THE DRY WALL

A Beautiful Art in Stone Work That is Passing Away.

In the American Magazine David Grayson says: "In dry walls I think the old stonemason takes the greatest pride of all for it is in the dry wall—I mean by that a wall laid without mortar—that the sheer art of the mason comes most into play."

"Any one can throw a wall together if he has mortar to make it stick, but a dry wall must stand out for what it is, built solid from the bottom up, each stone resting securely upon the one below it and braced and nestled in by the sheer skill of the mason."

"The art of the dry wall is the ancient heritage of New England and speaks not only of the sincerity and the conscientiousness of the old Puritan spirit, but strikes the higher note of beauty."

"Many of the older walls I know are worth going far to see, for they exhibit a rare sense of form and proportion and are sometimes set in the landscape with a skill that only the master artist himself could exceed. These old hard-won stone fences of the Durham hills and Crewe's, the best of them, were honestly built and built to last a thousand years."

"A beautiful art—and one that is passing away! It is the dry wall that stands of itself that the old stonemason loves best of all."

JAPANESE SAILORS SEE U-BOATS' DOOM

(By U. P.)

Tokio, June 1.—(By Mail)—Sailors gods and are sure that by co-operating with the British and French they are under the protection of the on Japanese warboats now aiding the Allies in the Mediterranean believe can crush the entire strength of the German submarines.

This Japanese confidence in their naval prowess and their faith in their Mikado and forefathers is described in a dispatch received here from the Paris correspondent of the Asahi Shimbun, who writes that he was allowed to visit his countrymen at a French port on the Mediterranean.

"Our men are all in high spirits," he says. "They pay profound respect to their flag daily and give cheers of Benzai to their Emperor. A small banner of the Rising Sun is hoisted at the port, alongside of the French Tri-Color. The Japanese firmly believe they are under the protection of the gods and are sure that with the other Allied ships they can defeat the submarine menace."

"They are aware of their duties to the other members of the Entente, especially toward England, with which their country is bound in alliance. I believe the cooperation of our navy in the Mediterranean will benefit Japan not only politically, but normally and in a military sense."

WOMAN WILL LEAD

Portland, Ore., July 12.—A woman will be president of the National Education association.

That much is certain this afternoon with the annual election less than 24 hours away. Moreover, the next head of the organization will probably be a western woman. Many say she will be Josephine Corless Preston, state superintendent of Washington's schools.

This year's convention of the National Education association is principally a woman's convention. Women are more prominent on the program than they have been in the past. In fact, women have crowded the men off the platform of the general sessions several times this week.

The election will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Former Resident Here—
Jess Whitaker of Independence, who was formerly in business in this city, is spending a few days in Albany transacting business.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO FAR WESTERN TRAPSHOOTERS

By Peter P. Carney, Editor National Sports Syndicate

In the California State shoot 78,950 targets were trapped and the 90 shooters averaged 927.

R. A. King, who recently won the championship of Colorado for the third, time in succession, broke 189 straight in the Nebraska State shoot. There were 142 entries in the Pacific Coast Handicap at San Jose, Cal., the high water mark for this event.

Orvie Overall, the former Cub pitcher, is now one of the leading target busters in the vicinity of Vasilisa, Cal.

Trapshooting is growing into America's leading sport because it is the direct expression of the inherent desire of every American man and woman to handle firearms.

During the Pacific Coast Handicap trap leagues were the source of much discussion and it wouldn't be surprising if there were a number of leagues in California next fall.

A suggestion offered is that the Pacific Coast Handicap be divided into two tournaments—the Northwestern and Handicaps. Reason for this is that the Northern shooters do not go to the South and vice versa, because of the great traveling distance and expense.

One of the contestants in a recent shoot of the Paterson (Cal.) Club was Senor Carlos Cavallo of Valparaiso, Chile. He broke 75 per cent of his targets and enjoyed the sport so much that he promised to form a club on his return to Chile.

Hugh Poston, the professional shot of San Francisco, missed 26 targets in the 660 he shot at in the Pacific Coast Handicap—which by the way, is said to be a record for shooting in an Interstate Handicap event. Incidentally he had a run of 261.

Frank Troch of Vancouver, Wash., national amateur champion, broke 492 of 500 targets in the California State shoot, finishing with a run of 185. In this shoot Pfirman, the former California champion, had a run of 254 and Fleckenger of Vallejo, broke 177 straight.

Electric Ranges Are Clean Safe Reliable

"When I get back My Dinner will be ready to serve"

An Electric Range Is a Thing of Beauty

Something every woman admires and wants in her kitchen but not for beauty alone.

Because electric ranges employ no open flame for heat—they are clean and safe.

Because they are clean they are sanitary

Because they are not subject to the whims of dampers and drafts and flues they are reliable.

More than all else—modern housewives prefer and use electric ranges because they are economical and produce superior results with less trouble. Ask about the new cooking and heating rate—and decide to take advantage of the low price time payment offer before it expires.
