Of the weeks most gala events, probably not one was a more charming affair than the dinner party which was given Tuesday evening, honoring Miss Helen Hulbert, the attractive and dainty bride-elect, who has been the central figure of many delightful social activities during the past few months. Mrs. Robert E. Greene was the lovely hostess and the Hotel Albany was the scene of this occasion.

In the attractive dining room a beautiful appointed table displayed a great deal of artistic talent. A huge white basket centered the table and in a filmy maze of white tulle held a large bouquet of pink sweet peas, these being individual bouquets clustered together with a pink ribbon extending to the place of each guest. A little kewpie stood enveloped in the folds of a large tulle bow at the top of the basket. Surrounding the basket white tulle was again effectively used, combined with greenery which was gracefully draped to the edge of the table. Dainty little white nut baskets adorned with pink tulle and kewpie place cards marked the places. This was a pretty scene for the handsomely gowned guests who encircled the table. Miss Helen Hulbert wore a beautiful dress of white tulle over gold, and the hostess Mrs. Greene was attractive in silver lace over white chiffon. The guests to enjoy this sumptuous dinner were the Misses Helen Hulbert, Mae Tillman, Flora Maxon, Louise Wieder, Claire Tillman, Blanche Hammet (Corvallis), Kate Stewart, Alice Clement, and Mrs. Thomas Hopkins. Mrs. Edwin Fortmiller and Mrs. Robert Greene.

Mrs. L. M. Hawtin was the honoree for a delightful afternoon given Thursday by Mrs. H. W. Barker, at whose home a number of guests passed the afternoon in bridge and several others ladies spent the time in fancy work. About the rooms, beautiful daffodils were used in artistic decorative effect. At a later hour a delicious repast was served through which suggestions of Easter were in evidence. The guests hidden for the afternoon were the Mesdames L. M. Hawtin, J. K. Weatherford, G. E. Sanders, Chas. Cusick, Thomas Hopkins, H. H. Hewitt John Simpson, Charles Monson,

E. M. Maxon, Cecil Cathey, W. H. Hornbrook, G. M. Junkin, Alice Cockeline, Franz Pfeiffer, A. W. Bowersox, W. C. Tweedale, L. E. Tracy, O. D. Austin, Robert E. Greene, J. H. Robnett, Ed. Wiles, O. J. Hawtin, E. P. Anderson, T. J. Woodcock, S. S. Train, Horace Hawtin.

On Thursday afternoon the Shakespeare club met with Mrs. J. D. Summers where the members passed an enjoyable afternoon. Act III of King John was read with Mrs. L. G. Lewelling leading and followed by an active discussion, which was entered into with a great deal of interest.

The local chapter of the P.E.O. Sisterhood met on Monday with Mrs. John R. Penland as hostess. Mrs. Hornbrook was taken in as new member. Following the business session a social time was enjoyed until late in the afternoon when a dainty repast was served. Favors of a novel type were given to each member present.

One of the jolliest meetings of the Thursday afternoon study club was held this week at the home of Mrs. C. E. Clifford. Mrs. David Froman held the attention of the guests with a splendid paper on "India." Mrs. C. L. Monson rendered a piano selection and a trio composed of Mrs. W. H. Rhodes, Mrs. Wilkins and Mrs. David Froman entertained the group. Spring flowers attractively decked the rooms where several additional guests enjoyed the afternoon with the club members. The guests were Mrs. C. E. Gibson, Mrs. W. H. Rhodes, Mrs. B. E. Nebergall, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. E. F. Clifford and Mrs. E. M. Maxon.

Mrs. Charles Curry was a gracious hostess on Wednesday of this week when she entertained the Coterie club at her home. The rooms were decorated to the style of Easter season with rabbits and chickens peeping from every corner and spot. After a social afternoon the guests repaired to the dining room where tea was served, place cards marked places for the guests.

The Freshmen class of Albany College enjoyed a party given Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Harriett Van Tassel. The boys of the class were honored at this occasion as they were entertained by the girls. Games and various amusements took up the evenings time and light refreshments rounded out its pleasures. Guests were the Misses Bessie Hoover, Carol Summerfield, Ruth Straw, Mable Clausen, Katherine Livengood, Florence Hunter, and Harriet Van Tassel and the Messrs. Cleo, Jenkins, Kenneth Phillips, Orvil Smith, Alva Starr, Wendel Grub, and Lyndon Meyers.

One of the most enjoyable meetings of the Friday Bride club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William T. Panck. The rooms of her home were prettily decorated carrying out the color scheme of lavender. A dainty repast brought the afternoon to a close. Mrs. A. Austin substituted for an absent member.

A coming event of interest to the social circle of the younger set is the dance which will be given Monday night in the Moose hall with Miss Flora Mason as hostess. This affair will be given for the pleasure of Miss Helen Hulbert and Miss Carolyn Cannon.

The Modern Travelers met this afternoon in the home of Miss Elizabeth Irvine. Roll call was responded to with current events, and a paper on "Woman's Responsibility as a Citizen" was well worded up and given by Mrs. Alice Cockeline. Mrs. A. H. Martin read a paper on "What Clubs have Done for Women," this also was an excellent paper.

An unusually elaborate social event was given Tuesday evening of this week by the Pythian Sisters. After a business meeting a much enjoyed social time was followed by a banquet. Violets and ferns arranged in baskets made the rooms attractive and flags gave a touch of patriotism. At this time the Grand chief, Miss Emma Snyder (Aurora), Mrs. Julia Bilyeu, Grand Protector, (Scioto) and Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Hutton of the Silverton Temple, were guests. Over eighty guests were entertained. The committee responsible for the success of this affair was composed of Mrs. L. M. Curl, chairman, Mrs. Orin Anderson, Mrs. D. S. Smith, Mrs. O. D. Byers, Mrs. Grant Pirtle, and Mrs. W. A. McClain.

On Tuesday afternoon the Art Craft club met with Mrs. D. Bussard. A short business session was held and election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. Frank Skipton, president; Mrs. D. Bussard, vice-president, and Mrs. A. J. Hodges, secretary. Mrs. L. L. Osborne and Miss Alma Hutton of Silverton pleased the guests with music during the afternoon, both piano and vocal. Miss Nathiel Donacca and Miss Ethel Bussard assisted the hostess in serving refreshments at close of the afternoon. As complimented guests Mrs. Bussard entertained Mrs. P. C. Pate, Mrs. Chas. Carter, Mrs. L. L. Osborne and Miss Alma Hutton.

Mrs. A. J. Hodges was a diner hostess on Sunday when she honored Mrs. A. Newsome. Mrs. J. L. Okey, who will leave soon for La Grande, was complimented and Miss Velma Davis. Greenery and daffodils made the artistic centerpiece for the table.

A unique little affair of Wednesday was the party given by Mrs. L. G. Lewelling in honor of the second birthday of her little son, Asa Lorenzo. After spending the afternoon playing together the children were seated at a table, the center of which was made into an artificial lake surrounded by greenery and flowers, with tiny ducks floating around and birds and rabbits here and there thru the flowers. The little guests for this occasion were William Barrett, Robert Penland, Robert Marks, Wayne Doughton, Wilfred Meyer, and Robert Martin.

Mrs. George Goltra was hostess on Thursday afternoon, to the Kill Kare club. A choice lunch rounded out the pleasures of the afternoon passed in fancy work and conversation. Mrs. Rodgers assisted the hostess in serving, each guest received a pretty favor. Mrs. J. Ames, Mrs. Felix Dudley, Mrs. Roy Gentry, and Mrs. Winkler were complimented guests for the afternoon. Club members present were Mrs. Lawrence Metzgar, Mrs. W. A. Harvey, Mrs. J. N. Rodgers, Mrs. L. E. Underhill, Mrs. A. C. Baker, Mrs. G. W. Schmidt, Mrs. H. O. McFarren and Mrs. Goltra.

The Monday Bridge club was delightfully entertained this week with Mrs. A. Austin as hostess. Following the afternoon spent in bridge a delicious lunch was served in the dining room where the color scheme of pink was used and the decorations characteristic of Easter, prettily carried out. Miss Marion Anderson and Miss Winnie Austin assisted in the service. The guests present for the afternoon were Mrs. F. C. Pate, Mrs. R. A. B. Veal, Mrs. O. D. Austin, Mrs. M. McAlpin, Mrs. L. H. Fish, Mrs. R. Walworth. The personnel of the club includes Mrs. Grant Pirtle, Mrs. Walton Worrell, Mrs. P. R. Kelly, Mrs. Willard Marks, Mrs. Earl Fisher and Mrs. Glen Junkin.

One of the weeks charming hostesses was Miss Thelma Richards who complimented Miss Carolyn Cannon of Portland, when she gave a pretty supper-party in her honor. The yellow color scheme made the table attractive with daffodils used in profusion and baskets and lighted candles shaded with yellow. Following the delicious supper the crowd enjoyed a visit to the movies. Included in the group were the Misses Carolyn Cannon, Corintha Hart, Janet Dawson, Lee Fortmiller, Lucile Snyder, Ruth Livengood, Naomi Duncan, Hazel Ross, Carolyn Wright, Beatrice Sanders and Thelma Richards.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. O. J. Hawtin asked several guests in the spend the afternoon in fancy work, honoring her mother, Mrs. L. M. Hawtin. The rooms of her home were brightly decorated with daffodils. Later a dainty collation completed the afternoons pleasures.

Invitations are now out for the wedding of Miss Helen Caryl Hulbert and Mr. William Park Stalnaker, which will be solemnized on Tuesday evening, April seventeenth, at the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Lynn Harris was hostess on Thursday to the Needle Craft club when she entertained them at the home of Mrs. Ebberton. A social time preceded by a business meeting made the afternoons hours quickly pass and an elaborate lunch brought them to a close. The suggestions of Easter were used thruout the lunch as well as in the house decorations. Mrs. Hecker was complimented guest.

Adding their part to the round of social affairs, the members of the Lafalot club met and passed a jolly evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Worth, on Monday evening of this week. Cut flowers artistically decked the rooms. A delicious collation completed the evening. As guests Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Merrill, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Veal, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Lewelling, Mr. and Mrs. M. McAlpin and Eudora, spent the evening.
