WHAT YOU BUY WE STAND BY

Reindeer of Alaska.
The Alaska reindeer, which, curiously enough, are wards of the United States department of education, have increased from the small herd brought from Siberia in 1802 until they now number well over 70,000. That, too, in spite of the fact that about 9,000 were killed last year for meat and skins. Two-thirds of the reindeer belong to the natives, for whom they are solving the problems of food, clothing and transportation. The rest belong to the missionaries, the Lapp immigrants and the government.

An Isle of France.
The smallest dependency of France is the Ile d'Hoedle, situated at the east of Belle Isle. Its population is 238. The people do not speak French, but Celtic. Fishing is the principal industry and all the inhabitants are provided with food at an inn managed by women.

No Chirk.
"Son, the president of your college writes me that you are not doing much in your studies."
"Don't let that depress you, dad," replied the husky youth. "Just drop a line to our coach and ask him about me."—Exchange.

No Occasion For Alarm.
Briggs—I understand that you have hired our former cook. Griggs—Yes, but don't be alarmed. We intend to discount everything she tells us.
Not Curious.
Doctor—What made that mule kick you? Patient—I may look foolish, but I am not fool enough to go back and ask him.—Toledo Blade.

High Cost of High Living. According to James Churchill, one of the famous New York restaurateurs, it costs the men who cater to the great throng of cabaret diners some $700,000 a year to keep things going in the proper Gotham style. In itemized form he reckons rent at 40 millions, license tax and stamps 30%, payroll 17%, millions, supplies 227 millions.

This neat little sum is merely what it costs the proprietors, he it understood. The amount paid in by regular and occasional habitués of the "lobster palaces" may safely be put at 50 per cent more, or $1,000,000,000. Yes, high living comes high, and it is time to think of having less of it.—Boston Post.

How Coal Was Named. The name of coal was first applied only to fuel made of charred wood or what we call charcoal, says an exchange. When the use of mineral coal began it was called sea coal, because it was at first only found along the seashore along with seaweed and other wreckage cast up by the waves and thus supposed to be of marine origin. From its resemblance in color and burning qualities to charcoal, it finally received the simple name of coal.

Humor. Humor is the true sixth sense. Lacking it, one missees the joy of living. It lurks under the serious affairs of life as a violet lurks under the trees of the forest and when so found is more to be prized than that which showeth itself from the housetops.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Potatoes. The stem end of a potato is the end that was attached to the vine; the opposite end is the seed end. The seed end might be called the top of the potato and the stem end the bottom. The buds at the seed end swell and grow first.—New York Sun.

His Threat. "He must be a perfect savage." "Why?" "He threatens his wife with his club when they have a difference."

Executive Ability. Little James—Father, what is executive ability? His Father—The faculty of earning your bread by the sweat of other people's brows, my son.

Tree Juice. Intoxicating liquors have been made from the sap of the birch, the willow, the poplar and the sycamore.

Too much rest itself becomes a pain.—Homer.
