SOCIETY

The time of the Albany people continues to be taken up with Red Cross work, as more men are still passing through from the South. The W. C. T. U. convention also occupied many, and some are spending their leisure with hunting, since the pleasant season opened on Monday. Parties are going out each day and not only enjoy this popular sport, but frequently return with the limit. Among those who have entertained informally with pleasant dinners are Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barrett, honoring their house guests from Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Greene, who also were hosts in this charming manner.

Mrs. A. N. Minton presided as one of the week's most charming hostesses, when she entertained the Thursday Study club at her home on Sixth street. Current events were used in response to roll call, and another interesting feature was a splendid paper on "Queen Victoria" by Mrs. E. M. Pugh. The rooms were adorned with yellow merrillids arranged in artistic effect. The remainder of the time was passed with sewing and conversation, followed by a dainty lunch. Those enjoying the afternoon as complimentary guests were Mrs. L. H. Fish, Mrs. W. A. Woodward, and Mrs. G. E. Sanders.

Mrs. Orrin Anderson extended the hospitality of her home to the members of the Kensington club and a number of complimented guests, on Wednesday afternoon. Sewing and conversation made the time pass pleasantly, and an interesting contest was also enjoyed, honors falling to Mrs. C. E. Clifford. The afternoon was brought to a close when the hostess, assisted by Miss Viola Kroschell, served a delicious collation. The additional guests included Mesdames George Hofflich, Edmund Anderson, C. H. Roetticher, G. M. Junkin, R. H. Morris and Waldo Anderson. About 12 club members were present.

As a courtesy to two popular girls, Miss Enlah Hand, who left yesterday for California, and to Miss Helen Gibson, who will also leave Albany soon, a delightful dinner party was given on Wednesday evening with Miss Wilma Junkin as hostess. The effective red color scheme was artistically carried out in the table decorations and appointments. In the center was a large bouquet of red sweet peas with ferns, and red shaded candles, favors and place cards completed the effect. Covers were laid for nine guests. After the elaborate dinner the evening was passed with music and dancing.

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent by the members of the H. D. W. club on Thursday afternoon, when they met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Warner. The time was passed pleasantly with sociability, and choice refreshments were served by the hostess. As an additional guest, Mrs. Gray of Lebanon was present at this time.

Another merry party of the week, for which Miss Helen Gibson was honor guest, was given on Friday evening, when a jolly crowd of boys and girls composing the younger set surprised her at her home. Meeting at the home of Miss Vera Brown, they went in a body to the home of Miss Gibson. The main feature of the evening's pleasure was the dinner which was served around a prettily decked table. Autumn leaves and an attractive floral arrangement, with other appropriate appointments, were used. A clever idea was carried out in the service, this affair being a "backwards dinner," affording a great deal of fun. Those fortunate enough to be present on this occasion were the Misses Grace McCasley, Benlah Delancey, Wilma Junkin, Rita Dowling, Thelma Burnett, Viola Kroschell, Lois Nebergall, Kamilla Kroschell, Vera Brown, Helen Gibson, and the Messrs. Vernon Henderson, Roy Harris, Royal Archibald, Ronald Green, Claire Hunt, Kenneth Burnett, Orman Giddow, and Harold Irvine. Miss Gibson, who is a very attractive young girl, will be greatly missed by her many friends here.

Miss Marciel Austin was a guest in Salem last week when she went down to spend several days with friends and to attend a dance.

On Friday evening a reception was held at Tremont Hall, for the pleasure of the new students and faculty of Albany College. Attractive decorations of astors with ferns and greenery were about the rooms where the guests enjoyed a delightful evening. Several interesting contests were enjoyed, Miss Mary Haberly receiving a prize for the most clever answers. Music and conversation were the other diversions until a choice collation was served by a committee consisting of Miss Margaret Gibson and Miss Helen Lee. Several invited guests joined with the college students for this affair.

The Teachers' club enjoyed a jolly picnic on Thursday evening when they took their supper along the river bank in Bryant's Park. A large bon fire was built, around which weinies were roasted, and the evening was passed pleasantly. About 25 were present.

A pleasant affair of the week was on Thursday when Mrs. John Neely entertained at her home for the members of the Needle Craft club, and several guests. Garden blooms were arranged about the rooms with charming effect, and a social time with sewing and conversation, was followed by a dainty lunch. This was served in the pergola "al fresco" style. Besides the club members present were Mesdames Edmund Anderson, Lee Bilyeu (Lebanon), George Hofflich and Gus Neely of Eugene, who is the house guest of the hostess.

A meeting of the Coterie club which proved to be most enjoyable was held on Friday afternoon when Mrs. Rufus Russell presided as hostess at her home. The rooms were graced with bowls of various flowers artistically arranged. After the pleasant social time the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charles Leonard, served a dainty repast. Mrs. Willard Marks was present as a complimented guest.

The members of the Beta Gamma club will give a theater party this evening. After meeting at the home of Miss Velma Anthony on Lyon street, the girls will go to see the splendid photoplay, "The Flame of
