WAR IDEALS

An Italian statesman has said that Italy originally waged war "to gain for her natural boundaries"; that after a while she found she was fighting "for the liberation of oppressed nations"; and that she is now fighting "for the democratization of states."

The statement was made in a critical spirit; but it is an excellent account of the progress of war ideals in Italy since she entered the conflict, and it reflects the spiritual progress of all the allied countries.

Every ally at first was impelled, consciously or unconsciously, by powerful reasons of its own, all having to do in some way with self-protection against German aggression. Every one learned, after a little, that the issue really at stake was one that concerned every nation in Europe—and beyond Europe, too—the question of a nation's right to live its own time and work out its own destiny without forcible interference from powerful neighbors. And then little by little they all came to see that the issue was broader still; that if nations were to live their own life, they must be assured of democratic government, and that there was no possibility of such assurance unless the countries which menaced democratic civilization were themselves democratized.

Thus they were already for instant acceptance of President Wilson's illuminating phrase, "making the world safe for democracy." That is now the formula expressing the purpose of all the allied nations, and winning the acquiescence of nearly all the neutrals. It unifies the free, progressive forces of mankind as surely as the foremost nations of Europe were unified in the Middle Ages by their crusades against the Turks. And it is an ideal no less high and worthy than that of the Crusaders.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folk who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.
