IT HITS THE HIGH SPOTS OF HILARITY

A CYCLONIC MUSICAL FARCE by Frank Mendel

HEALTH HINTS

Good Humor—

Good humor is the safety valve of business. Nervous prostration has little chance with the man who can enjoy a laugh at himself and others. It's only when a man begins to take himself too seriously that sanitariums start to figure on his patronage.—Osteopathic Magazine.

Modern Medicine—

Just quit whatever you do do
And do whatever you don't
For whatever you don't do may agree with you
As whatever you do do don't.

Spinal Adjustment—

Spinal adjustment originated with Osteopathy; it is the central truth of Osteopathy; it has received all its development in the Osteopathic profession. Other systems of healing claiming to practice it are impenitent counterfeiters.

Good X-Ray Apparatus—

Do not forget our office is equipped with a good X-Ray apparatus, with which we are getting splendid results.

HEALTH and Cheerfulness mutually beget each other.—Addison.

Too "Sot"—

Osteopathic treatment taken in time will prevent a large part of that burden if you are not too "sot" in your ideas to give it a chance.

Bent Nail—

A spine, curved and stiffened from occupational conditions, offers no more resistance in time of stress than a bent nail under a hammer.

Weather the Storm—

A trip to the Osteopath once and a while finds you remedies that weak spot and you find yourself able to weather the storm when it comes.

The Question—

"The question for each man to settle is not what he would do if he had means, time, influence and educational advantages, but what he will do with the things he has."

It Succeeds When Others Fail—

Osteopathic physicians and surgeons are trained to meet all emergencies which may arise, but they are prepared to offer you something distinctly better than other methods of healing. It succeeds when other methods fail, but don't wait until then; come in the first place, and save yourself money and suffering.

Cheerfulness—

Cheerfulness keeps up a kind of daylight in the mind, and fills it with a steady and perpetual serenity.—Addison.

AN OLD SCHOOL physician, Dr. A. T. Still, found that the human body, like any other machine, is liable to strains and displacements of its parts and that these bodily derangements are sure causes of disease. Therefore the adjustment of all parts of the body machine is absolutely essential to perfect health.

Gold—

"Gold that buys health can never be ill spent, nor hours laid out in harmless merriment."

ONE OF THE burdens that hinders, and almost the back of society, is the ill health that does not need to exist.

OSTEOPATHY includes in addition to the adjustment of the structure of the body, the adjustment of man's environment to his health requirements and the proper observance of all dietetic, psychology, sanitary and hygienic laws.
