MARGUERITE CLARK DELIGHTFUL IN "SILKS AND SATINS"

Little Marguerite Clark, who has graced the garb of prince, pauper, orphan, Spanish girl, little Irish lass, Swiss maiden and others too numerous to mention, will be seen for the first time in "Silks and Satins." This beautiful photo romance produced by the Famous Players Film Co., will be shown at the Globe tonight on the Paramount Program. The famous players have carefully selected for this petite star a cast, scenes and director, J. Searle Dawley, that make this production stand foremost among feature photoplays.

In this usual romance Miss Clark is a modern girl who is to marry a certain young dandy against her wishes. Through the careless maneuvering of a table, a drawer is dislodged, which had heretofore been unseen, revealing a diary with an avenue of escape from her predicament inscribed in it by an ancient relative, of the Eighteenth century, who had been in a like predicament. The plot is a combination of an old love story with one of modern origin. Little Felicite, the stellar figure in both romances, portrayed by Miss Clark, reads the love affair from the newly discovered diary.

What follows is of vital interest to Felicite, who, upon completing the diary, determines to pursue the course set for her by her ancestor.

At the Jitney fair Dec. 12, in the First Presbyterian church there will be a Rummage Sale room. Anyone having articles to donate please phone 414-R.

Minister Elop.
Eugene, Ore., Nov. 11.—Rev. W. F. Willings, for a year and a half pastor of the M. E. church at Coburg, and Ruby Belle Taylor, of that town, eloped last week and were married at Vancouver, Wash., on Friday, November 3.

They are on the way to Rev. Mr. Willings' former home in the oil fields of Pennsylvania, where he says they will make their home.

Rev. Mr. Willings is about 22 years of age, and had been keeping company with the Taylor girl for about a year.

Her parents refused to give their consent to her marriage. They did not know of their departure until the next day after they left, the girl's parents thinking she was staying at the home of a friend in town.

Willings was quite well thought of by the people of Coburg. The girl's reputation is good.

SOME FINE BOOKS FOR CHILDREN AT LIBRARY

Sunbonnet Babies in Holland, Wild Animal Ways and Others.

The children will delight in the following books that appeal to varied tastes.

"The Sunbonnet Babies in Holland" full of child play, and instructive in regard to customs of the country.

Paine's "Hollow Tree Nights," are unusually interesting tales about Mr. Coon, Mr. Rabbit and many other animals. The quaint talk and playful actions are absorbingly entertaining and rejoice the heart of the little ones.

The series of Dutch, Japanese and Mexican twins give an excellent idea of how the little ones live in these different countries. The pictures are very attractive. One of the choicest books is a beautifully illustrated edition of Madame Maeterlinck's "Children's Blue Bird." Artistic and beautiful, this book is perfect as a sample of the bookmakers' art. Then Howard Pyle's ideal illustration add to the interest in the pretty edition of "The Wooden Clock," so rich in fairy lore.

A book giving the latest developments in wireless will interest the boys; also another one by their favorite, Ernest Thompson Seton, "Wild Animal's Ways," will especially delight the boy hunters.

"Irish Fairy Tales" is added to the excellent list of fairy tales and with its funny stories and pretty pictures will prove a popular book.

The children will especially enjoy following John and Betty on their Scotch Historical visit, where they saw and heard so much of interest.

All the school children should study Tappan's "In the Days of Queen Elizabeth," for historical interest. It is written in charming style and will help greatly in arousing special interest in this important period of English history.

Among the stories may be found another of the popular Boy Scout series, this time they are the Scouts of Baden-Powell who perform such wonderful exploits.

Then "Patty at Fairfield" is added to the long list of stories of her experiences, which is popular with the girls.

"Betty Wales, Sophomore," is also attracting much interest from those who followed her through her varied and happy life as a Freshman. This series gives a good insight into college life and customs, and the books are enjoyable. Thus the needs of the children of Albany are being well supplied at the library where every child is given a royal welcome.

On the 25th of November the members of the Albany company, Coast Artillery will shoot for the bankers medal, a contest already begun between twelve companies in the state, some of which have already done their shooting. Just What is Pat?
Some time before election the supporters of prohibition went to Pat McArthur, Congressman from Multnomah county, and asked him if he would work for national prohibition if the Brewers' amendment were defeated. He answered that he would not, but that if the people of Oregon expressed their desire for prohibition by voting the state absolutely dry that he would then work for it. The state is bone dry. Where does Pat stand now?

RICHARD J. JOSE SINGS BEAUTIFULLY AT GLOBE

Richard J. Jose sang here last night, and while the audience that heard him was small, his beautiful, high tenor voice was greatly appreciated. Jose has the highest-pitched voice for a man in the world. The full, rich notes that fall from his throat are full of sweetness and melody. There is no trace of grit or grating squeakiness that sometimes accompanies a high tenor.

Perhaps the piece that was most appreciated was "Silver Threads Among the Gold," the song that he has immortalized by his wonderful voice. He is without a peer when it comes to singing this song.

Jose was here with a six reel moving picture production entitled "Silver Threads Among the Gold," in which he plays one of the principal parts. It is a story of a son, wrongfully accused of theft and banished from home by a father's hasty judgment. The mother, broken hearted, believes her son's innocence, and awaits his return. The boy makes good after many hard circumstances, the villain confesses, and the abused son finally returns home to his mother and sweetheart. It is interesting all the way through, Jose's singing old songs to illustrate the sentiment in the picture being particularly pleasing.

It is possible that Jose will stop here for another engagement on his return south, when a larger crowd will turn out for a week-night concert.

bany, and grandson, John Shaw, are guests of their son, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shaw.—Astorian.

Jack Dolph Marries.
Albany friends of Jack Dolph, prominent U. of O. student and a son of the late Cyrus A. Dolph, of Portland, will be surprised and pleased to learn of his marriage Saturday to Miss Muriel Perring, of Pendleton. It was an elopement. Dolph was a junior in the university and Miss Perring a freshman. Dolph received word last week that a fine opportunity awaited him in the Firestone Rubber Co. factory at Akron, Ohio; and he quit college to take advantage of it. No one had any idea of the marriage. Saturday afternoon they slipped over to Vancouver and were married. Miss Perring is a daughter of Geo. E. Perring, of Pendleton, one of the biggest wheat growers in the Inland Empire. Dolph is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, was yell leader at the university and a popular, well liked fellow. His bride is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. They left for Akron Saturday.

In Baker County.
Baker county, right up among the mines, went for total prohibition by over 500 majority. It also went against the repeal of the Sunday law by 78 majority.

Agt. the Pendleton Normal.
Eastern Oregon towns were expected to stand in with Pendleton on the normal school question; but the returns show the opposite. In Baker county the vote was 1628 for and 3520 against. And other counties there also went against it. Weston was undoubtedly the great cause, its fight being effective. The bill has been beaten though Portland came near pulling it thru with a good majority for it.
