CRABTREE ITEMS

CRABTREE, March 26.—(Special)—Mrs. George Sumpter has returned home after staying at the home of her father and mother during the absence of her mother, Mrs. Mike Kelly, who has been in the hospital at Salem.

Henry Lutz, who was formerly a resident of Crabtree, after spending the week-end with the Holliday family, left Sunday evening for Albany to visit his brother, Charlie.

The Crabtree high school students are endeavoring to be patriotic by commencing school at 7:45 in the morning and continuing without intermission till 1:10 o'clock. By this plan it is stated that the boys who are needed so badly in the fields and for raising gardens can go to school and still have the afternoon to work.

Mrs. John Alphin of Crabtree is visiting in Portland this week. Given Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burley Saturday night prior to their departure for their new home in Hillsboro. A good time was reported by those who attended.

MARINE RECRUIT THOUGHT TO BE GERMAN PLOTTER

LANCASTER, Pa., March 26.—Sergeant Gande, of the local U. S. Marine corps recruiting station, is still suffering from the shock he experienced recently when Oliver F. Shields, of Marietta, Ohio, ambled into his office and set down a big package of dynamite and a battery to discharge it. "Morning," Sarge," he said casually. "How's biz in the Marine corps?"

Gande realized that this was no time nor place for discussing recruiting business so he hastily backed the Mariettian into a corner and made preparations for a hasty get-away.

"Say, can the rough stuff," cried Shields, "I'm not a German spy. That's dynamite for a plant where I work. I came here to enlist."

Then Sergeant Gande and Oliver Shields sat down and talked "business," the result of which later found Shields on his way to Paris Island, S. C., to train as a member of the Marine corps.

BEAUTIFUL SETTINGS ARE EMPLOYED IN PRODUCTION

According to announcement of the Artercraft Film Corporation, "The Bluebird," the big Masterlinck spectacle which will be shown at the Globe theatre Easter Sunday has established new records in film production, presenting the largest settings ever staged inside a studio, among them the Black Palace of Night, the Palace of Luxuries, the Cave of Miseries, the Azure Palace, Memoryland and the Cathedral of Happiness. In each of these settings scenes are shown which would ordinarily constitute an elaborate feature photoplay.

The greatest number of actors—not extras—ever assembled in one picture appears in "The Bluebird" aggregating over $1,000. There are many specialties in which prominent players of the stage and screen take part. Rose Rolanda, the well-known dancer, leads a ballet in symbolical dance numbers.

The play was originally produced at the Boudoir theatre, London, and later presented at the New Theatre, New York, in 12 scenes, which took four hours. The enormous cost of its maintenance has prevented its being sent on tour either in Europe or in America, though the fame of Masterlinck's masterpiece has been widely heralded.

The story is a philosophical dissertation upon life, endowing all things with life and speech, and giving a glimpse into the hereafter. The dead awaken, with messages for the living, and the unborn are shown impatiently awaiting their advent upon the earth. While a production of surpassing beauty and exquisite theme, the allegory is plainly discernible, so that even a child can appreciate and enjoy the picture.

WARREN KERRIGAN RETURNS TO ROLFE

Real oil wells gushing forth their product from the earth, form a scene which is hard to find and which has seldom been witnessed by motion picture patrons. Therefore, J. Warren Kerrigan's second Paralta play, "The Turn of a Card," which will be shown at the Rolfe Theatre for two days commencing Friday matinee, holds in store a real treat for its audiences besides its intensely interesting plot.

A forest of oil wells, photographed on the La Brea ranch in California, is pictured in full detail in this film. Moreover, the Paralta play includes the "shooting" of a well, realistic in every detail, and a stream of oil 75 feet high is thrown into the air but a short distance from the camera.
