WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3,

OLDEST NATIVE

Being the oldest white person born in the Northwest is an honor worthy of consideration. This is enjoyed by Mrs. Eliza Spaulding Warren, with C. H. Walker, of this city, as the second oldest, and the oldest white man, Mrs. Spaulding in a letter to the Brownsville Times, writes as follows: I was born in this great western country. My father and mother and Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding were missionaries to the Nez Perce Indians, and crossed the plains and Rocky Mountains in company with Dr. Whitman and wife, in 1836. My father and mother settled among the Nez Perces. There is where I was born, at Lapwai, Oregon Ter., at that time, now Idaho, in the year 1837, Nov. 15, and Dr. Whitman had a little girl baby that was a few months older than I was, but when she was two years old she was drowned; that of course left me the oldest white child living that was born in this country. I feel sorry for any one that will allow things to puff them up, but I will say this, that I am glad that I am still spared to see how this great Western country has developed in everything all my life. I saw Portland when there was but one log-house; now see the great cities everywhere, and schools and churches. I am proud of our grand country; I am proud of the people who have made this country what it is. I can say that I am glad that I am one among a very few now that are left, who have helped to make this country what it is, and I bow my head with reverence to the old Pioneer. With respect to yourself and The Times, Sincerely Yours, Mrs. Eliza Spaulding Warren.

CONTRIBUTED CLUES

Seven dogs were poisoned in North Albany recently. Several bereaved families are now mourning for their pets and refusing to be comforted. Naturally the authorities are looking for the perpetrator of this crime. We can help them a little in their task. In fact, if they will follow our directions we believe they can light upon the miscreant in a few hours. These are the signs by which he may be known. His eyes are heavy with lost sleep. His face is haggard for the same reason. His hands tremble because his nerves have been wrecked. His digestion is gone. His shoulders are bent and his knees shake. It may be a case in which these woes have been brought upon him by howling dogs at night. At least there have been such instances. By following these indications the North Albany protectors of dogs can easily arrest the criminal and we hope when they get him into their clutches they will show him no mercy. If the dogs have already nearly killed him, let the law finish the job. Meanwhile, it is a cruel hand that will deliberately administer poison to a dog, one of man's most faithful friends.

NOTHING IN IT

Some papers are extremely fond of intimating that when the war is over this nation will return to the free soup days. Such drivel as that is what drives money into hiding and it is but partisan coughing out of season.—Woodburn Independent. And one of Oregon's biggest newspapers sings lead in this awful association. The country is the most prosperous in its history, and the Oregonian can't deny it so it pouts because Wilson was elected, and warns everybody to look out after the war is over. But that paper is ever more partisan than progressive.—Benton Courier.

INSFITS

Oregon's up-to-date educational system was thoroughly vindicated at Pasadena.

The West certainly gave the east a good drubbing.

It wasn't the first time. We did it last January at Pasadena. Also on the 7th of November.

There is a pep in the W. not in the East.

W. S. U'Ren has been taking the initiative by moving a whole court house over at Colver, not waiting for the law to take its course.

This is the spirit of the age. Down in Arizona two men are trying to fill the office of Governor.

When a man is beaten he should step down and out, regardless of the rottenness of the politics around him.

Tom Lawson is always calling other people black.

If any one really gained by the early leak of the president's note it is to be hoped the person who turned the faucet is shown up to the limit.

Several years ago Tom did some attacking of frenzied financiers, and the more he attacked the more money they seemed to make. Rockefeller, Archbold and the other fellows just revelled in lucre afterwards.

Frenzies have become so common they no longer disturb people.

At Baker there is indignation over a man who went to church to pray and left his horse out in the bitter cold; that man had better see some one "before the fire."

A New Year's Resolution To be contented, but not satisfied; to be a credit to the work I am doing and to make that work a credit to me; to greet each day with a smile of confidence and end it with one of satisfaction; to work heartily, to play freely, and to deal squarely with my God, my fellow men, and with myself.—this is my New Year's resolution.—Kellogg

LAWYER HUGHES NOW

Charles Evans Hughes Rejoins Old Law Firm in New York Today

New York, Jan. 2.—(By United Press)—Back at the flat top desk he occupied when he made his big reputation in the insurance investigation cases years ago, long before he was even governor, Charles Evans Hughes today once more took up the practice of law.

Since he left the desk and the old office at 96 Broadway Mr. Hughes has been Governor of New York, Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Republican candidate for President of the United States. He is, nevertheless, understood to be glad to get back into private practice. His personal fortunes are said to have suffered as a result of his office-holding.

ARIZONA'S TWO GOVERNORS

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 2.—Arizona has two governors, two executive offices and will soon have two staffs of officials. This situation will continue until Thursday, for the attorneys of Governor-Elect Campbell and Hunt have reached an agreement for an application to the Supreme Court preparatory to a writ to oust Hunt which will not be made before Thursday.

Love and Hate—

Bertha Kalich will appear in a new William Fox photoplay, "Love and Hate," which opens at the Rolfe Theatre on Friday for a run of two days. James B. Vincent directed the picture, and Stuart Holmes, Madeleine Le Nard, and Kenneth Hunter are in the supporting cast.

The story tells how a woman fights off the love of a man who tries to break up the happiness of her home. When the intruder finally succeeds in causing the husband to divorce his wife, the woman goes to his apartments and, repelling his forced attentions, shoots him. Then the husband realizes the trickery that had been played on him, and the family is once more reunited.
