voted an additional fifteen million dollars with the result that California has 200 miles of paved roads. That due to this fact California attracts a great many tourists and these tourists spend in the state approximately $200,000 annually.

Spence Opposes Issue

Mr. Spence's arguments in part were as follows:

"Oregon is not as far behind in road building as is represented. The state spends a higher amount each year per capita than any other state in the union. But this money is spent mostly by the districts in the counties and not on expensive state highways or trunk roads.

"We are all in favor of good roads—the more of them the better. We are both fighting for the same thing, but where we differ is in the manner of financing them and as to what roads should be built first.

"We propose to take the automobile license tax, one-fourth mill tax and the federal aid money and put it directly on the roads. The advocates of the bond issue is to issue bonds and use the auto-tax and the one-fourth mill tax to pay the principal of the bonds and interest. Under our plan we will build 500 more miles of paved roads than under the bonding plan for the same amount of money raised.

"Under the bonding system for every dollar worth of roads we get we will pay $1.60. The only argument in favor of the bond issue is that they will get more roads immediately, but this bond issue will not be sufficient to complete nearly all the roads designated as hard surface roads, and this will only be the entering wedge for more bond issues.

"Many people will be disappointed by not getting the roads they expected.

Don't Need Bonds

"We have provided under the auto license and millage tax about $50,000 in addition to the federal aid of $35,000 which will amount to nearly $1,000,000 to be expended each year.

"This should be enough to try out the new highway commission and then if they make good, I, for one, will be willing to vote the additional tax.

"The roads designated as roads of first importance paralleled rivers and rail roads, duplicating the lines we already have. What we want is roads leading to market places and shipping points so the farmer can get produce to market at all times of the year. I consider that the rail roads are trunk roads.

"California bonded itself for $18,000,000 and got a different finish from what was promised and had to use another $15,000,000 to finish what had been started. The people of that state are now taxed to the limit. New York voted $50,000,000 bonds to build a system of highways and then had to vote another $50,000,000 to complete what they had started, and to rebuild some that were defective.

"Our opponents claim that Multnomah county pays 40 per cent of the bill. Portland will get more benefit than any part of the state so why shouldn't she contribute?

"A bill passed the Senate in the last legislature proposing to place on the ballot, a choice of one and one-fourth mill tax levy or the bond issue. The one and one-fourth mill would raise $1,000,000 per year. Add to that the auto license, the one-fourth millage tax and the federal aid and this would give the highway commission nearly $2,000,000 a year to spend on the roads.

Under this plan the highway commission would have more money to expend in five years than under the bond issue, and we would not be in debt one cent. This plan passed the Senate but was defeated in the House because, as we stated, it might defeat the bond issue.

"Multnomah county paying interests are behind the bill. They took an important part in the legislative proceedings, but are keeping quiet just now.

"The highway commission is not composed of enough experienced men in road building, and I think the federal aid, the auto license and the millage tax is enough for them to experiment with."

Sinister Goodwin Sands.

Seven miles at sea from Broadstairs, the seaside resort on the southeast coast of England, lie the Goodwin sands of sinister record in maritime wreck annals and by tradition supposed once to have been an island. Lomen, in the estate of Earl Goodwin, and to have been destroyed by the sea in the eleventh century. Lambarde, a skeptical English chronicler, however, disputes this legend, as he does also another which tells of the earl's choking himself with a morsel of bread because he had said, "May this bread choke me if I caused my brother's death," when, in point of fact, he had procured it.

A lightship has been maintained on Goodwin sands since 1795, but marine disasters still occur there, and sometimes even in clear weather.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Clip Flower Stems Daily.

To keep cut flowers in good condition clip the stems a little daily. The pores at the end of the stem are apt to clog, and by clipping them it allows the pores to reopen, and the flower will be refreshed by the water it receives. It must also be borne in mind that all strings or bindings as well as wires should be removed so that there will be no obstruction in the way of the water reaching the blossom itself. If you value your cut flowers and desire to have them with you as long as possible, under no condition allow the direct rays of the sun to shine on them.

Feminine Power.

Miss Louise says what tickles her when she hears this piffle about the superior intelligence of the alleged lord of creation is that she knows she can pick one blindfolded and make him break his fool neck trying to do something he knows can't be done if she'll just brag on him a little.—Macon Telegraph.

WANTED TO ENLIST BUT DIDN'T KNOW OWN AGE

A Waterloo boy shyly entered the offices of County school superintendent Cummings yesterday and wanted to know how old he is. He stated that he wanted to enlist in the militia and that his mother wouldn't give her consent, so he wanted proof of his age. He looked about 16 or 17 years old, but stated that he did not know how old he really is. The records were not available here for he had not lived in this county at the last school census.

What He Would Say.

"Would you say that woman over there is boulevy?"
"Well, I wouldn't put it as bluntly as that. But I will say that if she ever nuzzles everybody will accuse the man of taking her for her money."—Detroit Free Press.
