MISFITS

By F. P. N.

LaGrande, April 26, 1918.

In one place I noticed on a certain wall a number of epigrams, all old, but suggestive because gotten together at one place. Here they are:

If you want to find out who's boss here—start something.

There are two reasons why some people don't mind their own business; one is that they have no mind, the other that they have no business.

I am somewhat of a liar myself, but go on with your story. I'm listening. Life is just one damn thing after another.

I have lied to you the best I can, yet you don't believe me.

Keep your money in Oregon and drink Rainwater.

Have had two rides around La Grande, one with Wren Crewse, O. A. C. graduate, now civil engineer, as driver in his Ford. Mr. Crewse is with the State Road Commission doing good work. The other was with Carrie Ward; took a trip in their Dodge up and down the valley. This included a stop of a couple hours at the celebrated Hot Springs, where there is a houseful of rheumatics and others seeking health. It is an interesting place, quite popular as a resort as well as a sanitarium. There are two small ponds, near each other. In one the water is so hot it steams; in the other Chinese ducks sport with wobbly heads. There are about 100 employees in the sanitarium and hotel.

I made the discovery yesterday that Charles and Ernest Fuller, former Albany boys, sons of Dr. Fuller, are residents of LaGrande, opening a tire shop next door to the Foley three months ago. Mrs. Chas. Fuller is a sister of B. M. Payne and Mrs. Ernest Fuller is a daughter of "Jim" Cherry, now of Hillsboro. We recognized each other after meeting several times without doing so.

E. D. Cusick, candidate for state treasurer, has been in the city today. Well received everywhere. Old Albany people will especially be glad to see him get the nomination, appreciating his reliability ability and special fitness for the office.

Other candidates here this week were Loney Simpson and Harley of Astoria for governor and Judge Coke for supreme judge.

Simpson is a flowery speaker—someone called him a Henry Clay; but they have to hurry to beat Walter Pierce as a speaker.

At Mill City—

President W. H. Lee of Albany college spoke at Mill City on Sunday.

The Test of Economy

There's a happy medium in shoe prices as in everything else. To pay more is extravagance; to pay less, folly.

The increase in living costs may have a tendency to make you buy cheaper shoes as a means of economizing—Don't Do It! It's wasteful.

Good shoes cost comparatively little more. They wear a great deal longer, and grow old more gracefully.

A good shoe can be WORN OUT and continue to look well.

It's Service and not Price that counts. You'll find our prices high enough to insure safe qualities and low enough to meet your desire for good shoes at moderate cost.
