R. N. STANFIELD STATES PRINCIPLES OF CAMPAIGN

Candidate for U. S. Senator in Speech Outlines Policies to Neighbors.

STANFIELD, Ore., Jan. 10.—At the annual community meeting of the agricultural and trying interests of Umatilla county held here today, R. N. Stanfield, republican candidate for the nomination for United States Senator, was the principal speaker. There were hundreds of his neighbors and life long friends and acquaintances present and in the course of his address he stated the principles upon which he would stand in his campaign, which are as follows:

1. To support the national administration and the heads of the government with all my ability and energy in the speedy and vigorous prosecution of the war to a peace satisfactory to the democracy of the world and compatible with the highest ideals of our civilization.
2. To a selective draft in practice as well as theory, which shall insure organization of the national army and at the same time reserve the necessary labor and supplies for the continuation of our industrial pursuits and commerce.
3. To an equitable control and regulation of food supplies, commerce and industry, and the establishment of a primary market in Portland on equal basis with Chicago and eastern ports.
4. To a nation-wide prohibition and to all measures which shall make it practicable and operative and not theoretical.
5. To permanently establish equal suffrage in both state and nation.
6. To establishment by the federal government of a naval base at the mouth of the Columbia river.
7. To effective rural credit legislation and administration with a particular view to its adaptability to the needs of Oregon.
8. To construction by the federal government of a military highway along the Pacific Coast, and federal aid in the construction of permanent highways.
9. To see that Oregon participates, all things being equal, in national trade, commerce and industry, and that our state is given recognition in the federal expenditures made necessary by the war.
10. To legislation which shall bring to a settlement the public lands question, and the greater development of Oregon's natural resources including the development of water power, reclamation of arid, swampy and logged off lands.
11. To the organization and mobilization of all industrial forces, with a just and proper consideration of the rights of labor, which shall guarantee coordination of American efforts during the war.
12. To legislation that will permit resources of the great West and Alaska to be used, at the same time being careful that these natural resources are used economically.
13. To the removal of the misunderstanding and opposition on the part of the federal authorities which has restricted Oregon's commercial expansion and retarded her industrial development.
14. To the development of Oregon's great shipping ports, through federal improvement of waterways and harbors; the maintenance of a merchant marine on the Pacific Ocean, and a just recognition on the part of the federal government of the importance, value, commercial and industrial advantage of Oregon's location, situation and harbor, and shipping facilities.
15. To a policy of conservation and reconstruction which shall insure our national integrity, honor, and commerce and the moral and civic purity of our people, which is typified by a conscientious and moral observance of true Christian civilization.
16. To have that high regard and consideration for the interests and

"BAB'S" DIARY IS ONE OF SEASONS BEST PLAYS

"Bab's Diary," featuring pretty little Marguerite Clark at the Globe last night, proved to be one of the most attractive bills on the season's booking list. Miss Clark appeared to excellent advantage in the role of the little, lovestruck maiden, and pleased everyone in the audience.

"Bab's Diary" is taken from the well known "Sub-Deb" stories by Mary Roberts Rinehart, which were published in the Saturday Evening Post. The boarding school girl wants a sweetheart. She makes love to the picture of a young man on the label of a patent medicine bottle. She calls him Harold, and addresses a letter to him.

The missive falls into the hands of a young man named Harold in the same building two stories above. Infuriated, she hires a man to go to his room to steal the letter back, but he sets off a burglar alarm when she goes up to help him out, and all sorts of confusion ensue.

Many interesting and exciting events follow. The ninth episode of "Who is Number One" completes the bill.

For Friday and Saturday the Globe will present Madame Petrova in "Exile," a production of Asia.

Many of the queer habits and mannerisms of the Arab people of a little colony in Asia are shown in Mme. Petrova's latest Paramount picture, "Exile"; native teachers sitting cross-legged on the ground as they study from queer books of parchment paper; beggar children in the streets, and the custom of clapping the hands three times to summon servants.

Madame Petrova herself, being a noted traveler, was able to supply many of the "Exile" "atmospheric" touches necessary and with the marvelous directing of Maurice Tourneur the production breathes the very spirit of Asia.

Auto Service Station Moves—progress of humanity and the nation at large, which should activate the motives of every public man.

As to why he was a candidate and in respect to the issue raised, and in presenting his declaration of principles he said:

"The great national duty of the hour is effective, intelligent and patriotic support of the government in a vigorous and successful prosecution of the war against Germany and her allies.

"The obvious political and commercial need of Oregon is competent and resultful representation in Congress at Washington.

"I pledge myself, if elected United States senator, to respond to every appropriate call upon me for service to my country and similarly pledge myself, if defeated, to perform, to the limit of my ability and opportunity, every task which may be allotted to me as a citizen. I have sought always to do the latter; I hope I shall during my campaign be able to convince the people of Oregon that it is to the general interest for them to do the former. I do not assume that I have greater capacity, diligence or understanding than others; but I know, as all know, that there are many things to do which have not been done, and which I think I can help to do. For these reasons I offer myself to the people of Oregon as a candidate for United States senator at the republican primary in May.

"I am a farmer and a stock raiser. I am a native son of Oregon. I have had a modest part in its industrial, commercial and political life. I have had personal contact with some of its problems, and I have had a definite and growing interest in others; and I believe I know as well as another what is needed for development of the state's mighty resources. "A senator should be well informed as to every phase of Oregon's present development and future prospects; and he should have the will, the will and the knowledge to act promptly and fearlessly on every occasion. I believe I know what should be done for Oregon, and I know the people know that much can be done that has not been done, and I hope to convince them that I am suitably well equipped to perform the important duties of the senatorial office.

For or against me, I submit my candidacy to the republican voters of Oregon, as later I shall submit it to the whole people if duly nominated.

SURATT SHOW MAKES HIT AT THE ROLFE

Valeska Suratt has yet to make a better film drama than "A Rich Man's Plaything," the William Fox feature in which she is now appearing at the Rolfe theatre. The run opened last night and will continue tonight.

"A Rich Man's Plaything" which enjoyed a sensational New York stage success before being filmed, fits Miss Suratt as if it were written for her. Never has the famous actress appeared to better advantage, and this for the women film fans—never has she appeared in a more gorgeous array of gowns and other finery.

The story of this drama is remarkably well developed and full of tense, gripping situations. It is a story of love against gold, of a cynical man's fight against and yet for a poor but noble country girl. He loves the girl and she cannot stand wealth. So he tests her with a heartless test. But she wins.

Miss Suratt's work in this picture, in which she does not play the strenuous type with which her name has become associated, but the innocent girl, she gives another proof of her versatility.

"A Rich Man's Plaything," is a fine production and well worth seeing.

Spring Barley High—

Wm. Stellmacher yesterday brought to this office a sample of volunteer spring barley which he pulled on the farm of J. H. Starns, three miles west of the city. The barley, which volunteered from last year's harvest, is about 24 inches high and stalks are already beginning to head out. Mr. Stellmacher states that this is the earliest he has ever known barley to be so high. In many places wheat and oats are also high, and near the city is a wheat field that is about ready to head out if the warm weather lasts a few days more.
