JOHN BULL'S STOMACH ON TRIAL THIS MONTH

By Lowell Mellett, United Press Correspondent

London, June 6.—By the end of the month it will be possible to say whether the British stomach has a sense of humor. Said stomach has been on probation now for several weeks. July 1 the answer will be known. If it is affirmative John Bull may continue to live on voluntary rations. Otherwise, compulsory rations and food tickets.

The honor system is the idea of Lord Devonport, sometimes called by owners of impatient tummies called "glorified grocer." The campaign of honor is on in full blast. There never was any idea that the rational stomach should fight out its battle alone and unaided. It is supported by billboards, by pamphlets, by dog-cars and newspaper reminders. Kennedy Jones, the advertising genius behind the big and successful "Win the War Loan" campaign, is sitting at Lord Devonport's right hand.

Jones has bombarded the nation's conscience with such phrases as "If we eat more than our share we eat somebody else's share." "Save the bread and the bread will save you."

The honor system is applied to the family only. The food controller issues orders—which are law—for hotels and restaurants.

CITY NEWS

Ill at North Yakima—
Mrs. C. T. Davidson, a sister of B. J. Hecker of this city and herself a former resident of Albany, is seriously ill at her home in North Yakima. She has undergone several operations but physicians entertain little hope of her recovery.

Visiting Brothers—
Mrs. A. M. Hammer is visiting her brother, who resides at Berlin (U. S. A.).

Intolerance Is Coming—
Manager Conrad Meyer of the Globe theatre, Saturday signed up with D. F. LeRoy of Seattle, for the greatest photoplay ever made—"Intolerance," which will be seen here July 11 and 12. The picture was directed and conceived by D. W. Griffith, the master mind which made "The Birth of a Nation," and other great pictures. The play is said to have cost over $2,000,000, and is so stupendous and elaborate that the average mind can hardly grasp the magnitude of it. The subject of the play is in four parts, and is like a circus, so gigantic that one can not grasp the details of it at one sitting. Many people in cities where the play has shown have made repeated trips to see "Intolerance." It is out playing at the Heilig in Portland.

Will Attend Convention—
Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Cusick will leave tomorrow for Marshfield, where they will attend the annual convention of the State Bankers Association, which convenes in that city. Mr. Cusick is vice president of the association.

SOCIAL WELFARE WORKERS ASSEMBLE IN PITTSBURG

Pittsburg, Pa., June 6.—(U. P.)—More than 3,500 strong, the delegates to the Forty-Fourth annual convention of the National Conference of Charities and Corrections came to order at the rap of President Almy's gavel at the William Penn hotel today. For six days they will wrestle with big question of social welfare. These include birth-control, prison reform, eugenics, child welfare, trade union labor legislation, the rural community's sociological problems and many others matters connected with the general subject of charities and corrections.

While the principal organization is in session, delegates representing various assemblies more or less allied will be attending several minor conventions, including that of the International Association of Policewomen.

Pay $25 and Get Real Economy

True economy cannot be reckoned in cheap prices—that which is cheap is usually dear in the long run.

And so, in advising you to pay $25 for a suit of

Kuppenheimer Clothes

We are counseling wise and true economy—a patriotic duty these days.

We especially would like to show and point out the superiorities of these suits to men who have not been in the habit of paying this much for their clothes. One of these suits will easily outlast three cheap suits.
