HOW MUCH NEXT TIME?

The first Liberty Loan brought subscriptions of about $3,000,000,000; the second, about $5,000,000,000. What will the next one bring?

Our national resources are as yet almost untouched. We have hardly scratched the surface. We might take $100,000,000,000 out of our national principal—our total accumulated wealth—and still be better off than most of the belligerents. The two billions we have paid and the four billions or so we are now paying, is all, or nearly all, saved out of our current income. Financiers say that we might buy about fourteen billions' worth of government bonds in a year without digging into our principal. We are just beginning to learn what we can do in the way of thrift.

And we are just beginning to learn the merits of bonds. It is amazing that we have subscribed so liberally as we have, when we consider the ignorance of the American public regarding this form of investment four months ago. We have never, within the memory of the present generation, had a big national debt. There has therefore never been any occasion for the wide distribution of government bonds. Such bonds as were issued were distributed in units of $1,000 or more, and used chiefly by banks as a basis for paper currency. Millions of Americans, even today, have never seen a government bond. We have been called the best earners in the world, and the worst investors. We have preferred to put our money into risky ventures, promising big returns. We are only now getting around to the viewpoint that has prevailed in European countries for decades, and looking to public loan issues as the surest, most convenient form of investment.

Both of these influences will count heavily when subsequent Liberty Loans are offered. And the factor of patriotism, increasing with the progress of the war, will also count more heavily. We may therefore expect larger subscriptions with every succeeding loan, no matter what sum is called for.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Drink lots of water.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

Before the war is over we may find ourselves absorbing a $10,000,000,000 loan as easily as we absorbed the first $2,000,000,000.
