MEMORIES OF MOTHER AT METHODIST MEET

Rev. Geo. H. Bennett Delivers Eulogy at Services Held Yesterday

No memorial can be more hallowed among men than the day in which we hear again the mother's voice that is stilled, and feel again the touch of her vanished hand. It was she who shared her life with us at life's first dawning. She walked in the valley of shadow that we might see the light of life. In her embrace was the garner of our heartthrobs and the couch of our repose. There we nestled in our distress and there was the playground of our infant joy. Her willing arms became our refuge. Mother taught our infant feet and steadied them over the tottering places. Her faithful hands plied the needle early and late for our comfort. She kissed us and sent us off to school; and she taught our childish lips the name of Jesus, and to whisper to Him our earliest prayer.

Sam Jones said: An angel was sent from Heaven one day to bring to the Heavenly world the most beautiful treasure found among men. Long he searched. He saw a garden of American beauty roses, rich beyond compare, and gathered an armful; but he passed an open window and beheld an infant's smile, and paused to claim it for the Heavenly courts; and then the angel saw the mother kneeling by her babe, and in her tender eyes he read the mother's love. With these three treasures the angel winged his way to the celestial city; but when he waited at the gates of pearl lo, the roses had withered away, the infant's smile had faded, and only the mother's love remained, pure, deep and radiant as before. And so the angel offered at the throne of God the sweet incense of a mother's love, the choicest treasure of this world.

Garibaldi, the liberator of Italy, said: "Often amid the trying scenes of my tumultuous career have I, in fancy, seen my sainted mother on her knees before God: mother imploring the Most High for her son." The love of her pure soul is a great rock in a weary land, whose shadow offers rest and whose portals give protection to afflicted children. Her sympathy is a well-spring in the desert of life which never runs dry. Her wisdom is a safe guide, and her fortitude cheers the soul. Few would go far astray if they harkened to the voice of mother.

Benjamin West, the great American painter, said: "A kiss from my mother made me a painter." Her tender sympathy changed the course of his life, and opened the hidden springs of his genius. The mother's kiss cures the bruised little fingers, and her caress smooths out the tangled hair. Surely the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. How often it is true—the men most eminent trace their gentler natures and refinements of

Only About Half the Steer is Beef

Live Weight 1200 pounds

Dressed Weight 672 pounds of Beef
56%

When Swift & Company buys a steer weighing 1200 pounds, only about 672 pounds goes to market as beef; the other 528 pounds consists of hide, fats, other by-products, and waste.

When the packer pays 15 cents a pound for a steer, he sells the meat to the retailer for about 24 cents. But the packer gets only about 6 cents a pound for the other 528 pounds.

This means that the packer gets about 16 cents a pound for all the products from a steer for which he pays 15 cents.

The difference of 1 cent per pound covers the cost of dressing, preparation of by-products, freight on beef to all parts of the United States, operation of distributing houses, and leaves a net profit of only about 1/4 of a cent per pound on all dressed beef sold.

Large volume of business and utilization of parts that were formerly wasted, make this achievement possible.

frighten her little one to obedience. She never permits him to be taught to be afraid of the dark. And as the sincere mother becomes to her child a heroine and a saint.

Mother stands for a peaceful home; for purity and integrity of life; for knowledge and achievement; and for God and country. She is the enemy of all vices. The family is the unit of the nation's life, and the mother is the center of home life. No nation can attain high place in civilization that does not honor motherhood and womankind. We think of the captain of industry, the man on the bridge of the battleship, the man in the trench, and the man in the White House as the man of the hour who gives his country his greatness;—but no, it is the sweet and courageous womanly woman we call mother who gives form and greatness to the age. What wonder the dying Christ gave us a sacred example when he bequeathed his mother and John to each other as mother and son, that she might be honored and protected. The comforting power of a mother's love, the restraining power of a mother's wish, the soothing power of a mother's touch and the strengthening power of a mother's prayer—to these all men confess.

Richard Watson Gilder truly said: She had no special graces nor art; Her riches not in banks were kept; Her treasure was a gentle heart, Her skill to comfort those who wept."
