In the Army—
Two Harrisburg boys, Wilbur Kelsey and Derrol Ingram, have joined the army and are no doubt getting their first lessons ere this. The parents of the Ingram boy are making a vigorous protest. He is not yet old enough to join without their consent. Wilbur Kelsey received the consent of his father.—Bulletin.

Fine Christmas Present—
Jack Hammel has returned from Astoria, where he placed a boiler for the Hammond Lumber Co. In fact he returned before Christmas. He says his wife was feeling pretty blue over not finding any Christmas presents for her on the trees up street; but when she went out to the garage the next morning and discovered a brand new Oakland Six, with her name on it, things changed around the Hammel home. It was a Christmas present for her, gotten at the Albany garage, and a good one.

The Newtons—
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newton, of Portland, have been visiting two or three days at the home of Mrs. Newton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Sox.

Jack Cummings Here—
J. A. Cummings, better known in Albany 15 or 20 years ago as Jack, arrived today on a visit with his many former Albany friends. He was in the drug business here for several years, selling to the Woodworth Drug company, a popular business man. He now resides in Los Angeles, where he went after leaving Albany.

Wiedler was elected Worthy Patron, Mrs. Mary Bilyeu, Associate Matron, Mrs. Delphia Hockensmith, Conductress; Mrs. Nellie Coates, Associate Conductress, Lila Van Winkle, Secretary; Mrs. Grace Watson, Treasurer. Three trustees were elected, as follows: Mrs. Annetta Weatherford, Mrs. Carlotta Taylor and Mrs. Lilly Ohling. F. M. Redfield was elected trustee for the building fund.

LOVE'S TRAGEDY ABOUNDS IN OBT-QUOTED PASSAGES

More than any other of Shakespeare's plays, "Romeo and Juliet," the tragedy which William Fox has put into moving pictures, abounds in oft-quoted lines. This was one of the dramatist's earliest works, and it is full of poetic passages which are familiar to everyone.

"There is Romeo's line, for instance, 'He jests at scars that never felt a wound.'"

"The youthful hero says this when he has entered Capulet's garden, to woo his Juliet."

"The balcony scene which follows is full of familiar passages. Juliet, rebelling against the inevitable fate which has made her lover one of the hated house of Mantague, asks, 'O Romeo, Romeo! wherefore art thou Romeo?'"

"Still trying to convince herself that the mere fact that her beloved is a Montague is not sufficient to keep her from loving him, Juliet argues to herself, 'That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet.'"

"At the end of this scene, as the two lovers are saying farewell, Juliet's final words are: 'Good night, good night parting is such sweet sorrow That I shall say good night till it be morrow.'"

"After sentence of banishment has been passed on Romeo, and he has spent his last few moments with Juliet, she breathes the apostrophe to Fortune, which is among the most noted of Shakespeare's lines: 'O Fortune, Fortune! all eyes call thee fickle.'"

"Theda Bara and Harry Hillard have the leading roles in this great play at the Rolfe Friday."

Eugene, have been in the city today, coming here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Harris' brother, R. Norris Morris, this afternoon. Milton Morris, of Eastern Oregon, a cousin, is among others here to attend the funeral. It was held this afternoon at the Christian church, Rev. Morgan preaching the sermon.

One John Hutchins, who came up from California, has a bad case of grippe and fever, and the other, also a stranger, has the fever. Just what the character of his illness is, is hardly known yet.

Pierce Funeral Today—
The funeral of the late Mrs. R. A. Pierce was held from the First Methodist Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. Charles Gibson preached the funeral services. There were many beautiful floral offerings.

Masonic Exercises Tonight—
The exercises commemorating St. John, the evangelist, will be held by the local order this evening. Among the numbers mentioned in yesterday's Democrat, Miss Hazel Hockensmith will be heard in a vocal solo instead of a piano selection. Judge P. R. Kelly will deliver the address of the day.

O. H. LUCK SAYS U. O. WILL BEAT PENNSYLVANIA

Former Albany College Coach in Interview Compliments the Oregon Team.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Luck, of Portland, spent Christmas at the home of Mrs. Luck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McCoy. Mr. Luck is a former coach of Albany College, also of De Pau University before coming here. The Oregonian this morning gives Mr. Luck's version of the coming Penn-U. O. game as follows:

"The University of Oregon will win the football game with the University of Pennsylvania, O. H. Luck, ex-coach of De Pau University, believes. Mr. Luck, who is now a resident of Portland, is familiar with both Eastern and Western football, having coached teams in the Middle West and on the Pacific Coast. A few years ago Mr. Luck coached the football team of Albany College which won the non-conference collegiate championship of the state."

"I saw Oregon play several games this fall," said Mr. Luck, "and no eleven I have ever seen excelled in power of attack and general excellence on defense. In my judgment Pennsylvania has not shown this year the consistent good play that Coach Bezdek's eleven has demonstrated."

Mr. Luck is well acquainted with C. J. Hunt, coach of the Carleton, Minn., eleven this year, who has been signed to coach the University of Washington football team next season. When Mr. Luck coached De Pau's eleven he says, Hunt was a member of the team.

Claude Thompson is in the city from Portland.

REAL COUNTESS IS SEEN IN "AN INTERNATIONAL MARRIAGE"

"An International Marriage" is an almost everyday newspaper headline. The prominence given the event and the participants shows it is a subject of much interest to the public.

What their actual marriage life is like is usually a point of ignorance with most people. The supposition being that they live happy every after.

The best possible insight into the true conditions—so different from American home life—is in the Morosco-Paramount photoplay "An International Marriage" starring Rita Jolivet.

Mlle. Jolivet is thoroughly qualified for the part—being an Italian countess by marriage.

This quality photodrama under the Paramount label is the attraction at the Globe Theatre tonight.

"An International Marriage" is probably the last photoplay that Rita Jolivet, who has become the Countess Cippico, will make.

Count Cippico, who is a noted horseman, only allowed the Countess to make this Morosco-Paramount production that is coming to the Globe Theatre, because the contract was signed before their marriage.

ROBBED BANK (By United Press)

Tempe, Okla., Dec. 27.—Bandits blew the safe of the bank at Faxon and escaped with $3,000 booty.
