WILSON'S LIFE.

Thomas Woodrow Wilson was born at Staunton, Va., Dec. 28, 1856, the son of Rev. Joseph R. and Jessie Woodrow Wilson. His ancestry was Scotch-Irish on both sides. At two years his parent took him to Augusta, Ga., where he spent his early boyhood and entered school.

In 1879 the Wilsons moved to Columbia where his father became minister of the Presbyterian church. "Tommy" continued his schooling here until 1873, when he entered Davidson (S. C.) college. In 1874 the family moved again to Wilmington, N. C., the future president with them. The next year he entered Princeton university, being graduated in 1879 after taking honors as a debater and a writer on political economy. It was while in Princeton that Wilson laid the foundation for his broad knowledge of economics and international law that later landed him in the presidency.

After taking a year's law course at the University of Virginia, Wilson started practicing law at Atlanta in 1881. In 1883 he entered John Hopkins university for a two years' course in history and political economy.

In 1885 at Savannah Woodrow Wilson (he now had dropped the Thomases) married Miss Ellen Louise Axson, whose father, like his own, was a Presbyterian clergyman. For three years he taught political economy and history at Bryn Mawr, then for two years at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn.

Then he became a professor of jurisprudence and politics at Princeton, and in his thirteenth year as professor there was elected president of the university in 1902.

In his eight years' service as this university's head, during which he democratized the institution (it had been known as a "club of rich men's sons") Wilson attracted the attention of Colonel George Harvey, noted New York editor, who fathered the Wilson presidential boom.

In 1910 Wilson resigned as Princeton's president, after being over-ruled in a dispute with the trustees. The same year he was elected governor of New Jersey and immediately started a fight which ended in the demolition of the bipartisan machine that had ruled the state and restored popular government.

His governmental exploits in New Jersey led Wilson's nomination for the presidency by the democrats in 1912, after a hard fight, and his subsequent election.

Mrs. Wilson's death in 1914, when the country was facing a grave international crisis, cast a pall of sorrow over the entire nation.

On December 18, 1915, the president married Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, widow of a well known Washington business man.

His renomination was never questioned and the record made in his first four years in the white house brought about his re-election at the polls.

GREAT OUTLOOK.

The Democrat is confident that the Northwest is on the even of the greatest lumber industry in the history of the business, one that shall rival the steel trade in importance. Recently there was a big conference of lumber men at Spokane, at which some of the leading men declared that within ten years the Pacific manufacturers would be called upon to produce one-half of the lumber output of the United States against a present production of one-sixth of the nation's cut.

This was the most startling information developed from the conference on the questions of present and future production and consumption. As the conference became an informal discussion of inside facts in the industry, the visitors brought the Western manufacturers face to face with the fact that the great Southern and Middle Western timber areas will not continue to meet the demands at the present proportion; that the Northwest and West Coast mills will see a constant increase in volume of business; that in meeting 50 per cent of the consumption ten years hence the Western mills will be compelled to maintain an output far above 50 per cent of the present consumption.

Bets were made that Oregon would go 10,000 for Hughes. Perhaps it would if Mrs. Hanly had kept out of the game.

And Mr. Roosevelt had been transformed into a clam.

And Mr. Fairbanks thawed out.

And Mr. Hughes had remained silent.

Giving Mrs. Hanly a silver cup is one of the jokes worthy of a place beside Happy Hooligan.

There should be no competition among the churches; but cooperation.

When selfishness is eliminated from church work there will be a transformation.

Not more members is wanted as much as better members.

It takes more than belonging to a church to make a Christian.

From a Hughes Paper.

The Loser's Wail.

Ahead there lies a dismal waste O gloomy, dreary years, Of lack of work and lack of food, Bloodshot with many fears. Of panic, drouth and crying need, Of hard times, grief and sin; The country's goin' to the dogs— The democrats are in.

The Winner's Joy.

Ahead there lies a joyful time Of happy, merry years; All kinds of work, all kinds of food, New hope to banish fears, Of wages high to dispel need,

Of good times, lack of sin, Prosperity is here for all— The democrats are in.

It Seems to Us.

Somehow we cannot help but think, Despite the loser's wail, We'll find a way to eat each day And keep outside of jail. It may be that things don't quite suit, But let's buck up and grin And make things hum despite the fact The democrats are in.

A Benton county man bet his potato crop on Hughes and lost. Evidently had been reading just the Oregonian.
