MISFITS

By F. P. N.

Some items have accumulated, which I wish to erase from my note book, busy these strenuous days. I find a pleasant way to spend a few minutes before retiring nights is by writing the Democrat.

Hillsboro is a neat and attractive city, the come of Carnation Condensed Milk and girls with carnation cheeks.

The first former Albany men crossed here was M. P. Cady, Dodge dealer, and doing well. Before going to Albany he carted down among the onion patches of Beaverton, ten miles east of here.

Rev. H. F. Anderson remembered me. He is pastor of the Baptist church. In Albany he was a clerk in the Heckman store.

Jim Cherry, an oldtime Albany foundryman, has been in business here several months with his son, Al, born in Albany 34 years ago. They came from Eugene. Have had some old-time visits with them at their Gates Tire Shop, where they are doing well.

E. H. Walker, formerly with the O. E. under H. S. Logan at Albany, has charge of the night trick at the
S. P. depot here.

S. A. Sanford, after whom Sanford Archibald was named, has been here for several days in the interest of the Federal Reserve Loan Board, checking up on farms. H was once a Linn Co. teacher, afterwards a banker; a genial companion at a hotel as well as elsewhere.

Loney Hammer, the best looking brakeman on the S. P. electric, going thru here, passes every day, but did not recognize him until he spoke today. He is a nephew of A. M. Hammer.

Hillsboro has a restaurant man named Miller who is the champion joker. If you are ever here be careful how you open a little bottle of alleged preserves.

Traveling around I have seen enough dogwood blossoms to fill Constantinople with canines. If of the vicious kind I would like to have all of them there; but, instead, they make a beautiful setting in nature's pictures along the road.

On the train one day I heard some teachers expatiating on the evils of gossiping in the neighborhoods where they teach. Verily, the tongue is an unruly member.

The other day I found out where the gasoline goes. At a residence section corner in Portland I counted 100 autos pass in 20 minutes. It was Sunday evening and all were evidently out for pleasure.

At Forest Grove I met a number of former Albany people.

Chas. Littler has a fine drugstore, and I make my headquarters there.
Mrs. Littler was formerly Miss Saltmarsh, a native of Albany.

Fred Woodcock has a string of horses there, training them for the races of the summer and fall. The last previous time I met him was at the Washington state fair at North Yakima.

Margaret Stevens Worley lives on a farm near here. I had a good visit with her in a local store.

W. F. Schultz and sons have one of the best stores in the city, a food supply establishment. Mr. Schultz has prospered there.

Rode a few miles on an O. E. train with Miss Wilma Wagener, formerly of Albany college, now of Pacific University.
