

Children's New Coats at Hamiltons' Are Beautiful This Spring

Fashion brings into these charming new modes for children. There are clever little models in Spring coats and no matter whether it's for school or dress occasions that new coat is needed, we can show you just the sweet little style that will appeal to your liking.

There is hardly any use talking about the price, for you will readily see that any frock you select is more moderate in price than you expected to pay for it. Priced from

EVERYBODY URGED TO BOOST FOR NEW CANNERY

Opportunity to Get W. H. Paulhamus For This Section Shouldn't Be Overlooked.

To the Editor of the Democrat: I notice in our last night's paper the program as outlined for next Wednesday. It is certainly a good one and should interest every farmer and fruit grower in this part of the Willamette Valley. The three subjects that will be discussed are those that are of the utmost importance to the farmers.

Many of the farmers need long time loans at the comparatively low rate of interest, and they should know how to get it. We need more and better dairy cows, and we need more silos. The silo and the cow will do a great deal towards bringing this section of the Willamette Valley to the forefront. Since I have been in Albany there never has been a time when the fruit growers and vegetable growers could market their product to any advantage. Either there was no market or else the price paid was so low that they could not afford to produce it.

To overcome the high price at which land is held in this section we must do something to give the producer a chance to realize on his investment. Nothing will do more towards this end than a well established cannery that will create a market and will handle the stuff that is grown. I speak from experience when I say that I know what canneries have done in the east, and I know what a properly established cannery will do for this section. The coming of Paulhamus to our city is an opportunity that must not be neglected. Every fruit grower and every citizen of Albany should work in harmony to get a cannery established here under his management. A well established cannery here will mean a large increase in the population in this section, it will mean that the man who owns a small tract of land will have an opportunity to make a living and to make money. It will verify the statements we have so often made.

ern people, that a man can make a living on a five or ten acre tract. It will give us a market for the fruit that is grown in this section, and for all the berries and vegetables that are now allowed to go to waste because there is no market. The fame of Paulhamus as a cannery expert is heralded far and wide throughout this country; many communities are seeking to get him interested. Albany is fortunate enough in being one of the few localities which he is actually considering. Are we going to stand together and put forth our utmost effort to locate him here, or are we going to go at it half heartedly and allow some other town in this section to secure Paulhamus? Much will depend upon the interest that we show in this matter between now and next Wednesday. Let us unite in securing and establishing this industry which will mean so much for the growers of this section, and for the development of our fair city and community.

MAGAZINE SHUTS OUT MAIL ORDER ADVERTISEMENTS

No mail order advertisements will appear in the columns of The Delineator. This has been decided by the management of that publication and the stand thus taken is gaining for The Delineator a great deal of support which other wise would have been given to its rivals in the publishing world.

It is also reported that a similar stand will soon be taken by a considerable number of other leading periodicals which have heretofore been the indirect means of swelling the profits of questionable mail order establishments at the expense of the business men of the smaller communities and the buying public.

Since the above announcement has been made Hamiltons' store has become the agent for The Delineator and is now handling many of the goods which are advertised in its columns.

Back in Corvallis—N. R. Moore, former publisher of the Corvallis Gazette-Times is back in the harness, having purchased the third interest in the plant last week. The paper is now published by C. E. Ingalls, N. R. Moore and C. L. Springer.

SHEDD NEWS

Shedd, Ore., 26.—Shedd Merchants are expecting an increase of trade as a result of additional money being spent here when the new rock crusher begins operations on Saddle Butte, three miles east of here.

"The Hen Pecked Man," a local talent production recently given here, was well presented before a good crowd. It netted about $30.

One of the best poultry ranches in the valley is located near Shedd. About 40 cases of eggs are shipped out daily, and there is a possibility that this amount may be doubled in the near future.

Plowing in this section has been hindered of late on account of the heavy rains. Stockmen state that the snow and rainy weather has cut down the feed to a great extent, and were it not for the silos in many cases owners would be compelled to buy additional feed. In spite of the fact that an early frost last fall damaged the corn to some extent for silage, it is, nevertheless, good feed, kale is being fed in some cases. The cold weather has played some havoc with spring lambs, many farmers in this vicinity losing a few on that account.

Next Friday evening a big dance, following a vaudeville show, will be given in the opera house.

Halsey Man Here—Bob Miller, of Halsey, was in Albany Saturday afternoon shaking hands with old friends. Bob was born in this county and says that the first printing press he ever saw in operation was the old press operated in the Democrat office by M. V. Brown. His family has taken the Democrat since it was first published and he came in Saturday to pay up for another year.

HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINET

There is no kitchen cabinet value on the market today equal to the Hoosier at the very low price fixed by the factory and based on its output of thousands of cabinets a month.

Some of the most popular Hoosier models are 50 per cent better than nine years ago in spite of the greatly increased cost of labor and materials.

These, extra values are due to quantity production.

Over a million Hoosiers are in daily use. It seems that Hoosier is more popular with women than any other five makes combined.

No Reason for Waiting

Our offer to deliver the Hoosier for $1 on free home trial removes all excuse for forcing yourself to work double hours in the kitchen.

The latest models are in. Order your Hoosier now. Pay $1 and try it. Then pay the balance $1 a week.

Our plan is like saving money. Begin today—it only takes a dollar.
