Advertising Momentum

Many institutions expect advertising to perform miracles, to rehabilitate a depleted list of customers in a few weeks or harvest a golden crop of dollars. Advertising is not based on wizardry any more than on quackery. Its results are cumulative.

There are no miracles in advertising, but money so invested, if invested properly and the opportunities thus created properly followed, will yield handsome returns.

An inquiry from a prospect who has never transacted business with your organization is the most vital and the most potent factor in the success of your business. That inquiry represents growth, development new business, —and new inquiries are worth attention, study and care—the full measure of your service. The aggressive and consistent advertiser whose educational publicity attracts, will find that the business has acquired a new momentum, the effect of which will be apparent in succeeding years.

LINN HISTORY

By Professor J. B. Horner, O. A. C.

Homer Balch, author of "The Bridge of the Gods," having been born in Lebanon, was a native of Linn county. The "Bridge of the Gods" which in plot and elegance may be compared favorably with "The Scarlet Letter," ranks as standard literature.

Peoria at one time resembled the "Deserted Village." At a noon hour in early days some children were playing near the neglected school building, when it was remarked that "it may be that some of those children will become eminent." About 15 years from that time one of the girls who had meanwhile grown to womanhood was called to take charge of the vice president's mansion in Washington City, and thus became the second lady of the land, which means "the second lady of the world." This gifted young woman of Linn county, upon her return to Oregon, established "Holmes Business College" of Portland; and she is now Mrs. Gertrude Holmes Lawrence, of that city. Joaquin Miller once said that the "Beautiful Willamette" is the most musical poem written on the Pacific Coast. That poem was written, as you know, by Sam L. Simpson, in Albany, Oregon; was set in type by Judge C. H. Stewart, and appeared in print for the first time in the Democrat.

The Rev. John Powell, an unlettered Baptist minister who established Providence church near Seilo, Linn county, in 1852, baptized according to the "Baptist Annals of Oregon," "nearly or quite three thousand souls"—which is a greater number than any other person baptized west of the Rocky Mountains.

2 teaspoon salt
Heat the milk with the bay leaf, salt, pepper and onion juice in a double boiler. Soften the butter and blend it with the flour. Pour hot milk gradually on this paste and beat until smooth. Bring to a boil and cook over hot water for 10 minutes, then cool slightly. Blend cottage cheese, soda and peanut butter, softening with a little of the warm sauce to a smooth thick cream. Add the cream to the sauce, and reheat carefully. Avoid boiling the sauce for this will toughen the cheese. Serve with croutons.
