OFFENSIVE TO CEASE

Satisfied with having made the editor of the Democrat "beat it to the mountains," where it is cool, and having discovered that Judge McKnight is "keeping the trail hot to his attorney's office," the Herald now announces that probably its offensive will slow down.

The Herald knew all the time that the matter would stop when it got to a certain point but thought that they could stand a little more. Perhaps the Herald knew all about this, for no one else does. The Herald is welcome to advertise the Democrat all it pleases, but the Democrat has no fight to make.

However, when any publisher files a sworn statement of his circulation, swearing under oath that he has 1154 bona fide subscribers in Linn county, then being caught with the goods voluntarily files an amended statement cutting off over 600 of this list, and other investigations prove that about half that number were false, it, seeing that he would have the good sense to let the matter drop for his own good.

The editor of the Herald is not only a poor sport but the hardest kind of a loser, and is simply trying to turn his own indiscretion into a halo for himself and tack the infamy onto the county court and county clerk.

Any editor having "too much circulation and not enough bona fide subscribers" might be expected to have excessive blood pressure and go to any length in mis-stating the facts in the case.

MARKET NEWS

North Portland, July 10.—The cattle yards have been well filled during the week and though the market was rather dull at the close of last week, yesterday's movement was brisk and a large volume was transacted, which totaled around 1200 head. Some choice prime steers brought $10.50, but the general market conditions indicated a decline over the previous week of 50 to 75 cents. Yesterday's market conditions would warrant a quotation of $9.00 to $9.75 for best beef steers and $8.50 to $9.00 for good steers. Butcher stuff and cows however declined nearly $1.00 from last week's market. The best cows are selling as high as $7.50 but the bulk are going at $7.00 and lower. The bull market is steady with last week's close, and 50 cents lower than last week's opening. Veal calves are quoted at $9.00 to $9.50 and some splendid offerings went through the yards. Stockers and feeders were steady with last week's prices and some very excellent feeders were handled at the yards from $5.00 to $7.50.

Hogs
The hog alleys were rather heavier yesterday than a week ago, about 1200 head being received. The rise in price which started the latter part of the week was continued at the opening yesterday and a good many loads went for $16.00, while the top was $16.15 at which figure a carload of extra fine hogs weighing 257 pounds passed over the scales. A fair quotation for the bulk would be $15.85 to $16.05, and the demand is good with rather a weak supply.

Sheep
The sheep market remains steady with only 500 head on the market yesterday, spring lambs are getting from $12.25 to $12.75 Mt. Adams yearlings $10.25 and ewes from $4.00 to $8.00.
