THE JAPANESE DEMOCRACY

There has been a good deal of comment lately to the effect that Japan does not properly belong with the Allies—that she represents autocracy rather than the democracy for which her associates are fighting.

"Democracy," he explains, "is no synonym for republic. Whether the government be republic or a constitutional monarchy, democracy is enthroned in the country where social equality instead of feudal aristocracy prevails; where one's real merit counts more than rank or family pedigree; where every individual has the right to full enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and is no slave of a dominant caste; where right rules over might, and militarism it not the controlling force; in short, where justice, liberty, equality and humanity are made the basic principles of the state."

This is a pretty good definition of democracy. It must be admitted that in a genuine constitutional monarchy the people may have as much political freedom and power as in a republic. In Great Britain, for instance, the king is a mere rubber stamp. The actual head of government is the premier, who holds his office by popular choice and consent even more than our president does.

Japan, says Dr. Igenga, though a monarchy, is "as much a democracy as the United States, England, France, Italy and the newly-born democracy of Russia." He adds that Japan cherishes the same ideals as America, and "it is only fitting for them to join hands and work with all the energy and resources they have at command for the successful conclusion of the tremendous issue they are now facing."

We may not be able to accept this learned gentleman's estimate of his own country at full face value, but it may readily be granted that the political life of the Japanese nation is far more democratic than most Americans have supposed. We welcome Japan's co-operation in fighting for the ideals she holds in common with us. And if she fights for them half as hard as we do, we shall be pretty well satisfied.

ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN GIVEN LIBERTY LOAN

Washington, July 17.—(U. P.)—More than $500,000,000 worth of free advertising was given to the United States government in its campaign to float the Liberty Loan according to estimates made by Treasury officials. This does not include the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of space given in small country newspapers which never reached the attention of the government.

Whole newspaper pages, moving pictures, millions of posters, sign boards, hand dodgers, paper bombs, and hundreds of other means of bringing the bonds to the public were donated to the government by patriotic citizens.

The use of the editorial and advertising pages of 273 technical papers was donated; trade journals threw open their columns. Boy Scouts spent weeks in folding and mailing 4,600,000 folders printed at the government printing office.

Thirty-six different languages were represented in the hundreds of foreign language papers which came to the assistance of the government.

Almost 2,000,000 large posters were distributed in all parts of the country, free of charge. The number of posters distributed by local committees for local use would more than double the above number.

More than 1,000,000 copies of Secretary McAdoo's Liberty Loan speeches and 2,500,000 circulars describing the loan were mailed from Washington and distributed free. Almost 500,000 Liberty Loan primers were distributed free to the government.

Here from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—J. McKinney of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, is spending a few days with J. A. DuMont, formerly of the Soo. Mr. McKinney has been touring the southern and western states since January and is now on his way to Michigan by way of the northern route.

FINE FARM SOLD TO WISCONSIN MAN

T. A. Hines has sold his 237.21-acre farm located five miles southeast of Albany to Herman Elrich, who recently came her from Wisconsin. The consideration was $29,625.

Ten years ago Mr. Hines bought the place, known as the old Connor farm, for $45 an acre. The price he received for it last week was $125 an acre.

This farm is one of the best in the country, every acre being tillable and good improvements on the place. But Mr. Elrich will improve it still further and make it yield as it never did before. The sale was made through J. A. Howard, local real estate dealer.
