CITY NEWS

An Albany Visitor—Mrs. White, sister-in-law of Rev. White, left for Los Angeles early this morning after a visit here of several days, and from there later will return to her home in the east.

Soldiers on Furlough—A crowd of Oregon soldiers returned to Clackamas last night after a short furlough to their homes, mostly in Corvallis. Among them from that city was Capt. C. A. Murphy, formerly of the Gazette Times. From Albany was Alfred Gentry, of B Co., Portland, one of the youngest members of the regiment. This week the men will begin active practice.

Home from Portland—Mrs. Frank Purdon returned last evening from Portland, where she spent several weeks on a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Phillips.

Returned to Portland—Ed. Merrill, architect, of Portland, returned last evening to that city after a visit with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Merrill, at this city.

Returned from Eugene—Will Holbrook returned last night from Eugene, where he attended the round-up for several days, also visited his uncle at Springfield.

Here from Denver—Mr. and Mrs. Will Anderson and daughter, arrived Saturday afternoon on a visit at the home of Mr. Anderson's folks, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Anderson. Mr. Anderson is manager of the business of the Booth-Kelly Co., at Denver, for Colorado and Wyoming, where a big business is done, one of the Democrat's former carriers who are making good in the business world. He went to Eugene this morning to confer with the management. Mrs. Anderson and daughter went to Dallas for a visit with her parents. They are due to be back in Denver by next Sunday, so will have only this week in Oregon.

Portland Trip—Supt. Jackson made a short trip to Portland yesterday in the interest of the teachers' institute, which began in Corvallis this morning, to last over Wednesday.

To Independence—Arthur Palmer went down to Independence yesterday to join his folks for a short visit at the hop yards.

Funeral of Mrs. Goltra—The funeral of Mrs. W. H. Goltra was held this afternoon at the family residence, with a large number present, and a fine display of flowers.

Jimmy and Johnny—Jimmy Topolis has returned to Mill City, where he will attend school this coming winter, and Johnny, who was visiting there, has returned to Albany, and will go to school here.

Returned from East—F. M. French returned this noon from his eastern trip. He attended the national jewelers' convention in Minneapolis, a big thing, and visited Detroit, Cleveland and other cities, having a big time, a very enjoyable one.

Goes to California—John Clelan, one of the speedy half-backs on last year's high school football team, will leave late tonight for Bishop, California, where he will enter high school. Prof. Marquam, former principal of Albany high is head of the high school at that place, and John will live at the Marquam home. If Clelan hits the rate he kept up here last year he will show the southerners what a high man can do at the real game.

Remodeling Building—C. H. Burggraf is having the interior of the building on West Second street lathed and plastered, getting in shape for a tenant.

Weather Report—The river now stands at the lowest point for the year, 13 feet above low water. Yesterday's temperature ranged between 49 and 75 degrees.

K. P. Feed Tonight—The Knights of Pythias will hold a big meeting in their castle hall this evening at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to attend. A banquet will be served and some special business will

BAILEY OUT WITH COLLEGE BALL TEAM

Pig Skin Chasers Hold First Practise of the Year on Campus.

Beginning tonight at Albany College the thud of the cleated foot on the pigskin will resound.

Ed. Bailey, former University of Oregon star and hero of many a thrilling fight against the "Aggies" the Dobbieites or W. S. C., is back in uniform and running the boys through a few motions this evening. While Bailey's contract with the college is not settled yet it is almost assured that he will coach this year.

Besides French, Stewart, Gildow, Martin, Shortridge, Parker, Springer, Tolles, Dawson and Hunter, some other men who will add strength to the team will be on hand. From last year's high school team there will be Art McChesney, Paul Miller and possibly Tub Davis. Ed. Hart, who has been in Montana the past year and is hard and husky, will be out and it is possible that Clint Archibald will cover his back with an orange and black sweater.

And back of the line is where Bailey has the most fears. The robust coach stated this afternoon that he was safe with his line, but where to get an aggregation that could out-buck the Gloor-French-Stewart combination of last year is the puzzling question. Stewart may not be able to play this year on account of the shoulder, which was injured last season. Jenkins, who was thought would enter U. of O. may yet be seen in an Albany jersey.

The students are jubilant over Bailey's return as coach and over the bright prospects for the season.

Pollak Gets a Dodge—W. W. Pollak, the well known commission man, has bought a Dodge for the use of himself and family.

Will Teach in Halsey—Miss Clara Luther left this morning for Corvallis to attend the annual Linn-Benton teachers institute. From Corvallis Miss Luther will go to Halsey where she has been engaged to teach for the coming year.

Got More Agates—J. G. Crawford drove to the eastern part of the county yesterday. On the farm of Wm. Sellers, three miles east of Brownsville on the Holley road he secured a supply of agate rocks from which he expects to cut many fine specimens of ornaments.

"Molly-Make-Believe"

A screen adaptation of Eleanor Hallwell Abbott's delightful romance

Molly is an irrepressible young lady who runs away with her little brother to the city when her grandmother is threatened with poverty. How she wins the love of a man through a series of acts and letters, forms the theme of this delightful book which has long stood as one of the "six best sellers."
