GERMANS TOLD AMERICANS TORTURE PRISONERS
By W. S. Forrest
United Press Staff Correspondent
Paris, June 30.—(By Mail)—German aviators are being told by their superior officers that capture by the French or Americans means torture. Evidence comes from the front today of the enemy's lack of air morale and the fear with which he enters combat. Near the headquarters of the La Fayette Escadrille, Aviator Gailer, French flyer of an escadrille working in conjunction with the American birdmen, attacked a German biplane. Twenty-five well-placed shots wounded the enemy pilot in the arm. The latter, obsessed by fear of capture became so frightened that he almost lost control of his machine. He hurriedly and ungracefully planned down to the nearest point and landed. It was behind the French lines. He could have easily maneuvered in such a manner as to reach the German lines in safety.

The story of the German airman's fear developed when he was questioned by his French and American captors. He explained that, during the combat, his machine gunner had hidden in the body of the biplane too much afraid to look at the attacking French machine. Before leaving their aerodrome both had been impressed that they would be doomed to hideous physical agony if captured. They were accordingly relieved when told that a prison camp with better food than they might expect in Germany was the worst they could find here.
Here from Eugene—
Miss Mildred Shortridge of Eugene, is the houseguest of Miss Iantho Smith for the week. Miss Shortridge was formerly of this city and there will be a number of delightful affairs in her honor during her visit here.
