MISFITS

By F. P. Nutting

At Waitburg I met Morgan Barnes son of the late A. Barnes. He and his brother Ernest are running an eating house and pool room and doing well. Ernest was at the hot springs for the rheumatism. I also had the pleasure of a short visit with Mrs. Ernest Barnes, formerly Miss Orpha Room, of Albany.

At Dayton I had a visit with Cleve Davis, formerly of Albany. Mrs. Davis and daughter had just returned from a visit at Albany.

On the street I heard a young man tell a friend about a man who wore a collar so high he couldn't spit over it.

At Pasco there is an arch on one side of which is the word "Welcome." On the other "Mizpah." I gave it up.

The most stunning waitresses I have seen were at the Hotel Pasco. People continue to keep their eyes on Pasco and its inhabitants. In some places, though, it almost takes a telescope to see from one store to another.

Never judge a city until you get into the business and residence sections. At the depot Pasco looks like a bunch of weeds; but it is a good place with lots of biz. 5,000 people are claimed.

Over across the river Kennebec also claims that number and expects to reach 50,000 when a big irrigation project goes thru.

Dr. Pe-Well is the name of a Pasco man.

North Yakima has three or four former Albany families.

Charlie Knecht was the first old friend to be met. I called at the home of his daughter, Flossie Knecht Henderson, who has a fine girl nearly two years old. Am going up to

GOVERNMENT WANTS MEN AND WOMEN TO ENFORCE LABOR LAWS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(By United Press)—Uncle Sam is holding examinations today and tomorrow all over the country to secure experts—men and women—to assist in the child-conserving, baby-saving work of the department of labor in war time.

TOMMY PREFERS HIS RIFLE TO BOMBS
By Arthur E. Mann, United Press Staff Correspondent
London, Aug. 29.—(By Mail)—"Some people," said the sergeant, "are bomb-dotty."
"I've heard of chaps at the front comin' away from a shell-hole because they's used up all their bombs, though they 'adn't fired a shot from their rifles."
"An' then there's people thinks that rottin' matters but artillery or tanks or gas 'elms or bayonets or any old thing wot they 'appen to take a particular interest in. Now, I'm not a bloomin' specialist; I'm a soldier, an' I say the rifle's the first and foremost weapon that the soldier 'as to use!"
"Bombs is all right—when they 'it the 'Uns, of course—but bombs 'as their limits. Bombs is 'easy to start off with, an' you 'ave to be a 'ell of a chap to 'url one with accuracy more'n 60 or 70 yards. It aint like that with a rifle. A bullet aint as 'easy as a bomb, an' it goes a darn sight quicker. While you're foolin' about with a bomb, you can 'ave a bullet in that 'Un, an' wot's more, let me tell you, the 'Un can't catch the bullet in 'is 'and an' 'url it back at you, same's some of 'em 'ave done with bombs!"
"When you 'ear anybody runnin' about saying as 'ow the rifle 'as been superseded by bombs or some other stunt like that, just you laugh. Of course, if it's a officer wot says it, you needn't laugh too ostentatiously, but laugh all the same. Sort of mental, see?"
