A REMARKABLE DISCOVERY.

Editor Democrat:—A local republican paper has made a remarkable discovery. It finds from a statement made by "local republican lawyers" that during Taft's administration only 26 suits for foreclosure of mortgages were brought, while in Wilson's administration 114 suits were brought. This is to show that Wilson's administration has been a failure. Do not these "locals" know that during Taft's administration a much larger number of arrests of blind piggers were made in Albany than during Wilson's administration?

Last year a much larger crop of grain was raised and harvested in the U. S. than was ever done under any republican administration.

But it is only fair to republicans to admit that more men over 80 years of age in the natural course of events have died under Wilson's administration than died under Taft's administration. This is one of the things that Hughes has not criticised. How did he come to overlook so serious a thing attributable to the Wilson administration.

ONLOOKER.

STAYING IN WASHINGTON.

Independence Monitor: Mr. Hawley's campaign committee, or that portion of it enough interested in his success to attend a meeting, makes reference to Mr. Hawley staying in Washington and attending to his duties during the hot summer months. Evidently Mr. Hawley's committee doesn't keep track of him very closely. The Pacific Woodman, for August, page 14, contains the information that Mr. Hawley was present at a meeting of the head managers of the W. O. W. held in Denver on July 17 and that the body, of which he is a member, did not adjourn until July 26. So he was in Denver and not in Washington most of the month of July. Mr. Hawley has for a number of years been one of the head managers of the W. O. W., receiving $75 a month, and his campaign slogan of "no interests to serve but the public interests" is rank deception.

MISFITS

There are other round-ups; but watch for a little more pep in Albany's than any of 'em.

This is the hub, where all things center, including bucking horses and steers.

Cigarette factories are whooping up their goods in immense ads, and the cigarette is as big an enemy of the boy as whiskey.

The boy who starts on the cigarette starts downward rather than upward.

General optimism is prevailing among people. The immense crops and high prices for them has put a whole lot of pep into business.

If the farmer has lots of money the rest of us will feel the flush.

All over the country the following is appearing: "Can't Beat Wilson." You bet you.

Up Against an Editor.

Benton Courier: Oh, but it is funny the people a newspaper will go up against—people who know how a newspaper should be run and who want to damn their ideas into you. It's as funny as a grey tombstone.

Last week a fellow held the editor up on the street. He had a hemorrhage of words with wrath behind them. He had a Courier in one hand and gestures in the other.

He was rude, unladylike, harsh. He tried to wound my tender feelings with his chatter.

He tried to coerce me with his naughty words and forceful style, to chasten and subdue me with his strenuous ways.

With a voice that needed machine oil on it he dispensed remarks and opinions until I got an earfull.

And all because we gave his insurance partner a column and a quarter of front page advertising last week as being the lowest and successful bidder for the city hall insurance.
