Don't Do Sentry Duty
Any Longer

You can dust, sew or read while the Electric Range is cooking your dinner.

An electric range will not only release you from sentry service in the kitchen, but it will also effect actual economies in your cooking by making foods go farther through reduction of shrinkage.

An Electric Range
Keeps the Kitchen Cool

No surplus heat escapes into the kitchen from an Electric Range. Three degrees of heat—high, medium, or low—available instantly at the turn of a switch, enable you to secure just the right temperature for your work. From the standpoint of cleanliness, convenience and safety, an Electric Range is unequalled.

Call today and inspect the various styles on display. Note particularly their simplicity and ease of operation.

PSYCHOLOGISTS TO HELP MAKE ARMIES EFFICIENT

University of Oregon, Eugene, Aug. 6.—Psychology is doing its share in preparing United States for a maximum stage of military efficiency, according to Dr. G. Stanley Hall, noted psychologist, president of Clark University, who has just finished a course of nine lectures at the summer school of the University of Oregon. Dr. Hall is a member of the National Council of Psychologists, composed of seven men prominent in that line of scientific work, who are operating in conjunction with the Council of National Defense.

"This council," said Dr. Hall, "is devising tests of fitness for army service to be applied to all candidates for places in the army." In addition further tests are being prepared that are designed to determine for what branch of service the applicant is best fitted. In this way we hope to promote in the American army far greater efficiency than has ever before been achieved.

Comparing the Franco-Prussian war and the present conflict, Dr. Hall who was a newspaper correspondent in France in 1870-71, declared that the same German efficiency was notable in both conflicts but greatly enhanced in the war now raging. He does not believe that this war has produced any such great strategist as von Moltke. Hindenburg, in his opinion, is the only one who approaches Moltke in genius.

It is Dr. Hall's opinion that "a youth not actually engaged in war should be completing his education, regard the placing of the minimum draft age at 21 years a wise move," he said, "as a youth under that age is not solidified."

JOHN DAY VALLEY IS SECOND GRAND CANYON

Dazzling Beauties of Eastern Oregon District Impresses University Students

University of Oregon, Eugene, Aug. 6.—The Grand Canyon of the Colorado is duplicated, on a somewhat smaller scale in the John Day valley, in the opinion of Dr. Warren D. Smith, professor of geology in the University of Oregon, who, with Dr. E. L. Packard, his associate in the department, recently spent a month in that region on a scientific exploring expedition.

"One of the new post roads proposed for central Oregon is to run through this most interesting region," said Dr. Smith. "When that hard-surfaced highway is completed, tourists will flock into that country, and they will be rewarded with scenery which, in my judgment, surpasses even that of the famous Columbia Highway."

"It will be expensive construction, owing to the nature of the country, where cloudbursts, or waterspouts are not infrequent during the summer."

"Picture gorge cuts through fifteen different flows of Columbia basalt, tilted at an angle. One thousand feet of cliff is all in columns. The stream goes through the gorge along a cut not more than 150 feet wide. The resemblance to the Grand Canyon comes in the vastness of section exposed and the wonderful colors exhibited by these great beds. The Columbia basalt of the region overlies one thousand feet of variegated tuff-volcanic ash beds. The top of these beds is pink; below that, the shade is buff; then come green and blue; next a whitish color, and finally, at the bottom, a dark red series of beds. All these are eroded in fantastic shapes, like the Bad Lands of Dakota.

THE GREATEST EVIL

The Persian author Saadi tells a story of three sages—a Greek, an Indian and a Persian—who in the presence of the Persian monarch debated this question: Of all evils incident to humanity which is the greatest? The Grecian declared, "Old age oppressed with poverty;" the Indian answered, "Pain with impatience;" while the Persian, bowing low, made answer, "The greatest evil, O king, that I can conceive is the couch of death without one good deed of life to light the darksome way."

GETTING THE FEET WET.

The Part the Sidewalk Plays in Colds and Grip Epidemics.

That a close relationship exists between sidewalks and grip epidemics is asserted in Good Health by Martin Nevins. Grip and colds, says Mr. Nevins, are germ diseases. Germs are floating about us in the air. We breathe them in by the thousand. "But they are cowardly fellows. Once they get inside a healthy body they retreat." He goes on:

"It is only when one thing or another disturbs our health equilibrium that the 'bugs' manage to gain a foothold in our system. It may be injudicious eating, it may be lack of fresh air, but most frequently it is some kind of exposure—getting the feet wet—that lays the fortress open to them."

"It is not at all hard to get your feet wet. And that is where the sidewalk comes in. The ordinary sidewalk is a right hand assistant when you want a cold foot bath. It is built flat, without any slope to drain it."

"The condition is aggravated if there occurs a natural depression in the sidewalk. The water runs into it and stands until it is dried or is frozen. The natural result is a harvest of grip epidemics and any number of colds, bronchitis and lung troubles. And tuberculosis, too—this disease can often be traced to sidewalks, since it usually starts with some simple lung affection."

"We must stop building flat sidewalks and make them convex instead, so they will drain easily, and elevate them slightly above the level of the ground."

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

PRETTY MARIE DORO TONIGHT

Marie Doro, the celebrated stage and screen star, who recently scored such a pronounced success in "Oliver Twist" will be seen at the Globe tonight in the Jesse L. Lasky production of the clever Irish drama, "Castles for Two," written especially for her by Beatrice De Mille and Leighton Osmun, and produced for the Paramount Program under the direction of Frank Reicher.

By her beauty, personal charm, and wonderful dramatic ability, Miss Doro has within a year achieved as great popularity in the photodrama as she did on the speaking stage, and each Lasky production in which she has appeared has added fresh laurels to her wreath of fame. In "Castles for Two" she has a wonderful opportunity to show her ability as a comedienne, and is also given plenty of scope for her dramatic talents.

The story of "Castles for Two" has to do with the adventures of an impulsive heiress, who, tiring of social life in New York, flees with her nurse to Ireland, and disguised as a maid, wins the heart of an impecunious but fine Irish Lord.
