PERSONALS FROM SHEDD AND THAT VICINITY

Shedd is growing in population as well as wealth in the past few days.

Loren Stone, one of the Shedd boys, is back in Shedd. He has been helping harvest in Washington. Mr. Stone says Washington is a great country, and has had fine crops this year.

Mrs. Mackery died of heart trouble at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. Maxwell, last Saturday afternoon. Mackery came from Eastern Ore., and was visiting her daughter.

The Christian Endeavor had a social at the United Presbyterian church last Friday evening. The C. E. of Halsey, Oct. 18, at Albany were the visiting clubs. They had a fine program, a good lunch and a good social time. Afterwards Rev. Hose gave the welcome address, which made all four societies feel good. Mrs. Cynes Arnold, the president of the Shedd C. E. called the program and Mr. Robnett, the president of Halsey C. E. gave a rousing speech. Miss Meady Brown, the president of the Oakville

C. E. gave a good reading. Miss Helen Satchwell of Willamette University, was visiting relatives near Shedd during Saturday and Sunday.

The Shedd student body organized Sept. 25, 1916. The officers are as follows: Pres., Floyd Simon; vice pres., Fred Nitzel; sec., Miss Mina Arnold; treas., Miss Gladys Thompson; librarian, Miss Dorothy Satchwell; sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Lawrence Landrith.

Messrs. Simon, R. Arnold, H. O. Pinkstaff, J. M. Dickson and J. B. Cornett have bought an insilage cutter and are now making good use of it. They have filled eight large silos. They report that the corn is badly damaged by the early freeze.

DUN'S WEEKLY REPORT.

General Tendency of Trade is Upward, Though Disturbed By High Prices of Things.

All speculative markets experienced reaction this week and legitimate business has temporarily moved under reduced momentum, owing to the holiday interruption and certain hesitancy due to international developments. Current transactions, however, continue unprecedented for the period and, with the strength of fundamental factors undiminished, the general tendency in trade and industry is still toward further expansion. By rejecting many additional contracts, and under the stimulus of better working conditions, the steel corporation has made some headway in relieving the congestion at its mills and factories, though the unfilled orders at the end of September were nearly 80 per cent. greater than in 1915. The rise in prices in this quarter, as in numerous other lines, continues, and of the 331 wholesale quotations regularly compiled by Dun's Review, 66 showed advances this week and 26 declines. The extreme costs naturally induce more or less conservatism and deter some from buying, but in many instances the prospect for further advances is an incentive to larger purchasing, and consumption generally is maintained in extraordinary volume. This is evidenced by the record-breaking bank clearings, which this week are 22.2 per cent. in excess of last year's at leading centers outside of New York. Part of the gain, of course, is due to the high prices, yet the remarkable totals would not be possible were it not for the noteworthy and widespread activity in general business. In many cases, however, a full measure of progress is not possible because producing and transporting facilities, though increased and extended to the limit, remain inadequate to meet the growing requirements. Insistent calls for rush shipments of materials and products indicate the urgency of consumers' needs, but, as some machinery is idle through labor scarcity and wage controversies, outputs are insufficient, and the shortage of rolling stock accentuates the difficulty of making deliveries as scheduled.

Wheat Going Up, Too.

(By United Press)
Edmonton, Alt., Oct. 19.—C. S. Noble, pioneer farmer of the Claresholm district, today had an official award from the Alberta government, of the world's record for raising wheat. His 1,000 acre field averaged 52 bushels to the acre. This is one bushel higher than the previous world's record, held in Polouze county, Washington, in the United States. The grain, Noble says, will grade No. 1 hard.
