ROSE FESTIVAL WILL
BUBBLE WITH PATRIOTISM

Portland, Ore., May 8.—Fairly-land in red, white and blue will come into being at the 1917 Rose Festival June 13, 14 and 15, for the board of directors decided today to carry the spirit of patriotism into the festival to the last degree.

Instead of the Rose Queen of former years, a boy and a girl, not more than 10 years old, will be selected by the civic clubs in an election which opens tomorrow and continues to June 6. The successful boy and girl will be known as the Fairy King and Queen.

The Oregon Girls' Honor Guard will benefit to the extent of 10 per cent of the net receipts of the king and queen contest, which is under the direction of Mrs. G. J. Frankel, the first woman director ever elected to the festival directory.

DISFITS

By F. P. Nutting

Next thing to seeing a base ball game itself is watching the board at the Telegram corner at the Pittock building. The progress of the game is appreciated as much as if on the bleachers. Every play is shown by lights that flash, and it is known just what players do the work.

Among the many tenants of the fine Pittock block is E. H. McCune, formerly of Albany, advertising specialist, whom I met today for the first time since coming here. He is doing well.

Met Mae Montgomery a few days ago. For many years she set type on the Herald before the days of the Linotype. Her nephew, Walter Cummings, lives with her.

Meet S. N. Steele frequently. His son, Layton, has enlisted and will go to war.

Interesting places at noons are the restaurants and cafeterias, some of them filled jam full, meeting all the demands of all kinds of people. There is a genius at the L. Cafeteria on 6th street, who places a check on the trays for the amount due rushing along from two directions at a single glance. Though there are seven or eight articles he gets the result. As bread is 1c a slice, butter, ditto, etc., his alertness is remarkable.

A. D. Beckley, formerly of the Albany furniture factory, shook his hand at me from his Ford, and met Mrs. Beckley. In June the family will start out in the car for a two or three months' trip, selling furniture along the way.

The Apostolic Faith people have a large auto car, holding ten or fifteen, on which they give concerts and talk evenings. It would make Ubbé Peter's heart wax strong to hear them a clean looking lot of people.

One of the last Albany men met was J. B. Gentry, traveling for a carpet and rug house.

Singing Crickets.
In Japan if one will leave the hotel and the tourist office and the cocktail drinkers and go out into the real native quarter there are enough things to interest any one. One old man passes with his load of crickets, which sing in hot weather and are kept in cages like so many canaries. These gentle creatures make a noise like a squeaky axle, and one hidden under the hood of a twelve cylinder car would subject the most careful chauffeur to scorn. They are caught with birdlime and make nice little pets, cheap to buy and not requiring gasoline for the upkeep.

DOLLARS THAT ARE SAVED.

When Properly Invested They Help to Develop Our Country.
What work does the saved dollar do to help make this country a better place for the saver? At a meeting of the American Bankers' association an intelligent answer was made by a man who is well qualified to speak. He said:

"While a dollar saved by a workman helps to give to some workman a job, so does every other dollar of savings, whether it comes from wages, interest or profits.
"The economic effect of a dollar saved and invested is just the same, whether the owner is a wage earner, an employer or an heir of inherited wealth. Income, however it originates, that is saved and put to reproductive uses performs an inevitable service for society.
"Every form of savings finally seeks investment, and if you will follow the investment through to its ultimate result you will see it putting men to work; you will see it enlarging the agricultural, the industrial or the transportation equipment of the community; you will see it creating new demands for labor, raising the rate of wages and increasing the production of things which men desire.
"If savings are devoted to reproductive purposes, it makes no difference whether they are the savings of the workman or of the millionaire, they ultimately accomplish the same result—they increase the supply of things that the whole community wants."
F. A. Vanderlip said that. It is true. Your $50 in the savings bank works at the same job to which the $50,000 of the rich man is sent.
If the man who manages the work are honest and capable they use our saved dollars to make this country worth living in, worth working in, worth being proud of, worth fighting to preserve.—John M. Oskison in New York Globe.

THE BURDEN OF WORRY.
Today's is Enough; Never Mind Yesterday's or Tomorrow's.
A wayfarer carried a heavy sack, under which he tolled and complained unceasingly. From none could he get help or comfort.
And as he slowly journeyed, groaning under his burden, the Angel of Opportunism came to him and spoke kindly, saying:
"Brother, what carries that?"
The man answered surlily, "My worries."
The angel smiled pityingly upon him and said, "Let us look into thy burden and examine thy worries."
And so they looked in. But, lo, the sack was empty!
"Why, surely," cried the man, "there were two great worries, too heavy for man to bear! But—ah, yes, I had forgotten—one was a worry of yesterday, and so it is gone."
"And the other?"
"That—why, that was a worry of tomorrow, and it—it has not yet come."
Then the angel smiled with infinite pity, saying:
"Beharken. He who bows himself down under the worries of yesterday and tomorrow wears himself out for naught. But he who carries only the worries of today has no need of a sack for his sorrows. If thou wilt cast this black thing aside and give all thy strength and cheer and courage to the things of today real misfortune never can burden thee."
Wondering, the man did as the angel commanded.
And as he took up his journey and went lightly, swiftly on, his heart and his hands were free to relieve many a brother wayfarer of his burdens and to pluck sweet fruits and flowers along the wayside.
And when he came at last to the setting of the sun it was with smiles and a song.—Christian Herald.

Best as a Fertilizer.
Amateur gardeners recommend the use of soot as a fertilizer. Scotch soot, which is generally used in Great Britain as a fertilizer, is from coal that differs greatly from the hard coal used in the eastern United States. Soot from our hard coal must be used with caution around plants or it may do more harm than good, particularly immediately after the application. A sad experience several years ago leads a gardener to warn others so they may not be obliged to gain their knowledge by a like unfortunate experience.—New York Sun.
