Attraction centers about the brilliant wedding of Miss Lora Jane Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, and Harry Hawkins of Salem, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hawkins of this city. Tuesday evening, October seven, was the date chosen for this event which was the bright light in the social affairs of Albany. The marriage was solemnized in the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Franklin H. Geselbracht officiating. A fashionable gathering of Albany society and out-of-town guests thronged the church. Preceding the ceremony, strains of pipe organ music filled the church, beautifully rendered by Mrs. Fred Newton of Portland. Miss Blanche Hammett with her sweet soprano voice sang "Until" and "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes." As the organ pealed forth strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" the bridal party entered the church, which had been decorated for the occasion with vari-colored autumn leaves. The pulpit and organ were banked with the autumn leaves and arches of them were artistically arranged down the aisles, everywhere over the church a profusion of the gaily colored leaves were used in decoration. Long stemmed chrysanthemums on tall pedestals also formed part of the decorations and made an effective background for the bridal party. Fred Newton of Portland, Bob Roberts of Salem, Harry Morton of McMinnville, and A. E. Benson of Portland, ushered the guests, Robert McMurray of Portland, acting as best man and Miss Gertrude Taylor as maid of honor. Miss Zona Haight and Miss Winnie Austin were bridesmaids.

The lovely bride was beautiful in charmingly embellished with silver lace and with a court train lying in graceful folds. A full length veil artistically fastened in her pretty coiffure, a bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses with a shower of lilies of the valley, were the completion of the attractive costume.

Miss Gertrude Taylor was handsomely gowned in watermelon pink and white tulle, trimmed with rare white lace and tulle, silver also formed part of the trimming on her dress. A filmy haze of white tulle, decorated with pink roses and black velvet streamers, gave a charming effect to her costume. She carried pink and white chrysanthemums tied with tulle.

The charming bridesmaids were pretty in dainty tulle dresses. Miss Zona Haight handsomely wore a green and pink striped tulle with a green bodice and attractively trimmed with silver lace. Her hat was of green tulle with black velvet streamers and she carried a basket of pink carnations tied with tulle. A dress of pink and lavender striped tulle with a silver cloth bodice and trim with beaded georgette crepe made Miss Winnie Austin attractive. Completing her costume she wore a pink tulle hat with black velvet streamers and carried a basket of lavender cosmos and yellow chrysanthemums with a tulle bow. The bride's mother, Mrs. Taylor wore a blue silk gown with gold lace for the effective trimming. Mrs. Hawkins gown was a handsome model of blue, charmeuse, beautifully embroidered across the front of the waist.

The bride is a popular attractive and charming girl, usually among the social circle of Albany and other towns. She attended the University of Oregon and is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She was extremely popular while in school, being a girl of many good qualities and a lovable nature. For the past few years she has been living with her parents in Albany. Since the announcement of her engagement there has been many gay festivities for which the bride has been the central figure. Mr. Hawkins is a prominent young man formerly living in Albany.

now a financial agent in Salem. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hawkins left for a few weeks in Portland and will later return to Salem, making their future home in the Court apartments. They will be immediately received and popular in the social set of Salem.

Following the wedding of Miss Lora Jane Taylor and Harry Hawkins, made gala by the many Albany and out of town guests, a reception took place at the Taylor home on Fourth street. This event was enjoyed by the bridal party and a few relatives. Floral arrangements of yellow and white chrysanthemums were effective throughout the rooms. Miss Zona Haight caught the bride's bouquet, Miss Lucile Dunn of Eugene drew the thimble from the cake and Miss Gertrude Taylor drew the money from the cake.

Mrs. Rocky Mason charmingly presided over a library benefit tea on Tuesday afternoon. The guests enjoying the afternoon at her home were Mesdames Le Roy Wood, Owen Beam, Charles Cusick, William Kent of Washington, D. C., P. A. Young, E. D. Cusick, Charles Stewart, J. C. Mrs. Edgar left Monday for Pennington to attend the state convention of the W. C. T. U. which was held here during the week.

The members of the Coterie club enjoyed the hospitality extended toward them by Mrs. I. M. Doughton, when she was hostess to them on Wednesday afternoon. Effective decorations, suggestive of Halloween filled the house with an abundance of black cats, witches and pumpkins, among a profusion of autumn leaves. New officers were elected for the club. They were president, Mrs. C. H. Leonard; vice president, Mrs. I. M. Doughton; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ward Cyrus. Mrs. Stella Luck of Portland was an invited guest.

Mrs. Jessie Wallace was hostess for a charming bridge tea, given Monday afternoon in the parlors of the Hotel Albany. Bridge was played at seven tables and several additional guests came in for lunch. Brilliantly decorated autumn leaves and chrysanthemums formed the effective decorations.

The Modern Travelers met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. N. Braden on Fifth street. The members expounded with current events to the call. Two papers, one "Moore's in Spain; Rise of Grenada," by Mrs. L. C. Hamilton and "Natural Resources and Industries," by Mrs. S. E. Young displayed a great deal of study and intelligence.

A delightful dinner of Monday evening was given at the Biffricht home with Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Biffricht as hosts and the members of the Needle Craft club and their husbands as guests. An enjoyable evening followed the elaborate dinner.

Mrs. Reed Walworth was hostess on Thursday for a ten cent tea given at the library. Her guest list included the following: Mesdames W. Polack, Louis Viereck, Glen Jenkins, H. A. Leininger, Waller, Percy Kelley, A. Austin, S. E. Watson, G. E. Riggs.

The guests were Mrs. Myrvel Looney, Mrs. Hudson (Seattle), Mrs. Mary McFarland, (Tangent), and Mrs. Rush and two daughters.

Miss Winnie Austin is entertaining as her house guest, Miss Lucile Dunn of Eugene.

One of the most interesting and enjoyable meetings of the P. E. O. was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. G. A. Flood. The rooms of the Flood home were gay and attractive with decorations typical of Halloween, autumn leaves, jack o' lanterns, black cats, and other characteristic decorations were thick in the rooms. A unique and decidedly clever feature of the evening was the acted out song given by Mrs. W. H. Davis, Mrs. J. R. Penland, Mrs. Mark Weatherford with Mrs. H. S. Logan accompanying them on the piano. Mrs. Raucher of Salem and a member of the Chapter of P. E. O. there was present at the meeting. The hostess served a delicious lunch at the close of the evening.

Mrs. J. L. White entertained a number of ladies on Thursday afternoon, giving them the opportunity to meet her mother, Mrs. Vance, of Portland. Mrs. F. P. Nutting gave a delightful vocal solo during the afternoon. The guests of Mrs. White were Mesdames J. K. Weatherford, Montgomery, Nutting, J. K. Haight, H. S. Logan, S. S. Train, J. A. Shaw, H. W. Barker, Woodcock, F. M. French, and O. D. Austin, and Miss Kate Barrett.

Mrs. Ora Casper, grand secretary of the Kebekeh lodge was the honoree for a reception given Monday afternoon. Mrs. A. Bowers and Mrs. C. W. Sears were hostesses for this delightful occasion. Mrs. J. K. Weatherford assisted the hostesses in receiving. Mrs. F. C. Pate and Mrs. O. D. Austin assisted about the rooms and Mrs. J. J. Collins and Mrs. J. A. Shaw poured at the table. Miss Nathaniel Danaca and Miss Marciel Austin daintily served. The home of Mrs. Sears on West Sixth street was prettily decorated for the occasion, with an abundance of red geraniums and white clematis. During the afternoon about sixty guests called. Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. Sears later in the evening entertained those who assisted them with the reception, at a charming luncheon.

The Twentieth century met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Barker. An interesting feature of the afternoon will be a cute and comical "Topsy Turvy" dance given by Barbara Pfeiffer, Georgia Wright, Margaret Catley, Olive Barker, Helen Laugh and Wilma Junkin. The guests which were invited to Mrs. Barker's house are the Mesdames A. S. Hart, Grant Pitts, Ed. Wiles, G. E. Sanders, T. J. Woodcock, G. D. Austin, L. A. Leininger, Ballantyne, Allen Jones, Halloween decorations made the rooms cheery.

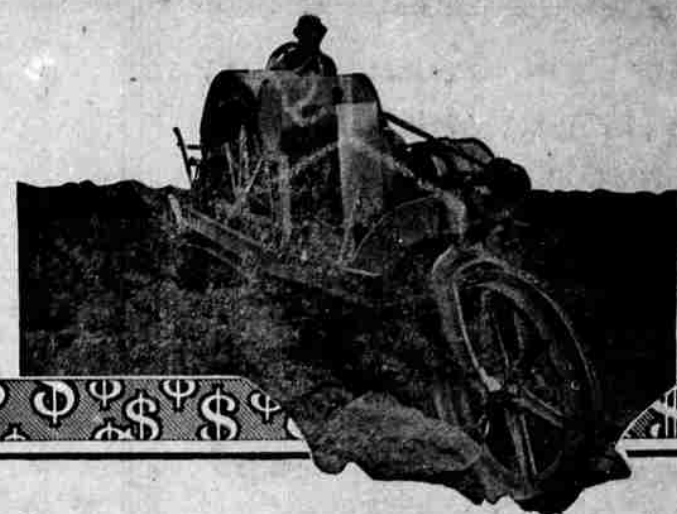

Mrs. C. H. Burggraf entertained for the Acme Bridge club at her home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. Austin and Mrs. Joseph Meyer substituted for absent members. An enjoyable afternoon of bridge was passed.

Mrs. Le Roy Parker was hostess at the Thursday afternoon study club this week. Mrs. Francis Arnold read an interesting paper on "Spain and Gibraltar." A pleasant afternoon followed and a dainty collation was served by the hostess.

The Ladies' Society of the First Presbyterian church held a ten cent social at the home of Mrs. B. R. Wallace on Friday afternoon. An interesting feature of the program was the comic skits done by number of different ladies. Musical selections by Mrs. Bert Stevens were enjoyed. A domestic science booth presided over by several ladies proved to be very popular. Dainty refreshments were served later in the afternoon. About seventy-five ladies were present.

A jolly meeting of the Beta Gamma girls was held at the home of Miss Velma Anthony on Friday evening. A covered dish feed was enjoyed by the girls and at the table, which was decorated with autumn leaves and Halloween decorations, covers were laid for the Misses Fay King, Ruth Rawlings, Nina Bending, Laverne Hofflich, Stella Cummings, Hazel Hall, Kamilla Kroschel, Ruth Lochner and Velma Anthony. Music and singing was the diversion of the evening.
