McMINNVILLE GLEE CLUB GAVE SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

A good sized audience Saturday night enjoyed the program presented by the Glee Club of McMinnville college. A fine lot of singers well trained, they presented a program with plenty of pep and made numerous hits. The closing number, a college skit, was fast and entertaining. A correspondent tells of the concert as follows:

The program was in two parts. Part One consisted of solos, classic and college songs by the Glee Club, and some very fine special features. Mr. H. S. Adams thrilled his audience with his rich, tenor voice, and especially pleasing were his songs of "Old Erin." The exceptional ability of Mr. John McKnight with his violin, won prolonged applause. He played with very fine expression. Since good bass voices are so rare, the audience was delighted with the deep, round tones of Mr. Axel Osterholm, late of Sweden. He was repeatedly encored. The comedians of the evening proved to be Mr. Richard Gray, Mr. Robt. V. Russell and Mr. Bader. Their wit and humor were very refreshing. The program closed with "An Evening with 'The College Grind.'" Mr. Theodore Kratt, manager of the Glee Club, took the leading part. His artistic portrayal of "The College Grind" was unusually good, as he is universally known for his geniality. The whole entertainment showed very clearly the remarkable training they had had, and Mrs. C. C. Potter, who is director of the Music Department at McMinnville College. The audience showed great enthusiasm and appreciation by the spontaneity of their applause. After the concert, a reception was held by the young people of the church.

A delicate subject, that of birth-control to treat in a film, even when the audiences are to be exclusively adult. Properly regarded, of course, it would be considered as legitimate and as important a subject for public propaganda work as say, the purloin, or the prohibition questions; but whether public opinion so regards it at present, it is difficult to say. The National Board is doubtful, and does not give this picture the benefit of the doubt. Nevertheless, the Universal Company takes a stand on the urgency of the question which its production illustrates, and with the approval of many well known men, runs the film before limited audiences at the Rolfe Theatre.

Certain it is that there can be no quarrel with the treatment the film gives to its subject. There is not a trace of sensationalism; there is only enough story to draw attention to the doctrine; which, by the way, is orthodox. The Universal Company's picture is clean, moderate, forceful and interesting. It is well acted and well produced. It will be seen Monday and Tuesday.

Told in film, more forcibly than could be expressed in words, "Where Are My Children" is a startling condemnation of the prevention of child birth, especially the practice of abortion, so common these days, not only in big cities, but in the smaller ones.

The film was run this forenoon, speaking for its educational character. It is presented in an unobjectionable manner, as it passed the board of censors in Portland and elsewhere. The arraignment of an evil practice is given in such a way as to grip one and make the practice hideous in the eyes of the public. It aptly follows the recent lectures on social hygiene. Given without sensuality, the story is one that is bound to have an influence for good wherever seen.

CITY NEWS

Returned From East—
Prof. A. B. Cordley, dean of the O. A. C., passed thru the city Saturday on his way home from Washington, D. C., where he had been to attend a convention of agricultural college instructors, in the interest of the great work they are doing. He left here on election day, after voting, and got back just in time to see his boys sneered with mud by the U. O. 11.

Close to an Hon.—

Frank Ward, of Salem, a former O. A. C. football man, was among those attending the game Saturday. Mr. Ward, a brother of Fred Ward of this city, ran for the state legislature in the recent election, two thousand ahead of his ticket, without a canvass. Salem gave him a tremendous vote, but he lacked in the country.

Here for Trial—

The case of J. R. Cartwright vs. the O. E. Ry. Co., is being argued for the last time today in Judge Gallo-way's court. Present for the trial are Mr. Cartwright and his attorneys, A. C. Woodcock, of Eugene, and J. K. Weatherford, of this city; Geo. H. Kelly, of the O. E. Co., and Attorneys Chas. H. Carey, of Portland, and Hill & Marks, of this city.

Some Turkeys—

Turkey raisers in Douglas county this year have realized about $30,000 from their sale. The average price paid is given as about 25 cents. It is said the sale covers 10,000 turkeys, of an average weight of 12 pounds.

Thanksgiving Services—

The morning Thanksgiving services for next Thursday will be held at 10:30 o'clock in the First Christian and the Evangelical churches. Dr. G.

H. Young, of the Baptist church, will preach the sermon at the former and Rev. Hiram Smith will have charge of the latter in the East End of the city. Thursday evening a social Thanksgiving service will be held at the Baptist church, to which the members and friends of the church are urged to attend.

Scientific Pomologist—

C. E. Schuster, an assistant scientific pomologist in the U. S. Government department of agriculture, left today for Pasadena, Calif., after a visit with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Schuster, of the Evangelical church. He has been at North Yakima several weeks. On reaching Pasadena he will learn where he is to work next, probably somewhere in the east. Recently Mr. Schuster was in a wreck in Washington resulting in the death of the fireman.
