A PRO-AMERICAN CONSTITUTION

Certain legal authorities have raised the question whether it is constitutional to send American troops to Europe. One venerable lawyer who formerly held a high office at Washington maintains that our government cannot lawfully send abroad either the national army or the federalized national guard.

It is of no particular value to inquire whether these experts are actuated by pro-German influence or by an honest but exaggerated respect for strict legalism. The effect is equally pernicious in either case.

Whatever the motives of these super-critical lawyers, they are trying to throw a monkey wrench into our vast delicate and complicated war machine. And if their effort succeeded, it would mean our defeat and the defeat of the whole allied cause.

Once more, in a great emergency, we may safely assume, this document will demonstrate its inherent vitality. The constitution is not a mere aggregation of words. It is a living thing, whose application to American life and institutions changes with their change, while preserving its spirit inviolate.

Let the case go to trial. Let us have a prompt decision, so that the trouble-makers may learn as soon as possible that our fundamental law is not pro-German. The constitution was made for America, and not America for the constitution.

WISFITS

By F. P. Nutting

I neglected to mention that Tacoma has a good many elevator girls, who do their work, a tedious one, easily and in good humor. Portland had none when I left. The war has evidently brought about this change. In one elevator I noticed a sign warning people not to talk with the operator, which I have paid no attention to!

The autos are parked here in the middle of the street, where there is no track, a place being marked off for the purpose. It seems to be a good arrangement.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere?" asked a man, soon after getting off a Seattle boat. "Perhaps," I remarked, "your face looks familiar to me." Further conversation revealed the fact that it was Andrew Brund, a prominent Albany College student in the years 1903 and 1904, and we had not met for thirteen years. Mr. Brund is a merchant in Cottage Grove, and had been attending Buyers' Week in Seattle.

In the Y. M. C. A. here the other day I noticed an advertisement in the city directory had been changed. It had read: "S--'s Academy of Dancing." Some one had changed the dancing to hell.

I see a great many men with hard lines in their faces. Evidently have run up against the real thing in life.

Too much powder, et cetera, on the faces of the women to see the lines.

I read an article headed "24 to 4." The 24 are the number of nations on the side of the Allies, 16 actually being in the war. The 4 are the central allies. Figures are awful liars if we don't lick the Teutons to a finish.

Miss Flo Nutting passed thru the city today (Saturday) on her annual vacation of two weeks, to be spent in Portland and Albany.

B. H. Hart, an Albany real estate man for many years, has been in the city for several days, while looking after business at the big Tacoma smelter, an immense industry here. He is now in the mining business. (See if initials are right)

Climbing the Ladder.
The prudent, penniless beginner in the world labors for wages awhile, saves a surplus with which to buy tools or land for himself, then labors on his own account another while and at length hires another beginner to help him. This is the just and generous and prosperous system which opens the way to all, gives hope to all and improvement of condition to all—Lincoln.

Practically all experimenters have demonstrated one basic fact—that radium does destroy cancer cells without producing any disintegrating effect upon normal tissue.

The Rocker Rebelled.
In the early days of missions in Persia the people were naturally suspicious of the missionaries and were constantly on the lookout for something in their houses which would exert a baleful influence upon native visitors.

Can your Uncle Sam depend on you? Are you one of his efficient citizens? If you are efficient in spite of poor eyes, you are breaking down nerve energy and reducing your vision for the future. If your vision is defective, you will not aid it by trying to ignore it. Correct it, and put your self in line for greater service.
