A charming social affair of the week was the seven o'clock dinner given on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Simpson. The members of the Tuesday Club gave this for the entertainment of their husbands. Extended strings of red hearts were festooned about the rooms and the covered lights made the home aglow with a red light. The evening was passed in an interesting way until a late hour. Additional guests were Mrs. Tilman and Mrs. Kirkwood (McMinnville).

The Leisure Hour club met this week on Friday at the beautiful Dawson home on Broadalbin street, with Mrs. Fred Dawson as hostess. Ferns and greenery added to the attractively decorated rooms where the guests passed a pleasant afternoon. The Misses Thelma Richards, Lucile Snyder and Ruth Livingston assisted in serving a delicious collation. Complimented guests of Mrs. Dawson were Mrs. Charles Wieder, Mrs. F. E. Livingston, Mrs. B. R. Wallace, Mrs. W. Burkhardt, Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Ludwig Wilson, Mrs. Mark Montgomery, Mrs. H. S. Logan, Mrs. Frances Wilson, Mrs. William Fortmiller, Mrs. Rocky E. Mason, Mrs. W. H. Lee, Miss Flora Mason, Mrs. F. H. Geselbracht, Mrs. Bridgford.

The Modern Travelers held an interesting meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alice Cockeline. Current events were used in response to roll call. The first paper on "Napoleon's plots for Spanish Crown and his campaign against Spain" was well worked out and given by Mrs. E. W. Cooper. Mrs. J. D. Summers' paper on "Troubadours Legends and Romances of Chivalry" held the interest of the guests. The afternoon was completed with a choice collation.

The Thursday Afternoon Study club was entertained in a delightful manner this week when Mrs. G. T. Hockensmith presided as hostess. Her home was prettily trimmed, the red color scheme predominating with carnations and hearts used in profusion. Mrs. E. M. Pugh, in Welch costume, gave an excellent paper on Wales. A delicious lunch brought the pleasant afternoon to a close. As guests Mrs. Hockensmith entertained the Mesdames F. E. Livingston, L. H. Fish, J. J. Collins, Charles Wieder, L. G. Lewelling, John Penland, C. V. Littler, D. F. McWilliams (Halsey), Olin Stalnacher (Halsey), L. Templeton, Samuel Worrell, Hand, and Miss Maude Bryant.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. J. L. White was a delightful hostess when she entertained the Entre Nous club at her home. Bridge was the afternoon diversion and a dainty collation was served later. Mrs. W. A. Barrett, Mrs. G. E. Sanders and Mrs. Walton Worrell substituted for absent members.

Among this week's affairs the dancing party for which Mr. and Mrs. Earl McIntosh were hosts, was an enjoyable one. The Sanders home was used on this occasion. Dancing was the diversion of the evening and music was furnished by a victrola. At a late hour a bunch added to the evening's pleasures. The guests were the Messrs. and Mesdames E. C. Brandeberry, Charles L. Mouson, J. J. Barrett, E. M. Pugh, G. E. Sanders, Francis Arnold, A. B. Wilson, L. H. Fish, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Albert Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hurst, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McIntosh.

One of the week's gayest affairs was the dinner given Monday night by the Jolly Acme bridge club, for the pleasure of their husbands. The home of Mrs. Z. H. Rudd, prettily decked in a profusion of pussy willows and Oregon grape, was used for this occasion. The evening was passed in a pleasant way. The members of the club enjoying this annual affair were the Messrs. and Mesdames W. A. Bowersox, H. H. Hewitt, J. K. Weatherford, W. C. Tweedale, E. F. Anderson, Dr. A. Stark, D. W. Merrill, S. S. Train, L. G. Lewelling, J. K. Haight, E. M. Pugh, William Pfeiffer, C. H. Burgraff, Franz Pfeiffer and Z. H. Rudd.

Miss Pera Wilkins and Miss M. Ethelyn Miller were hostess on Wednesday evening to the D. P. M. Girls when they met at the Wilkins home on west Seventh Street. A business meeting was followed by a jolly social evening and later refreshments closed the enjoyable meeting.

The members of the club are the Misses Lulu Heist, Claire Tillman, Jessie Paynter, Velma Davis, Edna Zambner, Mae Lewis, Phelps, Edna Smith, Claire Morgan, Pera Wilkins, M. Ethelyn Miller and Mrs. Glen Willard. Mrs. C. V. Littler, Mrs. Darwin Carnegie.

An unusual affair was the party for which Mrs. J. D. Summers was hostess on Monday afternoon, entertaining thirteen of her friends. At this time the guests each brought a "white elephant" which was exchanged for those of the other guests. In this way the amusement of the afternoon was very unique. Enjoying this were the Mrs. H. M. Palmer, Bert Westbrook, George Taylor, Waldo Anderson, S. E. Watson, Reed Walworth, Frank Duplisse, Boettcher (Illinois), J. L. Bray, O. D. Austin, E. C. Gipe, W. H. Holman, A. J. Hodges and Mrs. Summers.

Standing out as a bright spot among the social festivities of the week the dance given by the members of the Elks Lodge, deserves special mention. Wednesday night was the time chosen for this event, when the Elks and their wives and a large number of out side guests joined in a merry party to spend the evening dancing. Hiester's orchestra furnished the excellent music for the dancers. Punch refreshed the guests during the evening and a lunch was the closing feature.

Featuring as one of the weeks most delightful dinner parties was the one given at the home of Miss Lee Fortmiller by a number of girls. A sumptuous feed was served at a prettily decked table which was centered by a large bouquet of red carnations. Pretty little valentine place cards marked places for the Misses Corintha Hart, Carolyn Wright, Eula Hand, Lucile Snyder, Mae Ballack, Janet Dawson, Ruth Livingston, Naomi Duncan, Lee Fortmiller.

The remainder of the evening was spent at the Globe theatre.

The home of Mrs. A. B. Wilson, prettily decked in a garb of the Valentine season, was the scene of a gay social event on Tuesday evening of this week when the Coleridge club gave a dinner party to their husbands. An abundance of red hearts, pussy willows and red carnations were used thru out the rooms in an attractive decorative effect.

After the elaborate covered dish supper many clever contests and games speaking of the valentine season took up the evenings time and the merry-making continued until a late hour, when the guests departed.

One of the jolliest little parties of the week was the one given Thursday evening, by a number of girls at the home of Miss Ruth Ross. Dancing composed the delightful diversion, with one half of the girls dressed as boys. Merriment prevailed thru out the evening and a dainty repast added to the joys of the guests who were the Misses Salome Cusick, Eileen Stevens, Wilma Jenkins, and Ruth Ross and as boys Iantha Smith, Florence Fortmiller, Mary Warner, Lizzie Lawrenson, and Elizabeth Eagles.

A party of the youngest set was presided over by the little Misses Georgia Wright and Evelyn Palmer, this week on Wednesday afternoon, at the Wright Home. A valentine box was the main feature of the afternoon and later a choice lunch was served at an artistically decked table, places were laid for eight guests.

Mrs. M. McAlpin proved her ability as a hostess when the Priscilla Club met at her home on Thursday afternoon. Music, sewing and conversation all went together to make up a most enjoyable afternoon. The hostess, assisted by Miss Eudora McAlpin and Miss Levita Thomas, served a refreshing lunch. Mrs. Rocky Willis and Mrs. Gray, of Lebanon were guests for the afternoon.

An unusually successful meeting of the Pythian Sisters was held on Tuesday afternoon. At this time Mrs. C. B. Charles Carter and Mrs. L. M. Carl were hostess. Over forty ladies were present to pass the afternoon hours in a pleasant social way. A dainty repast was the completion of the afternoon.

The Catholic Ladies Social Circle met and spent a delightful afternoon on Wednesday of this week. Cards and sewing made the hours quickly pass and choice refreshments rounded out the afternoon.

The Rural Ladies Club held a pleasant meeting on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. N. M. Shrode and Mrs. Irvine Shrode as hostess. The guests enjoying the afternoon were the Mesdames Nelson Altematt, Barker, Shroel, Shirley, Ralston, Virgil Looney, Mervyle Looney, Allen, U. G. Smith, Pike, Conn, Fisher, J. Cockran, and the Misses Mildred Allen, Nora Ashton, Mary and Ora Jordan. Mrs. Jim Coon was a complimented guest.

Mrs. Virgil Hackleman was hostess on Thursday afternoon to the Krowdean club. Fancy work was the diversion of the afternoon and refreshments completed this. Mrs. Bonnie Smith was a complimented guest.

The Wayside Gleaners, a Sunday School class of the Methodist church, met this week on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. E. Clifford. Officers were elected and a social hour took up the afternoon's time after which refreshments were served.

The New Idea club was entertained this week at the home of Mrs. S. A. La Salle. Music and contests composed the diversions for the afternoon following which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Besides the club members present Mrs. Ed. Holloway and Mrs. Clifford Walker were complimented guests.

As guests for the week end Misses Lee Fortmiller and Carolyn Wright left yesterday for Salem where Miss Ruth Fisher will be hostess to them. While there they will attend a dancing party.

Mrs. C. Bender was a hostess at a very delightful surprise party on Wednesday evening when she entertained a number of the young people at her home in Hazelwood Addition in honor of Henry Bender's birthday.

The jolly evening was spent in games, music and dancing. Dainty refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Olivene and Florence Eastman, A. Marsters, Geneva Bender, Estelle Hoover and Mary Bender; Messrs. Roy Stewart, Chris Bender Jr., Tom Gallagher, Glenn Eastman, Harold Roberts, Martin Swyter, Leo Reanland, and Henry Bender.

A very pretty affair took place in Tangent this week at the home of Mrs. Howard Jenks, on Tuesday evening, when she was hostess to a five o'clock tea. The guests were received at the door by Miss Hortense Bennett and Opal Speer, who were dressed in valentine costumes. Quantities of red hearts were used about the rooms, clusters of them were suspended from red covered lights and the color scheme of red and white was artistically carried out. A huge centerpiece of red carnations graced the table, and at each end red candles and shades added to the effect. The Misses Opal Speer and Hortense Bennett dressed in their pretty valentine costumes served at the tea table.

The evening's diversions were made up of games and music. Miss Opal Speer rendered several vocal solos during the evening. The group entertained were the members of the young ladies' Sunday school class and those present were the Misses Mary Miller, Marion Sloop, Hedvig Anderson, Knowles, Letha and Marion Schrader, Agnes and Marie Mehring, Gladys May, Jessie Jenks, Halie Jenks, Bell Slate and Rev. W. T. Goulder, their teacher, and Mrs. L. B. Luper.

Included among the many charming valentine parties for this week, was the one given Tuesday evening when Miss Zella Burkhardt entertained for the Twilight Club at the home of Mrs. Frank Froman. Gaiety predominated thru out the evening; games and a valentine contest were participated in. Red tulips graced the rooms in an attractive decorative effect. Lunch was served cafeteria style.

Mrs. William Van Nuden royally entertained the members of the Hazelwood Social Tanning Club on Thursday of this week, her birthday being the occasion for this celebration. Ferns and pussywillows gave a Spring-like atmosphere to the rooms. A large cake was attractively set with lighted yellow candles. Needle work was the afternoon's chief diversion, after which a dainty lunch was served. Those who passed the afternoon at Mrs. Van Nuden's home were the Mesdames W. E. Anderson, Henry B. Springer, Ed. Batterman, Frank Ferno, Nicolas Springer, Harry Wicks, Ed. Vossen, W. H. Curry, Thomas Burton, P. W. Holbrook.

Between Ourselves

THIS store may be a little selfish perhaps in its alertness to variety of merchandise in its stocks but that self-same selfishness always redounds to the benefit of the customer, because it is very plain that if we do not have the wanted goods we lose in sales. It's not safe to be compelled to say "we're just out of this or that"—not safe because some store somewhere sometime will have anticipated the desire and be prepared to fulfill the customer's need. There is no letup in our search for variety. Variety is not only the spice that urges to customer to trade where it is widest, but also it acts as a stimulant to create desire. The store that puts forth strenuous and well directed efforts in this direction, keen to be at the forefront with the largest variety will, we believe, establish prestige, build confidence, and create closer relations with the public whom it serves.
