SILETZ INDIANS HAVE HAD FAIR THIS WEEK

Exhibited Their Handiwork and Presented The Play Of Hiawatha.

H. G. Colton, of Portland, prominent in life insurance business, was in the city last night on his way home from Newport, where he left Mrs. Colton for a longer stay. Their son George is at Eugene, attending summer school in the U. C., where he will be a senior the coming year. Wednesday Mr. Colton attended the fair at the Siletz, an interesting affair. They had a good display of things made by them and products raised, all by Indians. The event of the fair, though, was the presentation of Hiawatha, all by Indians, which they put on in a neat manner. It was a hot day, and one of the features was the presentation of the performers with ice cream cones during the show.

RIFLE CLUB MEMBERS MADE SAME GOOD SHOTS

The Albany Rifle Club had another shoot last night, an interesting event, at 200 yards. The scores which follow are out of a possible 50:
At 18 inch target: C. W. Walker, 47; P. M. Powell, 41; Geo. Clime, 37.
At 8 inch target: M. R. Boehmer, 44; F. C. Stellmacher, 39; Fred Ward, 36; Jas. Grigaby, 34; Chas. Goettling, 33; Ben Clefen, 33; L. G. Metzgar, 31; R. J. Whitney, 31; R. W. Gott, 30; G. A. Flood, 28; R. Hutchins, 28.

From Ellensburg—
Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Cox, old residents of Ellensburg, Wash. arrived last night on their way to the home of Mrs. Cox's son, Charles Newman, near this city, for a visit. They are looking for a small tract of five or six acres for a home here. Mr. Cox has a brother at Independence, but is not a relative of any of the Linn county families of the same.

Returned from Newport—
Mrs. Lowell Tweedale and daughter, of Salem, were in the city last night on their way home from Newport, where they have been with Mr. Tweedale since May, for the benefit of Mr. Tweedale's health, which has not been good. They have been at the W. S. Tweedale cottage, where Mr. and Mrs. Tweedale are now staying. Lowell left Monday by foot on a walk home for the experience.

Returned from Newport—
Mrs. Small, daughter Mrs. Pearce, and her daughter, of Salem, returned home last night from Newport, the

Gang of Gypsies—
A gang of Gypsies with three automobiles, have been camped across the river, a dirty looking crowd, with itching fingers, always a nuisance around a community.

Moved to Ellsworth St.—
C. H. Wieder and family have moved from Broadalbin street into one of the Train cottages, the one formerly occupied for several years by Prof. Palmer, where they will make their home.

Death of L. Samuel—
L. Samuel died in Portland yesterday at the age of 68 years. He was prominent for many years. In 1874 he established the West Shore, a magazine that attracted a good deal of attention for a number of years, but was discontinued in the '80's. In 1890 he became interested in insurance, resulting in his organization of the Oregon Life a few years ago. The writer first met Mr. Samuel in the early '80's. He was a man of indomitable will, a persistent worker, active in the upbuilding of the city and state in which he lived so long.

DOROTHY GISH IN A PLAY THAT BRIMS WITH ROMANCE

The Course of True Love is More Than Rugged in New Triangle-Fine Arts Feature.

Near the little New England town of Graystone is a mansion known as Graystone Gables, the summer home of a wealthy young New Yorker, David Chandler, Eli Lockwood, who has a pretty daughter named Betty, is caretaker of this place. The girl is a somewhat exacting mother, so she likes to go with her kindly father to see the wonderful grounds of the mansion. The father dies and the mother marries Jim Wood, a widower with two grown-up sons. The men are unkind to the girl, who goes even more to the Gables.

One day she creeps in through a window and dressed herself up in a beautiful gown that she finds. On a subsequent visit she is found by the owner, who has unexpectedly returned. He has no objections to her visits and gives her the freedom of the place. Then one of Wood's sons start to rob the house. He thinks he sees a ghost when Betty appears wearing a sheet around her. He tells the tale in the village and a party goes to the place, surprising Betty and David together.

A scandal arises and Betty is driven out of town. Still dressed in her finery, she sits weeping by the roadside. David finds her there and takes her to New York, where he places her in the care of a chaperone, Mrs. Delancy. She is introduced into bohemian life. One Mildred Lee, who is seeking David only for his fortune, makes love to him in open fashion at a studio reception where everyone is indulging in cocktails. Betty is disgusted, and leaves for home. Her mother is dying, but her cruel step-brothers will not let her see her parent. She seeks refuge in the Gables. Si, one of the step-brothers, follows the girl, and tries to force his attentions on her. But David arrives in time to rescue her, and she soon becomes the mistress of Graystone Gables.
