Established in 1865. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, BRYAN AND PEACE

Commoner— Every citizen in the nation should offer a prayer of thanksgiving for the step which the President has taken in the direction of peace. He has done exactly the right thing in asking the belligerent nations to state the terms upon which they are willing for the war to end. He does not attempt to outline terms—that is not his business. He simply assures that the nations at war know what they are fighting about—will they deny that they know? He also assures that the ends for which they fight are public ends—ends which they have no reason to conceal. Will they deny that they fight for public ends? They dare not say that they are actuated by a SECRET PURPOSE in the unprecedented slaughter in which they are engaged.

If they know what they are fighting for and have nothing to conceal, they can easily respond to the President's very reasonable request, and then the world will know which side is to blame for the continuation of the war—and responsibility for its continuation of this war is even more grave than responsibility for its beginning, because no one could have known in advance what all now know of the unspeakable cruelties and of the unbearable burden it casts upon this and future generations. Let us hope that the President's appeal is the beginning of the end of this horrible nightmare which constitutes such an awful indictment against Christian civilization.

Those who hope for progress toward a higher civilization should lose no time in warning their senators and congressmen against the proposed return to barbarism now urged by some of the professional soldiers of the nation, who, securely seated on the backs of the people and drawing comfortable salaries for life, are seeking to commit the nation to false standards of honor and to turn the thoughts of its youth from peace to war.

Universal military training is entirely out of harmony with the history and aspirations of the American people. To advocate it as a peace measure would be like teaching young men to drink intoxicating liquor on the theory that it would advance the cause of temperance.

Universal military training is impossible without the cultivation of a military spirit, and the military spirit leads to war; it is the spirit that has involved Europe in the present war. The poison of militarism has been smuggled into this country and is being administered in deadly doses to such as will submit themselves to its influence. Even ministers, under its pernicious power, have gone about bellowing for war and crucifying a-fresh the Master who came into the world to substitute the philosophy of love for the philosophy of force and to call all men into an universal brotherhood.

W. J. BRYAN.

STUFFING NOT EDUCATION

According to President Henry Suzzallo of the Washington University, in an address before the Oregon teachers recently, the tendency of the modern school is to produce a mental graveyard. "You fill the child with detailed facts and leave him an intellectual corpse," Doctor Suzzallo told the teachers. "It is better that he be given just a little knowledge rather than so many facts. Fit the boy to think, that's the most important education you can give him."

If there are teachers in Albany who believe stuffing makes an education they should attempt to digest the remarks of the Washington president. It has been reported that some practice it.

GOOD SLOGAN

The policy of Roseburg's new Commercial club—we say new, because the club is practically starting from the ground up—will be to TELL THE TRUTH. Any organization—or private business—that has this motto for its slogan is bound to succeed. Telling the truth is a mighty fine virtue and to apply the phrase to Commercial club work is getting balanced on the proper foundation from the start.—News.

This is an excellent policy for people generally, in business as well as socially. The rascal who seeks to get business by lying, in the long run will get disaster.

WANTS

The Salem Journal says that Charlie Chaplin is simply a simpering, driving specimen of unadulterated idocy.

As a matter of fact Chaplin is not an idiot in his acting, as foolish as it is. It takes genius to conceive and carry out Chaplin's foolishness as silly as some of it is.

It has the merit of being a change, and different.

It helps take one out of a channel; but if he actually gets $600,000 a year for his work it is too much. Divide it by a hundred and it would about fit.

The Journal also compares Billy Sunday to Chaplin, and calls him a psychological mystery, and wonders who any should want to hear and see him.

Billy Sunday is one of the world's greatest forces for good. He is not a curiosity; but a man with a great brain and heart. If he is clownish it has nails in it.

He uses slang, but it takes slang sometimes to whack the devil the way he deserves.

Sunday gets results because he is able to interest. One never goes to sleep at a Sunday meeting.

A man is often best known by his enemies. Study who are Sunday's.

Most people like to read Walt Mason because he is odd and has a style all his own. Back of it, as in the case of Sunday there is a solid sense that captivates.

Here is a good sample of Mason's good nature:

Domestics. We've had about a thousand maids, who worked for us for wages; they cleaned the floors and windows shades, and cooked, by easy stages. And ever and anon they'd quit: their time had come to marry; and Grace would wed the smiling Kit, and Jane would wed the Harry. And I felt sorry for the groom, when ever there was a wedding; when matrimony lost its bloom, he'd find some rocky sledding. Of all the thousand girls we've hired, not one was truly saving; economy would make them tired, and sometimes set them raving. It was the same with Beryl Maud, with Susan and with Sally; they'd roll things up in a wad, and throw them in the alley. The wasted succotash and steak, as good as you have tasted; they wasted pudding, pie and cake, and all that could be wasted.

They wasted soap, they wasted soap, and did it all with jesting, and didn't seem to care a whoop for wasting or protesting. So when they go away to wed, I weep for those they marry, for Clarence, William, Stephen, Fred Adolphus, James and Harry.

GLYCERINE AND BARK PREVENT APPENDICITIS

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-ika, astonishes Albany people. Because Adler-ika acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel. ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising foul matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-ika is astonishing. The Woodworth Drug Co.

O. A. C. WOOD BIDS

The Oregon Agricultural College requests bids for the furnishing of all or any part of the following wood supply.

1500 cords of Fir wanted and bids requested on 3500 cords of Fir, additional; 80 to 100 cords of Oak; 30 to 50 cords of Ash.

Coarse, split, sound wood only required and in four foot lengths (sawed ends preferred).

Oak not less than four inches in diameter and when over ten inches, split.

Fir to be large and to be cut from trees not less than eight inches in diameter.

Delivery to be made and piled in ricks in the wood yard on College Campus before October 1, 1917.

Please describe wood in bid, stating first or second growth, etc.

The College reserves the right to accept any part of the bids submitted and to reject any or all bids.

Sealed bids should be submitted and plainly marked on envelope, "Wood Bids."

These will be opened in public in College Business Office at 4 p. m., Monday, February 5, 1917.
