OREGON-O. A. C. GAME WILL ATTRACT THOUSANDS

University of Oregon Chosen to Play Pennsylvania at Pasadena on Jan. 1.

All eyes are turned towards the Oregon-O. A. C. football game which will be played at Corvallis Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. It will be the last chance to see the mighty Oregon team in action this year—unless one goes to Portland on Thanksgiving day when a game will be played with Multnomah, or to Pasadena, Calif., when they play the University of Pennsylvania on New Year's Day.

The University of Oregon was selected yesterday by the football committee of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, as the team to represent the west in the big clash with the Pennsylvania team. The Oregon faculty will no doubt allow the team to accept the invitation, for it means much to the state from an advertising standpoint. And Oregon has a chance to win the game, moreover. Last year on the same field W. S. C. beat the powerful Brown team from Providence, R. I., 14 to 0, and did it handily. The mighty negro, Pollard, who has been the mainstay of Brown in defeating Yale, Harvard and other teams this year, was so badly snowed under that he never reached the line of scrimmage. It is really unfortunate that Oregon cannot meet Brown or Pittsburgh, the two undefeated champions of the east this year. But it will be some game at that.

This game lends all the more interest to the coming fray with O. A. C. Saturday. Can the Aggies hold Oregon? Time and again in the past the two teams have met when one or the other was the underdog and one was slated to win hands down. But they haven't always done it. In 1907 Coach Morcross, who came out from Michigan, had a green bunch of players with Tubby Wolf and one or two other stars. Oregon had Pinkham, Moores, Clark, Mullen, Zacharias, Kuykendall and other stars. They were slated to win. But in spite of the fact that they drove the aggies all over the field, only to lose the ball on a fumble or downs and Wolf would boot it back out of danger. O. A. C. won by the score of 4 to 0. Wolfe kicked a beautiful field goal from the side of the field and won the game.

So one never can tell. Oregon ought to beat O. A. C. as badly as Washington did—35 to 0. But no one expects them to. With seven star Freshmen out of the game Coach Pipal has had to build up a new machine. Two weeks have passed since the Washington game and he has had plenty of time to strengthen his defense. Any team that could hold Washington to one touchdown for three quarters has a good defense. Washington scored four in the last period, two on flukes.

Saturday is homecoming day at O. A. C. and will attract hundreds of old students back to the campus. The stores in Corvallis will close during the game, and the entire student body and hundreds of town people will come down from Eugene in special trains. Specials will also be run from Portland. The crowd, which may number from 8,000 to 10,000 people will and unique combining of their talents, as in this program, has met with a wonderful success.

There are vocal duets, solos, impromptu trombone solos and piano pieces, all hung together by a framework in the form of a conversational sketch.

The variety of the whole arrangement is apparent because the two artists are remarkably versatile. But this framework connects everything, and the various parts introduced are not broken up. There is just enough dia logue running all through so that each number runs naturally into the other. Mr. Regnier was the trombone soloist of a Chautauque concert company first, and later he was made a member of one of the leading male quartets doing Chautauque work. In this he was tenor, trombonist, reader and all round entertainer.

Mrs. Gibson, mother of Mrs. P. A. Young, left this afternoon for Pittsburg, Penn., called there by a dispatch telling of the death of a brother-in-law. She expects to spend the winter in Pittsburg with relatives, having several there.

Proved Up on Homestead—

John Suttle, aged about 33, who has been living for the past five years on the brink of Hurricane Deck, above Cascadia, today made final proof on his homestead. Suttle has held onto his claim tenaciously, and it is said that he doesn't own much now that he has title to it. It is almost inaccessible, only a horse trail leading up to it. He is married and has a wife up there in the wilds. A party calling there last year stated that Mrs. Suttle had not been off of the claim since she was married. The house is located so that the valley below can be clearly seen. The place is described as the S. E. quarter of Sec. 20, Tp. 13, S. R. 3 E.

Congressman Hawley—

Congressman W. C. Hawley will address the students of the University of Oregon on Wednesday forenoon, November 22, on "The Business of Congress," and in the afternoon will discuss with the faculty some of the problems of national budget making.

FAMOUS PLAYERS STARR ANN PENNINGTON.

Little Broadway Favorite is Exquisite in "Susie Snowflake."

It is an acknowledged fact that it is not the New Yorker himself who keeps the many theatres filled to overflowing in the great metropolis, but the visitors from all over the United States, whose first thought after unpacking their bags is to "see a show." For that reason the name of little Ann Pennington, the diminutive star of the Ziegfeld "Follies," is known in every city, town and hamlet in the country, although she has not been off Broadway for three years.

Therefore the news that Miss Pennington is making her screen debut in the Famous Players production, "Susie Snowflake," will be met with a thrill of expectancy, for Miss Pennington is one of the most delightfully piquant little figures on Broadway.

and she has for a host of friends by her clever dancing and her real comic ability. She will be remembered also for her remarkable work in "The Red Widow," in which she toured the principal cities a few years ago.

With admirable judgment the Famous Players selected for Miss Pennington's debut a photoplay story which deals with the musical comedy stage, thus giving her an opportunity to transfer to the screen a great deal of the art which has made her famous. As the title of this Paramount attraction at the Globe theatre Wednesday suggests, it is the story of a little actress.

In addition Charlie Chaplin will be seen in "The Count."

ORMI HAWLEY IS SEEN IN FIRST FOX PHOTOPLAY

Ormi Hawley, for five years a featured star in Lubin and other pictures, in "Where Love Leads," a picture directed by Frank C. Griffin, begins her career as a player for William Fox.

Miss Hawley has been cast for her first Fox picture in a comedy-drama of a delightful character that will be an entire novelty on the Fox film program, and will be shown at the Rolfe on Friday.

Miss Hawley is a Massachusetts beauty, who was born in Holyoke, and went from a girl's college directly into one of the better known Boston stock companies. From there she entered the screen world, and in the last five years she has appeared in more than one hundred pictures, attracting nation-wide attention and constantly gaining in screen popularity.

Miss Hawley concluded her arrangements with the Fox organization early one morning and by afternoon she was all ready and in makeup before the camera at the E. K. Lincoln studio, across the river from Fort Lee, N. J., which is being used by the Wm. Fox interests.

Miss Hawley has a number of hobbies. She drives a high-powered roadster, is a good mechanician, loves interior decorating, music, hunting, and dancing, has a clear soprano voice, and swims like a Honolulu beachcomber.
