CITY NEWS

Call for Pans—
The superintendent of the Red Cross rooms requests that all people who have pie pans, jelly glasses, etc., at the headquarters call for them at once. There are many such articles on hand, and besides being in the way, the longer they are left the harder it is for the owners to identify and secure their own belongings.

Arrived in Wisconsin—
Friends in Sunrise have received word from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harper of their safe arrival at Bridgeport, Wis. Mrs. Harper's father, Mr. Robert Orr, died October 14, shortly after her arrival there. Mr. Harper went by freight with his fine driving team, and arrived all right after 12 days on the road. They will be in the East a year.

Montgomery Leaves Soon—
M. Montgomery, who Saturday received word that he had been promoted to the position of station agent at Medford, expects to leave Albany in about two weeks. The name of his successor at Albany has not been announced. Both Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery have made a large circle of friends in Albany who will regret to see them leave.

Employment Bureau—
John Catlin has opened an employment bureau on a small scale. He has several local people in view who are willing to work, and says that he will be glad to be of assistance in putting the names of these people in the hands of those who have been unable to obtain men to put in their wood and to do other odd jobs.

Regular W. C. T. U. Meeting —
The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the public library tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Morgan will speak on "Two by the Hearthstone." The ladies are requested to bring towels to hem for the soldiers, and the work is to be planned for the coming year.

Sold Farm—
Hecker & Beam have closed the deal for the sale of the R. Walworth farm to Emil Sill. The place is located in Benton county, consists of acres, and the consideration was $5,000.

Dr. Wallace Returning—
Dr. B. R. Wallace will return to Albany Friday night for the purpose of performing some operations on Saturday. He will return Sunday evening to Seattle.

Stewart Home—
State Bank Examiner Chas. H. Stewart arrived home today from a trip through Southeastern Oregon.

Moved to Ferry—
Mrs. M. D. Barrett and family have moved from 219 West Eighth street to 532 South Ferry.

Portland People Here—
Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Morris of Portland are visiting relatives in Albany. They will return home this afternoon.

Indian Family Here—
An interesting sight Saturday evening was an Indian, his wife and five children, of Siletz Reservation. They were returning home from a hopyard at Independence, and stopped to take in the movies and sights in Albany.

Returned to Cornelius—
Mrs. S. E. Montgomery, of Cornelius, returned to her home this morning after visiting at the home of her son, M. Montgomery, for the past week.

Moving to Canada—
W. H. Hutchins left yesterday afternoon for Acme, Alberta, Canada, to join his son Roy and family. They have a large farm there. A carload of cattle, horses and household goods was shipped to them Saturday.

Looked After Property—
T. R. Rogers left yesterday for his home in Rosalia, Wash. He has been looking after his property in this city.

ONE-TIME PIRATES

Esthonian Outrages Enkindled Wrath of Danish Kings.

Records Show They Were Regarded as a Daring, Predatory People of the Baltic.

The Esthonians, who constitute four-fifths of the population of the Russian Baltic province of Esthonia, which lies between Riga and Petrograd, are the subject of a bulletin issued by the National Geographic society from its Washington headquarters:

"Like the Finns, to whom they are closely related, the Esthonians or Esths, a race numbering 1,000,000 people, more than 400,000 of whom reside in Esthonia, retain many characteristics which bespeak their Mongolian origin. They are long-armed and short-legged, have broad face and low brows, are usually beardless and have oblique eyes.

"The first record of the Esths in Europe reveals them as a daring, predatory people of the Baltic whose piratic outrages enkindled the wrath of Danish kings as early as the twelfth century. In 1194 and 1196 Canute VI sent a strong expedition against them and forced a number of the lawless bands to accept Christianity and allow themselves to be baptized. Hardly had the warlike proselyters left the Esthonian shores, however, than the inhabitants reverted to barbarism and their heathen practices. A quarter of a century later Waldemar II was more successful. He subjugated the northern portion of the land and brought the inhabitants under submission to the Danish crown. It was never a willing submission, however, and for more than 100 years the inhabitants gave their conquerors endless trouble until 1343 Waldemar IV decided that they were 'not worth the bother,' so he sold his interest in the rebels and in their land to the Knights of the Sword, who were gradually spreading their net of power northward from Teutonic lands.

"For more than 300 years thereafter the lot of the Esthonians was virtually that of serfdom under their German landowners.

"In the sixteenth century both the nobles and the fortified towns of Esthonia placed themselves under the protection of the Swedish crown, but they were forced to acknowledge a new master after Peter the Great's successful wars against Charles XII.

"For the last thirty years the Russian imperial government has been making systematic efforts to abolish the Esthonian language, to which the people have clung tenaciously. Harsh regulations as to the use of the language in the schools have not served to wean the people from their language, however. One characteristic which has served to preserve the Esth language through the centuries has been the people's love for poetry, and they have rare natural gift for versification.

"The Orthodox Greek church of Russia also has conducted an active program in Esthonia, but according to the latest religious census 96 per cent of the inhabitants are still Lutherans."

First Aid to Marriage.

Of what use is a diamond, anyway? Conservationists who are for cutting out all extravagance during the war are asking the question, says the Kansas City Star.

The answer, based upon statistics furnished by jewelers, seems to be that the diamond is most valuable as an aid to marriage. It is said that the trade in diamonds goes up or down in ratio with increasing or decreasing numbers of marriages. This is because the diamond is used so much as the setting in engagement rings.

Last year the United States imported $34,400,000 worth of diamonds, an increase of 70 per cent over 1915 and 110 per cent over 1914.

Looking into this startling growth of the diamond trade it was discovered that, according to leading importers, "every girl expects a real diamond in pledge of plighted troth these days, and the growth of that custom, coupled with good times and an increase in the number of marriages, accounts for it."

Meteors From the Moon.

Taking up an old theory of meteors, Emile Belot, French astronomer, has attempted to demonstrate that these bodies may have resulted from volcanic eruptions on the moon and other satellites of the solar system's planets. He finds that an initial velocity of projection comparable to that which has been observed in the eruption of Cotopaxi and only twice as great as that developed in artillery of the present war would be sufficient to carry a body free from the moon and he has made calculations of the speed of projection and other conditions that would cause such a body to become a satellite of the moon, of the earth, or of the sun.

Suggests a Hilarious Finish.

Most hilarious and mirthful would be the ending of the war under the scheme of a Hennicker (N. H.) humanitarian. He would have all the Germans, the kaiser included, laugh themselves to death, says the Boston Journal.

Briefly, the scheme is to spill a new kind of laughing gas, which the writer says he has invented, all over the German forces. The gas, according to the plan, can be carried over the German trenches in airplanes and dropped.

Chief of Uncle Sam's Fighters on the Sea

What the chief of staff is to the army the chief of naval operations is to the navy—he is the head. That is the position held by Rear Admiral William S. Benson. As such he is the head of the navy, having the highest rank since the death of Admiral Dewey.

He outranks the commander in chief of the Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic fleets, because these three admirals have been graded below the admiral who serves as chief of operations. He is charged with the operation of all the fleets.

Admiral Benson is a native of Georgia, sixty-two years of age, and entered the Naval academy in September, 1873. Since then he has spent twenty-two years afloat and has seen service in every clime. For a time he was commandant of midshipmen at the Naval academy. In August, 1915, he was appointed commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard, going thence to his present post.

Hide and Seek.

The old favorite hide and seek never loses in popularity. To this game can be added a few party frills and variations. Cheap tin horns can be decorated with a rose on top and a few leaves added to represent the stem. After it has been decided who is to be "it" the others hide. When they are safely hidden the horns are blown to notify the one who is "it" that the search is on.

Inspiration Miscellany

Look on the Bright Side.

There is a proverb, "He who has never made a mistake has attempted little of difficulty or value." The worst use a man can make of his mistakes is to brood over them till he becomes melancholy or grows bitter at their natural consequences. If a mistake is reparable let him never cease his efforts till he has repaired it. If, as is too often the case, it is incurable, let him bear the consequences manfully and cheerfully, devoting no more time or thought to his mistake than is necessary to help him from falling into it a second time.

Nature has her moral as well as her physical hypochondriacs, and to brood too much over our mistakes is as bad for the healthfulness of the mind as brooding over our ailments is for the healthfulness of the body. Nay, even when our misfortunes seem to come from no fault of our own, when, so far as we can learn from self examination, we need not reproach ourselves with any consciousness of mistake; when it seems as if circumstances were really too strong for us; even then, if our misfortunes are past cure and inevitable, let us not add to our misery by vain regrets.

If we cannot alter our fate let us alter ourselves. As the Spanish proverb says, "If we cannot get what we like let us try to like what we can get." A great authority has told us that "He that is of a merry heart hath a continual feast." Cheerfulness, like other qualities, has the faculty of growing by what it feeds on.

A Man's Work.

The distinction and end of a soundly constituted man is his labor. Use is inscribed on all his faculties. Use is the end to which he exists. As the tree exists for its fruit, so a man for his work. A fruitless plant, an idle animal, does not stand in the universe. They are all toiling, however, secretly or slowly, in the province assigned them and to a use in the economy of the world; the higher and more complex organizations to higher and more catholic service. And the man seems to play, by his instincts and activity, a certain part that even tells on the general face of the planet. Drains swamps, leads rivers into dry countries for their irrigation, perforates forests and stony mountain chains with roads, hinders the inroads of the sea on the continent, and, as if dressing the globe for happier races.—Emerson.

"HER BETTER SELF" AT THE GLOBE THEATRE

"If you'll marry this Baron we've found for you, I'll get you a new motor," or words to that effect was what Vivian Tyler's father said to her in "Her Better Self," a Famous Players-Paramount picture starring Pauline Frederick on the Paramount Program. A story of the change effected in a frivolous daughter of wealthy parents by the strong character of the man she loved, lightened with touches of humor. What would you do were you offered a motor to marry a Baron? Doubtless not what Vivian did, which you will see for yourself at the Globe Theatre next week.

CITY NEWS

Returns to Salem—
Harry Schlosser returned to Salem this morning after spending the week-end in Albany.

Returns to Eugene—
Ralph Lamb, who is taking a short course at U. of O., returned to Eugene this morning after spending Sunday with his parents.

Golden Wedding Anniversary—
Mrs. J. K. Falbe went to Dever this morning, to attend the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Chambers.

Soldiers on Furlough—
Elliott Sprenger, Geo. E. Hughes, Delmer Whetstone, Bender, and Jess Ellis arrived here Sunday morning from Fort Canby and will enjoy civil life in this city with relatives and friends until Tuesday evening. The boys at the Fort are having a great time shooting ducks these days. Many of the boys have sent for their shot guns and take their off-duty recreation at hunting on Sand Island and other places around the mouth of the river, where wild ducks are thick. Some of the boys have purchased a launch.

Miss Schultz Returns—
Miss Mable Schultz, who has been at Mitchell, Ore., for the past month, returned home Sunday and this morning resumed her place in the Maple street school. During her absence her work has been carried on by her sister, Mrs. L. Reade Dowlin, who will leave for her home in Portland Tuesday. Yesterday Mr. Dowlin came up from Portland for a short visit.

Will Ride Goat—
The first rank will be conferred upon Deputy Sheriff Joe Frum and W. S. Holt, of the Standard Oil Co., by the Knights of Pythias this evening.

Cow Paid Well—
Mrs. C. S. M. Henderson, who resides on West Twenfth street, states that keeping a cow in the city pays, even when one has to buy all the feed. Seven years ago she purchased a cow for $40. During the seven years she made more than $50 a year profit from the sale of milk, although she did not always have customers for all of the products. Besides, she made all the butter used, and used all the cream that was wanted by the family. She recently sold the cow for $65, and has a two-year-old heifer from this cow left. She also made a profit from the other calves from the cow.

MARINE ROOKIES BEAT VETERANS' BEST TIME

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Oct. 22.—Although young men training to become "soldiers of the sea" are being rushed through their courses rapidly, they retain efficiency throughout, as is shown by the record for "making and breaking" camp established by a company of Marine "rookies" a, this station today. The routine calls for pitching shelter tents, digging entrenchments, mounting guard, cooking dinner, inspection, the gathering of equipment and preparation for return. They accomplished the required task in 51 minutes. The previous record was held by a company of veterans now serving in Haiti. Their time was 55½ minutes.
