SOCIETY

Miss Corintha Hart
Society Editor
Bell Phone 538-R

The first meeting of the Monday club since the summer vacation, was held this week at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schmitt, on West Fifth street. A short business meeting was followed by a most enjoyable social time. A light supper rounded out the evening's pleasure.

A charming dinner party was given for Mrs. Mark Weatherford on Sunday evening at the Hotel Albany, when Mrs. J. K. Weatherford presided as a gracious hostess. Seated around the perfectly appointed table were Mrs. Mark Weatherford, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs.
William H. Hornbrook, Mr. Fred Weatherford and Mr. and Mrs. J.
K. Weatherford.

For the pleasure of Misses Kate and Alice Allan, who will leave next week to spend the winter in Pullman,

Washington, the members of the P.
E. O. gave a charming party on Wednesday evening. The home of Mrs.
Owen Beam was artistically adorned for this occasion, with quantities of sweet peas about the rooms. The ladies brought their sewing and knitting and passed the evening combining patriotism with pleasure. At a late hour a delicious collation was served to the 12 guests present.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Stark were dinner hosts on Wednesday evening, complimentary to Mrs. Charles Kirk of Portland. The table decorations and appointments were well carried out, and the delicious menu was enjoyed by Mrs. Charles Kirk, Mr. and Mrs.
W. O. Biddle, Mrs. V. H. Merrill, and Dr. and Mrs. Stark.

The Thursday Study club was delightfully entertained this week, when Mrs. C. E. Clifford presided as hostess at her home. A profusion of yellow marigolds were about the rooms in baskets, giving a very charming effect. "Mrs. Eva Emery Dye," an Oregon writer, was the subject of a splendid paper by Mrs. Floyd Templeton, which was greatly enjoyed by those present. A social time followed with choice refreshments served by the hostess. Mrs. W. A. Woodward and Mrs. G. F. Finerty were present as complimented guests.

Mrs. Willard Marks was a charming hostess of yesterday afternoon, when she entertained the Leisure Hour club at her home. The rooms were graced with dahlias prettily arranged in bowls with greenery. A pleasant social time, with needlework and conversation, was enjoyed, followed by a dainty lunch. Additional guests at this time were Mesdames L. E.
Hamilton, L. E. Blain, Gustas Abraham, William Hornbrook, Albert Senders, J. Loren White and J. H.
Simpson.

The Acme Bridge club held a business meeting on Tuesday of this week at the home of Mrs. J. K. Westford. At this time it was decided to play bridge only once a month this year, in order to devote more time to Red Cross work. Election of officers was also held, with the following result: Mrs. L. G. Lewelling, president; Mrs. L. H. Fish, vice-president; and Mrs. V. W. Merrill, secretary.

Mrs. A. Bowers, who left on Thursday evening for Los Angeles to spend the winter, was the inspiration for a jolly affair of Tuesday evening, when Mrs. C. W. Sears entertained the R.
R. club, and a number of additional guests. Cards, fancy work and conversation were the diversions of the evening, followed by a choice repast.
The guests left at a late hour, all wishing the hostess a pleasant journey.

A home coming social was an event of this week, when the Loyal Daughters of the Christian church entertained the congregation at the church parlors on Thursday evening.
The decorations were cleverly in keeping with the autumn season and suggestive of Halloween, quantities of brilliant-hued foliage and pumpkins being in evidence. A splendid program was given and choice refreshments brought to a close the pleasant social time.

After the regular lodge session of the Pythian Sisters on Tuesday evening, Mesdames Fred Ward, Bern Davis, and Charles Curry were hostesses for the social hour. Music and conversation were enjoyed until the guests were bidden to "The Crest," where light refreshments were served.

Mrs. F. D. Walters extended her hospitality to the members of the H. D. W. club on Thursday. Appropriate Halloween decorations were used about the rooms. The afternoon was passed in a pleasant social way, music and conversation being enjoyed while the ladies did fancy work. A dainty collation was later served, the hostess being assisted by her daughter. The invited guests were Mrs. Gray and mother, of Lebanon, Mrs. Wilson of Lebanon, and Mrs. C. R. Hoevet.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Frank Horsky entertained at her home, honoring her sister, Mrs. Charles Rendla, of Salem. Pink rosebuds about the rooms added a charming note, and the gay crowd passed the evening with cards. An elaborate collation was later served. Those present were Mesdames W. C. Tweedale, Grant Pittman, H. A. Warford, Walter Parker, Clare Corson, L. A. Kroschell, Miss Minnie Merrill, Mrs. Rendla, and Mrs. Horsky.

The Monday Bridge club met on Tuesday of this week, at the home of Mrs. G. E. Riggs. Cut flowers adorned the rooms where the afternoon was passed with the popular diversion of bridge. Mrs. R. A. B.
Vocal substituted for an absent member. Delicious refreshments were served before the guests departed.

Miss Vera Brown was hostess last night to the girls of the Entre Nous club, when a supper was enjoyed at her home. After the sumptuous feed, the crowd attended the reception at the high school.

The Elks' Ladies' club met on Wednesday afternoon at the club rooms, with a good attendance. Five hundred was the gay diversion which was enjoyed by many. Mrs. Frank Horsky scoring high. Those not caring for cards occupied themselves with sewing and conversation. The guests were Mrs. C. H. Corson (Cottage Grove), and Mrs. Charles Rendla (Salem).

Health Hints

Italian Proverb—

Where the sun does not come the doctor does.

Reason—

"Wouldst thou enjoy a long life, a healthy body and vigorous mind —bring thy appetite to reason."
—Benjamin Franklin.

Due Credit Where Credit is Due—

(From Dexter Sentinel, Dexter, Ia.)

Lloyd Sanfield came up from Des Moines the latter part of the week feeling fine and dandy, the result of three months' osteopathic treatment, after being given up by some of the most eminent men of the state.

We are led to make the foregoing statements because of the uncomplimentary remarks we have heard during the last few days in regard to osteopaths and their method of treatment, branding them all as fakes and those who patronize them as fools with no ailments and who would reall right soon.

Such talk doesn't go with the editor. It brings to mind too forcibly a little incident of no great distant date when he was sent home to die, the final decision of 31 leading physicians of the East.

Nevertheless, he is here today, the embodiment of health and strength, a "the result of 12 months' osteopathic treatment. So, naturally, we have a kindly feeling towards the osteopath.

We believe it the only true method of treating disease and one must be ignorant of the laws of God and nature to scoff at it. Hew to the line, let the chips fall where they will, but give due credit where credit is due.

Do not be afraid of Truth. She is no invalid.—Emerson.

Virtue—Art—

"How great the virtue and the art To live on little with a cheerful heart."
—Pope.

Consult the Person Who Knows—

Osteopathy is a comparatively new system of treating diseases. Being new it is not well understood, except by those who have personally investigated it. Those who have not investigated do not know its value; they have wrong conceptions about it; sometimes even it is misrepresented and absurd stories about it are put in circulation. Those who wish to know the truth about Osteopathy should follow the same commonsense rule they would about any other subject, that is, consult the person who knows about it, which in this case is the Osteopath himself. He will explain the science and provide can still further inform himself about a subject which may prove both interesting and profitable.

Life—
"True life lies in laughter, love and work."

Don't Wait—

"If you have time, don't wait for time."

All Causative Factors Duly Considered—

The Osteopathic physician is as insistent as any other physician that all natural laws as to diet, hygiene, regular habits, exercise, etc., be observed. To him man consists of both mind and matter. The mind is given due consideration in causing and being affected by disease, but besides this there is a very material body that is subject to mechanical disorders of its parts ranging from gross dislo-cation of hip, shoulder or spine, down to the minutest derangements of its most delicate parts. These mechanical disorders, gross or minute, each play their roll in causing disease by depriving some part of the body of its supply of blood or nerve force, i. e., its "chance" to get well.
—Percy H. Woodall, M. D., D. O.

Suspicious—
"Some people are so suspicious and apprehensive you might think they were even fearful of getting hurt on the corners of a square deal."
—Paid Adv.
