HEARTLESS WOMAN'S PLOTS BRING MISERY IN THE END

The schemes and plots of a woman without heart are portrayed in William Fox's newest photoplay, "Jealousy," in which Valeska Suratt plays the leading role, at the Rolfe tonight. It is the story of a discontented woman, who tries to find happiness by forcing men to love her; but she is crushed and helpless in the end.

Anne Baxter (Miss Suratt) marries Peter Martin (Walter Law) against her will. Later she finds that the man she had loved, Roland Carney (Curtis Benton) is living happily with his own wife, Agnes (Charline Mayfield), and Anne decides to break up the peace and quiet of their home. She tries first to make Roland suspicious of his wife, but her efforts in this direction meet with failure. Her direct attack on Roland's own heart, meets with more success. She gives him a tip on the stock market, and he follows it. But Peter has learned what his wife is doing, and he punishes her and Carney at the same time by ruining Carney.

In the end, Martin goes to Anne and tells her that he has known her tactics from the beginning. He leaves the house, as Anne falls senseless to the floor.

HAYES CASE STILL BEFORE CIRCUIT COURT

The case of E. S. Hayes against J. L. Hayes, et al, is still in progress today. The plaintiffs have had the stand up to today noon, when E. S. Hayes finished his testimony. The testimony for the defense then started.

In the case of Stowell Dawson vs. Edna Dawson, decree was granted by default. One or two other cases of minor importance were up today on motions.

Why Sheriff Smith— Evidently there is one man in the world who thinks that Vanny Smith is a perpetual officeholder. A Los Angeles man writes to "Sheriff D. S. Smith" to pay his taxes for 1916. He is not informed that the former sheriff has not held the office for over four years.

Killed a Bobcat— F. W. Weisner, of Lebanon, today collected $2 bounty on a bobcat hide.

Appointed Appraisers— W. D. Merrill, L. H. Fish and A. J. Hodges were today appointed appraisers of the estate of W. A. Hoover, deceased.

A. L. Norman and son, of Cedar Flat, northeast of Lebanon, are in the city today on business.

DEMOCRAT GETS LETTER FULL OF SOCIAL SPICE

The Democrat has received a letter from Lebanon about some things this paper knows nothing about; but the letter is so full of spice that it is published with the names eliminated, just to show what a newspaper runs up against:

Lebanon Ore, Jan. 16th, 1916 I would like to say to the one who knew so much about the affairs of the Woman who lives at _____ at _____.

That if that was all he knew he did not know much.

For he was telling a lie when he said she was "compelled to eat popcorn and apples to keep from starving and I can prove it if I had as much wealth lying around me as she claims to have I would not think of asking A Benevolent Society for aid and I wouldn't expect to get it if I did.

A Seal skin cape worth one hundred and fifty dollars A Gold watch worth thirty dollars A pair of Diamond earrings worth one hundred and fifty dollars A house and two lots valued at four thousand dollars a bunch of Gold nuggets besides other valuables. These are the property of Mrs. _____ St.

I don't know what else I should call her for she gets Mail under three different names. Mrs. _____ And Mrs. _____ So if Mr. or Mrs. _____ As the case may be who knows it all will learn what he or she doesn't know they will find out that there is something to learn yet.

Signed Mr. _____, Lebanon Ore.

CITY NEWS

Drunk Fined $10— Tom Hawes was arrested last night by Officer Chas. McKey and this morning was fined $10 and costs by Police Judge L. G. Lewelling. In lieu of the cash, which was spent for white mule, he went to jail for five days, during which time he will have time to sober up.

Preparedness Feature— H. H. Brownell, of the Universal Film Co., was in the city yesterday and booked with the Globe Theatre for Feb. 19 and 20 the Blue Bird special feature, "Eagle's Wings," a five-reel preparedness feature. Herbert Rawlinson plays the leading role. The play takes the audience through arsenals, ammunition factories, etc., and is educational as well as interesting. Of course there is a love story through the play.

Sold Big Farm— John Jacobs yesterday closed a deal with M. M. Kennel, who bought Jacob's 198-acre farm near this city. The price paid was $21,000. Jacobs will take a trip to Holland to visit his native land and return in the fall and buy another place.

Stealing Rides— On account of many robberies committed in the Willamette Valley this winter, the railroads have issued an edict against hoboes stealing rides on trains. For some time it has been customary to deal more or less leniently with them. But the police believe that many criminally inclined prowlers mingle with ride-stealing tramps after committing some offense, and this makes escape easy for them.

Misadventures Visit— H. T. and S. T. Hoffman, of Trenton, Mo., stopped off in the city yesterday and visited during the day with W. B. Stevens.

Cousins of Novelist— This morning R. R. Myers, of Sheffield, and D. W. Rumbough, of Albany, met in the office of County Judge D. B. McKnight. During the conversation the fact was brought out that both are first cousins of Gene Stratton Porter, the well known novelist. The book, "Laddie" is a sort of a historical sketch of the family. They are also distantly related to vice-president Thomas Marshall through the Strattons, although the connection is rather remote.

At Stayton— Mrs. Ficklin went to Stayton from here the first of the week after visiting a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Bilyeu. She and her son Lyle are moving to that place from Albany, and the latter will help his brother Fred in the Stayton laundry. —Sci. News.

Thrust Upon Him— Some people are born to greatness while others have greatness thrust upon them. Mike Bilyeu is of the last named variety. The county court appointed him road supervisor when he said he did not want it—in fact, said he would not have it. But he will serve just the same. —Sci. Tribune.

Preaches in Oakland— Dr. Wallace Howe Lee, president of Albany College, left last night for Oakland, Calif., where he has been invited to preach Sunday in the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Lee will also look after college interests while in the south.

Delinquent Tax List— Sheriff Bodine is preparing the delinquent tax list for 1915 taxes which will be given to the official county papers Saturday for publication. The list will be printed Feb. 5 and any delinquent property owner can keep his name from appearing in print by paying up before that date. The delinquent tax list publication business is causing considerable discussion in the legislature at present.

Mr. Potts Funeral— The funeral of F. M. Potts was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, at the Christian church, Rev. Morgan preaching the sermon.

Jim. Noe Bah— The Democrat in its Chinese New Year item referred to Bah as being the only old-time Celestial here. It should have been Jim. Bah left here several years ago and Jim is the pioneer Celestial of the city.

Weather Report— Yesterday's temperature ranged between 33 and 55 degrees. The river fell to 3.3 feet.

Attending Auto Show— L. B. Luper and son Delmer, of Tangent, accompanied A. J. Rousseau, of the local Overland-Hudson agency, to Portland this afternoon in a big Hudson "Six." They will attend the automobile show which opens in that city today.

No Special Sales Here

The Golden Rule never has special sales. Why? Because our goods are marked right in the first place. In the second place our buying power eliminates the knife or in other words the price of merchandise cut in half. If you will only stop and think the outlandish prices quoted by some merchants such as $50.00 garment for $18.50. Cut for the third time, etc. It sounds fishy, don't it? If you are going to spend your hard-earned dollars spend them where you absolutely know you get your money's worth. Our buying power and one price to everybody eliminates the fear of getting stung. It's in the Buying.

WRONG BILL ANNOUNCED; DE WOLF HOPPER TONIGHT

The wrong bill was announced in last night's Democrat in the Globe Theatre advertisement. Instead of Douglas Fairbanks in "The Half-Breed," the show tonight includes DeWolf Hopper in "Stranded." Hopper and Fairbanks are equals in their own line of comedy and either one makes a tiptop bill. Hopper is the older actor and has won laurels on the legitimate stage for years. Fairbanks is a newer star of the recent past and has had Broadway by the heels in both legitimate and movies. He is athletic, clever and has an infectious smile that melts right into the audience.

Instead of today, Fairbanks will be the attraction for next Friday and Saturday. Just another week of anticipation.

With DeWolf Hopper tonight is pretty little 18-year-old Bessie Love, one of the daintiest and most clever little actresses before the screen today. The play is good and worthy of attendance.

The comedy feature includes William Collier, another national favorite, in "Never Again." It's a laugh maker.

WHEN answering classified ads, please mention the Democrat.
