on October 11, 1917, Corvallis, Ore., being one of the cities.

The usual entrance salaries are from $900 to $1200 per annum. All qualified stenographers and typewriters are urged to apply for and take the coming examination as a sufficient number of stenographers and typewriters have not been reached to meet the needs of the government service.

For application blanks and full information apply at once to Local Secretary, Board of Civil Service Examiners, this city, or Secretary Eleventh Civil Service District, 303 Postoffice Building, Seattle, Wash.

PHEASANT SEASON OPENS; SOME GET "THE LIMIT"

With hunters here from all parts of the state, the pheasant season opened this morning and a number of good bags were brought in by the sportsmen.

John Neeley and John Robson got "the limit." Others may have had similar success but the Democrat did not hear of it up to the hour of going to press. The birds are said to be plentiful this year; at least, that's what the successful hunters say. The other fellows don't talk.

Hundreds of motor cars left Albany early this morning and the jitney stations were swamped with orders for cars.

BIRTHDAY SOCIAL WILL BE HELD TUESDAY
