The Devil Gets An Awful Wallop in First Round of Sunday's Campaign.

New York, Feb. 13.—(By United Press)—The devil got an awful wallop in the first round of the Billy Sunday preliminary campaign here today. When the Old Boy picked up his spiked tail and his pitchfork and started out from Broadway on his daily round he found prayer meetings going on in every block that houses Gotham's twelve million souls. Beginning today these "cottage prayer meetings" will be held twice a week until Sunday's arrival April 1. One of the residences opened for the neighborhood prayer meetings in the Plaza section today was that of John D. Rockefeller, jr. Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller both are deeply interested in the success of the Sunday campaign. The city has been divided into twenty sections and "prayer blocks" have been systematically organized north boundary of city for the salvation of "backslidden" Christians.

From Corvallis—
Mrs. B. C. Irvine and son, of Corvallis, came over last evening for a visit with Mrs. Irvine's parents, near here, Mr. and Mrs. John Winkley.

PASSED HOUSE

By Childs—Increasing salary of state printer from $1800 a year to $2400 a year.

FAMOUS COWBOY WILL BE SEEN HERE FRIDAY

The world's most famous cowboy and the hero of the "Buck Parvin" series of photoplays, Art Acord, appears as a William Fox player for the first time in "The Battle of Life," at the Rolfe Friday.

The man who holds championships in almost everything in which a cowboy competes is at work in one of the Fox studios in New Jersey, playing opposite Gladys Cooburn in the latter's first photoplay for any producer.

Mr. Acord has won parhernalia enough in various competitions through the West, to stock a caravan load. In "The Stampede" held at Sheephead Bay last August, he took six firsts and one second out of the eight events in which he was entered. His prizes totaled four belts, a loving cup, and $1800.

Mr. Acord's wonderful ability with the lariat, his feats in "bulldozing," broncho-busting and trick riding, combined with a splendid personality, earned him a moving picture engagement with the Selig company in 1910.

In 1911 he was with Bison; 1912 with Universal; 1914, with Bosworth in supporting Elsie Janis and Fritz Scheff; and in 1915, with American as "Buck Parvin."

In the years in which he worked in the film world, the "dare-devil of the West," as he has been called, won 42 hand-carved saddles, 36 silver-mounted bridles, enough revolvers to supply a shooting gallery, 26 pairs of chaps and silver spurs, hats and belts by the dozens.

In 1912, Acord won the world's championship for broncho-busting when he broke "Old Steamboat" the maniac of the horse-world, a nightmare even to hardened cowboys. This was at Cheyenne. Acord fought the horse to a standstill and tamed the vicious brute in exactly three and a half minutes.

"Art" has all the characteristics of the genuine cowboy," one writer has said of him: "the slowness of speech and unconscious droolery, the easy, graceful walk, the gentlemanly seriousness.

"His type is passing rapidly, and anyone who is able to preserve it on the screen is contributing in no mean degree to native art."

Mr. Acord hails from Oklahoma. He was born in Stillwater, Okla., in 1880. He did his first professional stunts with the "Dick Stanley Wild West Show" in 1910. The next year he was with Buffalo Bill, and second to the world's champion at the Penitentiary, Cheyenne and Salt Lake City round-ups.

The new Fox photoplayer can act a "straight" part as well as he can a toothpick at 50 yards with a three-foot rope, or words to that effect.

Acord, in last analysis, is a cowboy actor and not an actor cowboy.

There's a distinction with a big big difference.

GOLD FOOTBALLS

Thirteen Members of the U. O. Team to Be Specially Honored Soon

Register:

Real gold footballs of diminutive size have been ordered by the student council of the University for the 13 Oregon men who won their letter in football last year. A gold football also has been ordered for Hugo Bezddek, coach, and William Hayward, trainer.

The gold footballs will be about two and one-half inches long and about half as wide. They will be hollow and fitted for wearing as watch charms.

This is the first time in the history of the University that such unique tribute has been shown to a football team. It is considered deserving because Oregon went through the 1916 season without a defeat and on New Year's day at Pasadena humbled the University of Pennsylvania eleven by a 14 to 0 score in the great gridiron battle of East versus West.

The gold footballs are expected to be presented at the meeting of the student body March 14. The men who will receive the emblems are: Captain John Beckett, Clifford Mitchell, William Snyder, Jake Risley, Sterling Spellman, Kenneth Bartlett, Lloyd Tegart, Shy Huntington, Dr. Victor Montiech, Johnny Parsons, Hollis Huntington, Glenn Dudley and Basil Williams.

DR. CITY EDITOR SLAPS JEFFERSON-SALEM ROAD

Says It Is a Disgrace and Officials Permitting It Should Be Recalled.

Salem Journal:

"Motorists who desire to travel between Salem and Albany during the rainy season had better ship their cars or take a boat," declared E. E. Brodie, publisher of the Morning Enterprise, of Oregon City, this morning. Mr. Brodie came down from Eugene Sunday night with his wife and son.

"After leaving Jefferson, the highway for six or seven miles is a disgrace," said Mr. Brodie. "The road is soft and in places it is extremely difficult to negotiate. Fresh gravel has just been dumped along the highway, making it soft and muddy. I have a light car, but it sank down into the bottom of the road in places, scraping the pan, and it was all I could do to make headway on low gear."

"In Clackamas county, where I live, we have been criticised over the condition of some of our roads, but we do not permit such thoroughfares on our main traveled highways, as you have here in Marion in the stretches referred to. Farmers who live along this highway and motorists who are compelled to travel it would be justified in initiating a recall against county officials who permit such a condition to exist. Marion is a large and wealthy county and is deserving of better roads along the Pacific highway than your county judge has provided."

COLUMBIA COUNTY SECURES AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Corvallis, Feb. 13.—D. C. Howard of the Dairy Department of O. A. C. has been appointed County Agricultural Agent for Columbia county and will report for duty at St. Helens about February 15. He will have an office in the courthouse.

Mr. Howard is particularly well-fitted for the position both in practical experience and technical training. He is a native of Marion county and spent the period between the ages of 12 and 21 years on his father's farm near Tigard in Washington county, operating a combined truck and dairy farm and marketing the truck in Portland.

Mr. Howard is 29 years of age, and graduated from the Oregon Agricultural college in June, 1914. Since that time he has had charge of the college dairy herd and 150 acres of land used for feed production. He has also taught some and had charge of experimental work with feeds and feeding. His field work has taken him to nearly all parts of the state and he has judged dairy cattle and products at many fairs and assisted in the organization of cow-testing associations.

Mr. Howard is at present National Chancellor of Gamma Sigma Delta, a National Agricultural Fraternity. Mrs. Howard is a student in the Department of Home Economics at O. A. C. and will not join Mr. Howard until June.

A County Agricultural Council composed of the granges and other farmers' organizations and the county court, was organized at Clackamas on Saturday, February 3d. This council will serve in an advisory capacity to the work of the County Agricultural Agent. The next meeting will be held at St. Helens on Saturday, February 17.
