

The New Wirthmor Waists

G-13.—The back of this pleasing style is trimmed with the same pretty embroidery that adorns the front. Four tucks on either side, a wide plait extending across the bodice, gathered net footing on collar. Hemstitching on cuffs, front, completes the trimming. Voile of an excellent quality is the material used.

G-14.—A frill waist that's really strikingly pretty. Around the deep, flat collar, outlining the frill and turn back suffia is a new Val. Lace in a very fine design. Further ornamenting the frill are rows of neat Val. insertion. And, too, there's hemstitching, liberally used, to give the Waist added character and worth.

G-15.—Sheer, cool and summery, a material—a very fine Organdie—particularly suitable for warm weather—is used in this model. And just as fine as the material is the trimming, consisting of daintiest of embroideries and pretty Venise edging on collar and cuffs. Twelve quarter inch tucks and hemstitching are also used to give added effectiveness to this extremely desirable model.

G-16.—In its simplicity and attractiveness of the material used lies the charm of this exceptionally good model. The material—rich looking—is a fine check-line Voile, and more expensive than one would expect in a Waist so moderately priced. The vest and collar, which are cut in one, is of plain white Voile, as is also banding on cuffs. Large ocean pearl buttons are used for fastening.

CONSTANCE COLLIER HERE AT GLOBE TONIGHT

"The Code of Marcia Gray" the latest Morosco photoplay released on the Paramount program which opens at the Globe tonight, explains a rather unusual code of conduct for these non-critical times.

Deserted by all her fashionable friends when her husband was indicted for the wrecking of the trust company, Marcia had only the support and counsel of her lawyer-friend, Castle. Castle had remained single because of Marcia.

Their necessary intimacy during the fight for her husband's liberty was distorted by Gray's prison-stained mind. Her reward for unswerving faithfulness and constant and sometimes humiliating work for his release was rewarded by a snarling accusation.

The scene of the accusation with its intensely dramatic action rendered by the star, Constance Collier supported by Forrest Stanley and Henry De Vere form a strong link in this excellent story of modern fashionable life and frenzied finance.

WATCH YOUR TIRES.

No Matter How Good They May Be This Caution Is Necessary.

Many a car is sold on the representation that "the Blankmobile will run from 7,000 to 10,000 miles on a set of tires," and the motorist thus glens the opinion that his tires need no attention for that length of time.

But no car dealer's statement or tire maker's guarantee can influence good or bad luck, and it is largely the work of the latter that places the bit of broken glass, the sharp stone or the protruding nail directly in the path of the unwary tire. Such an obstacle will not necessarily penetrate the tire—the chances are that it will not—but a cut will be formed in the outer layer of rubber or tread, which, like an infected wound, will eventually spread and "infect" the entire surface.

A few moments spent in examining, cleaning and plugging the cut or hole will add thousands of miles to the life of the tire. The inexperienced motorist can form no conception of the readiness with which mud, sand and water can enter the slight opening in the surface of the tire and by gradually working its way "under the skin" will tend to separate the tread from the outer layer of canvas.

In a few hundred or thousand miles this tread will be hanging in flapping shreds, worth no more than so much old rubber, and in order to be reclaimed the tire must be retreaded or used in connection with one of the several detachable treads on the market—H. W. Slauson, M. E. in Leslie's.

and ten miles wide at the broadest portion. Should it continue to enlarge it will take in valuable country, but, so far as known, there is no way to prevent this.

Mediterranean waters are 1,300 feet higher than the Dead sea level, but this is no proof the waters of the Dead sea are drying up.

A survey of the wonderful region of years ago shows islands that are now gone. It is declared these are covered.

There is so much solid matter in the water that it makes about one-fifth, or 20 per cent, of the matter solid. It is so intensely salt and bitter that no creature can live in it.

The bed of the sea is rich with mineral deposits. Salts, copper, lead and zinc and marble are found in vast quantities, and experts are of the opinion there is a great deposit of petroleum beneath the vast body of water.

A man's body is lighter than the amount of water it displaces, and it is therefore impossible for a person to sink.

Vegetation is scarce and greatly stunted for miles about the sea.
