally will work wonders.
Consult the list of toll rates to cities hereabout; it's in the front of your Bell directory.

Just let YOUR TELEPHONE keep YOU from drifting away from your friends.

Ralph Mitchell, of the Oregonian staff, made a hasty trip up from Portland last evening to visit with his friend, Jack Warner. He returned to Portland on the morning electric.

Portland People—
J. S. Siegrist, wife, and son Harold, of Portland, spent last night at the Hotel St. Francis while on their way home from a trip to Crater Lake. Yesterday they rode from Roseburg.

Hepner Man Here—
Jos. Waters, county clerk of Morrow County, of Hepner, was in the city last night on his way home from a Newport outing. Mr. Waters is a former fellow clerk of Bert Patterson of the street car, in Hepner.

At Breitenbush—
W. A. Cox, and Harry Schlosser are now residents of the Breitenbush Hot Springs for a few weeks. Mr. Stratton, the barber, and Dave Patterson will leave for there in a few days, and other Albany people expect to take their outing there.

Home from East—
Mrs. E. H. Rhodes, and grandson, Elwood, have returned from their eastern trip, coming directly from Webster, Iowa. While gone they visited relatives in several other states. The heat was getting oppressive and they were glad to get away from it into the pleasant Willamette Valley.

On the Border—
Among the Portland boys who are on the border with the U. S. army are two sons of Albert Haffenden. Mr. Haffenden was a resident of Albany in the latter '70's, in business here.

Refused to Give Road—
While Don McGlashan was on his way back to Albany from Corvallis this morning he had a collision on his motorcycle with a horse and wagon. When about a mile out of Corvallis he rode up behind a wagon, but the driver did not pay any attention to the signals and kept straight in the road. McGlashan was forced to take the side of the road and struck a pile of loose gravel. His machine swerved and hit the near horse, throwing McGlashan to the ground. His worst damage was a skinned and bruised knee and a few bends in the motorcycle. The driver kept on going, never coming back to see how badly he had caused another to get hurt. McGlashan has just purchased a Mitchell "Six," and in the future he will do less riding on the speed devil and more in the comfortable cushions of an automobile.

Home from Vacation—
Loffy Bilyeu is back on the job at the post office after a ten days' vacation near Scio.

On Vacation—
Miss Elizabeth Rueland, chief operator of the Home Telephone office, left for Newport this morning for a two weeks' vacation. Miss Rena Casteel accompanied her as far as Yaquina, where she will visit her grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Casteel, for the rest of the week.

Bishop Bashford Coming—
Albany people next Sunday morning, at the M. E. church, are to have the privilege of hearing Bishop Bashford, at the head of the work of the church in China, one of the best men in the church. While at Saratoga A. M. Hammer of this city, met the bishop and secured a visit from him on his trip to the coast. He will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hammer while here.

Returned from Vacation—
Clyde Williamson, of the First National bank, has returned from his summer's vacation. With his own home in the eastern suburbs as headquarters he took auto trips to different places.

Salem Swimming Dip—
About 400 people visited Riverside Dip yesterday, according to the estimate of Superintendent A. R. Wilson. The paid admission totaled $21.60. The demand for bathing suits is heavy from those who do not have suits of their own. Another camping party will locate on the grounds today.—Statesman.

A Salem Scoop—
The Salem Statesman made a scoop this morning by publishing the hanging of Lord Casement. Going to press between 3 and 4 o'clock, with about seven hours between Salem and London there was a small margin for the news. It is the only morning paper seen here that waited for the news.

At Marshfield Next Year—
Next year the Knights of Pythias of Oregon will meet at Marshfield, something never possible before, because of a lack of railroad facilities.

96 Years Old—
Tomorrow will be the 96th birthday of R. A. Booth, Sr., of Roseburg, an event that will be celebrated by a family gathering. Seven children are alive, and will attend. The children are: R. A. Booth, of Eugene; J. H. Booth, Mrs. T. E. Singleton, of Roseburg; W. A. Booth, of Prineville; Mrs. E. H. Belknap, and Mrs. Bertha Peterson, of Eugene. A peculiar coincidence is the fact that the birthday of J. H. Booth occurs at the same time, and that his age is just half that of his father.

Dagget Funeral Today—
The funeral of George Daggett, who was drowned in the Calapooia river Tuesday, was held this afternoon from the Christian church. Rev. M. Howard Fagan preached the funeral services. The body was placed in Riverside cemetery. The funeral was well attended, and a number of former playmates of the dead boy paid their last respects to their departed friend.

O. E. Men in Town—
W. E. Wilkes, assistant freight agent, and W. P. Powers, travelling freight and passenger agent of the Oregon Electric railroad, are in the city in the interests of their company.

Ticket Sale Heavy—
The ticket sale for "The Birth of a Nation" opened this morning and the large part of the house for Sunday and Monday are already sold. Two auto loads of people came over from Corvallis and one from Lebanon. One man in the Corvallis party bought 17 tickets. Some of his friends recently paid his expenses to Salem to witness the production and report. His report caused that bunch to go. Manager Myers announced that more tickets are being sold to people from the small towns and the country than to Albany people. People living here, he says, think that they can get tickets any time, but they are apt to get fooled. The cream of the house is about sold and by Saturday the big part of the theatre for all three days will be gone. In every city where this show has yet played people were turned away.

Everything Always for Less — The Golden Rule J. C. Penney Co. Inc. 175 BUSY STORES — Everything Always for Less

Sight of Two Lifetimes.

The sight of two lifetimes is "The Birth of a Nation"—that of your father and mother, if not directly your own, and, also, the sight of all sights to be seen today.

It is nearly three hours of historic tableaux, nearly three hours of smiles and tears and warm heart throbs and gripping pangs of sadness, a panorama of life and love that preceded the first shot on Sumter—and then the break—the South declaring for state's rights and secession, the North as one man rallying to the flag—only, both sides, to emerge from it four trying years later full of hatred and rancor and work against each other more ignoble crimes—that is Griffith's "Birth of a Nation."

Beautiful Sets in "Ben Blair."

The scenes showing the city mansion of the Winthrop's in the Pallas picture production "Ben Blair" are remarkable for the exactitude and beauty of the sets. The Adam's Period decorations and furniture used in Florence's boudoir; the genuine Dutch inlay pieces used in the fountain-playing breakfast room, and the truly bachelor comforts of Sidwell's luxurious apartments are all features that make a harmonious setting for this strong screen version of the book "Ben Blair" that tells in a fascinating manner of a westerner's love for an eastern girl. This remarkable play featuring Dustin Farnum will be seen for the last time at the Globe tonight.

Miss Frances Goin, of Jefferson, is spending a week in this city visiting at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Francis.
