BRAVE BELGIAN BOY TO BE SHOWN AT GLOBE

The bravery of a young son of the village blacksmith of Louvain, Belgium, in his recent attack upon a German general—Von Gluck—resulted in fatal injury to the Hun commander, is the talk of this and surrounding communities.

The boy, a mere youth, openly showing his hatred of the Germans who were occupying his home village, and angered at the constant speeches of the general, threatening death for any attack upon the troops, succeeded in inflicting injuries upon the German general that resulted fatally.

The boy disappeared, last seen being pursued into his father's blacksmith shop by a German officer with drawn sword. This scene among many shows the depredations of peaceful, inoffensive Belgium by the German hosts, included with sensational exposures of the Kaiser himself in his private life, in Rupert Julian's remarkable screen chronicle, "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," to be shown at the Globe Theatre May 12, 13, 14.

DRAFTED MAN IS APPRECIATIVE OF ENTERTAINMENT

The Red Cross has received another letter from a drafted man, now at Camp Lewis, thanking them for the entertainment received here. Following is the letter:

166 Depot Brigade, Camp Lewis, May 5, 1918.
 To the Red Cross Society of Albany, Oregon: I cannot express how deeply I remember you, and how much I have appreciated your free midnight supper at Albany, Oregon on the 30th day of April, 1918.

I just wish to remark to you that the hearty kind of yours has penetrated into my heart, as well it did among all California boys who were with me to enjoy the well-served supper.

We are now frequently talking of your patriotic spirit, which give proof that you are willing to do your best to assist the boys in this present case of emergency. And we all will cooperate together, to destroy the mad brute, and to lead Uncle Sam's family over the top in the glory way of freedom.

Yours truly,
 AFOSTINO MASCARELLO.

CARR TRIO BIG HIT AT GLOBE

—HELD OVER FOR TONIGHT

A full house witnessed the vaudeville show at the Globe last night and the way it showed its enjoyment by the laughter and applause proves the Carr Trio has the brand of entertainment the public longs for.

These three artists have very pleasing voices and sing in good harmony. Miss Carr introduces the real French toe dancing in the diamond dancing dress. The young man rendered a solo on a one-string Chinese violin and received much applause. The costumes displayed by the lady of the trio are very attractive and should be seen by every lady in Albany. The eccentric dancing, up to the minute comedy, harmony, singing, handsome costumes, beautiful stage settings and personality won the act rounds of applause and forced them to respond with several bows and encores. The trio are held over for tonight with a change of program.

On the same bill is Geraldine Farrar in her latest Arctur production, "The Devil Stone." It is a drama of weird fascination based on the big theme of superstition. It is of unusual interest and considerably differing considerably from any of Miss Farrar's previous productions.

THE Telephone Vanguard

The soldier off to camp finds that the telephone man has preceded him. It has been the telephone man's job to help make the camp ready for the soldiers. He has gone ahead with the contractors, installing temporary telephone equipment to facilitate the work of construction. As fast as buildings have been erected, permanent central office equipment has been installed, poles have been set and wires strung and the camps and cantonments connected by additional trunk lines to the central offices in nearby towns and cities.

Notwithstanding the scarcity of material, the large amount of equipment required for these camps has been manufactured and delivered in less than half the time ordinarily required.

As a result of this telephone activity, all the varied telephone needs of these great military establishments are amply taken care of and each camp headquarters is in direct telephone communication with the war department at Washington, and with important military points throughout the country.
