SATURDAY NIGHT THOUGHTS

Mentioning the European war Saturday nights in these thoughts has become a wearisome matter, and we certainly hope to see the time come when it can be stopped; but we either have to do an or stop these thoughts, and it is not an easy thing to decide what is the least of two evils.

Peace talk continues to be merely talk, with a jellyfish vertebrae. It hasn't enough backbone to stand alone yet. Like a disbrag it simply flops around, spattering things up. And it will be that way for some time; but lillies grow in slime, and some day out of this awful mud will come a flower, and from among the buzzards of Europe, will fly out a dove; and there will be peace, and may it be the end of the war. It probably won't be; but we would be deprived to wish for anything else.

In this country the big question has been one of leakage of news in reference to the issuing of a note by the President to the European powers suggesting that it is time for peace, something that caused a few fortunes to be made by Wall Street gamblers. The whole affair simply speaks for the peanut politics of the age. The effort is one merely to throw mud. When the election ended it was hoped that mud throwing had stopped; but some ornery congressmen, with paws in their brains, thought it an opportunity to make a hit, and so launched out into the abyss of darkness, and already are stranded, covered with slime.

When Davy Crocker said: "Be sure you are right and then go ahead," he knew what he was saying.

Again the country has been afflicted with Harry Thaw, who for several years has been almost constantly in the limelight in different forms. Killing a man, perhaps justified in doing so, he fought insanity charges for years, finally winning out, only to follow a few months' obscurity by an act of depravity that makes it plain that his mind is unbalanced, and that the man is non compos mentis. The public will be glad to see the following words in connection with the Thaw story: THE END.

A long time friend of the Misfit Man died at Corvallis this week, and a ray of sunshine went out of the world. The man was one whom to meet meant a pleasant experience, for he was always genial, and just as much so to the laboring man as to the man of wealth. He had a good word, did "Jimmy" Nolan, for all, and always cast about him a spirit of optimism that was farreaching.

The best time in the world to throw bouquets is during a man's life, and there ought to be expression of appreciation among all of us while we are in a condition to understand and appreciate; but if that is past then let us show our last respect with many flowers and with every dollar spent give another for the poor.

WHY PAY HIGH PRICE

It takes the best and highest priced flour and other good material to make a wholly nourishing loaf of bread. Cheap flour and inferior material makes a very inferior loaf of bread.

The nourishing, fluffy kind you get at the Albany Bakery 6 for 25c. We deliver to any part of the town.

Why pay high price for flour, when you can buy bread cheaper from us—made in Albany?

MISFITS

Some day it will be learned that Thaw is really insane.

Has had enough to make a sphynx insane.

Allies say time is not ripe for peace. On the contrary it is overripe, in fact rotten.

The legislature took a small recess, too short to do much good. It should have been for four years.

Oregon needs an anti-lobbying law, with bayonets in it.

Never was the abuse more fiercely carried on than just now.

A Corvallis girl was not accustomed to the saying of grace. One night she went for supper with the next-door neighbors.

"Daddy," said she the next morning, "what was that that Mr. Smith read off the platter?"

Another One

Corvallis G-T.
Despairing of attracting any attention in the regular way, Albany has imported 20 skunks from Pennsylvania to cross breed and improve the quality of her own native skunks.

A Physicianless Town

Eugene Guard:
Ray Goodrich, vice-president of the First National bank of Eugene, accompanied by his wife, left for Rochester, Minn., on the 1:50 train this afternoon. While in fairly good health, Mr. Goodrich things it advisable to consult a physician.

Too Much Work Already

An Indiana preacher startled his flock the other day with a most extraordinary announcement. The congregation had thought to please and surprise him by raising his salary from $700 to $800, and when they brought the joyful news to the preacher, he said: "My dear brethren I cannot accept it. I have all I can do to collect the $700."—Preston, (La.) Times.

Rev. J. H. Talbot, an M. E. minister, offered the opening prayer for the senate one morning. After six minutes the sergeant at arms pulled his coat tail and whispered: "You have gone far enough to suit these fellows. Better call a halt." He halted.

Most public prayers are too long. Few of them are petitions to God, merely talks to the audience, covering everything under the sun, and telling God numerous things he never knew before.

A business man confines his business to one thing at a time; but the minister seems to think it is his duty to pray for everything thinkable, making his prayer of no value at all.
